Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

Earlier this month we announced our definitive agreement to combine Lockheed Martin's Information Systems & Global Solutions (IS&GS) business with Leidos in a Reverse Morris Trust transaction. This change is expected to add large, complex IT system implementation and operation experience, as well as additional federal and international IT solutions and services work to the Leidos portfolio, allowing us to continue our mission of offering value-added services and cost-effective solutions to you, our valued customer.

As the complexity of today's missions continue to evolve so must our ability to adapt to these changing needs. By combining two technically focused, complementary businesses, we are able to offer increased scale to better serve you.

We will continue to operate as two separate businesses until the transaction is closed. The closing is anticipated to occur in the second half of 2016. During this transition, our commitment to you and delivering outstanding performance remains unchanged and is our highest priority.

The purpose of this letter is simply to inform you of the upcoming merger. As we move forward, we will continue to update you on our progress as well as any changes which may impact your contract(s).

I look forward to continuing to serve as Chairman and CEO of Leidos, leading an even greater, diversified team of highly skilled professionals.

On behalf of myself and the entire leadership team, thank you for continuing to allow us to deliver for you. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask.

These risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to, economic, competitive, legal, governmental and technological factors. Accordingly, there is no assurance that the expectations of Leidos will be realized. This document also contains statements about the proposed business combination transaction between Leidos and Lockheed Martin Corporation ( Lockheed Martin ), in which Lockheed Martin will separate a substantial portion of its government information technology infrastructure services business and its technical services business, which have been realigned in the Information Systems & Global Solutions (IS&GS) business segment, and combine this business with Leidos in a Reverse Morris Trust transaction (the Transaction ). Many factors could cause actual results to differ materially from these forward-looking statements with respect to the Transaction, including risks relating to the completion of the transaction on anticipated terms and timing, including obtaining stockholder and regulatory approvals, anticipated tax treatment, the dependency of any split-off transaction on market conditions and the value to be received in any split-off transaction, unforeseen liabilities, future capital expenditures, revenues, expenses, earnings, synergies, economic performance, indebtedness, financial condition, losses, future prospects, business and management strategies for the management, expansion and growth of the new combined company s operations, Leidos ability to integrate the businesses successfully and to achieve anticipated synergies, and the risk that disruptions from the Transaction will harm Leidos business. liability to third parties and similar risks, any of which could have a material adverse effect on Leidos' consolidated financial condition, results of operations or liquidity. For a discussion identifying additional important factors that could cause actual results to vary materially from those anticipated in the forward-looking statements, see Leidos' filings with the SEC, including Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations and Risk Factors in Leidos' annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended January 30, 2015, and in its quarterly reports on Form 10-Q which are available at <http://www.Leidos.com> and at the SEC's web site at <http://www.sec.gov>.
