The following is a transcript of a video released in connection with the transaction:

Sarah, Customer Care: What excites me the most about the new T-Mobile is the possibilities.

Michael, Retail: I think the future is bright with T-Mobile. I can t wait for the merger to go through. I know there s going to be tons of opportunities opening up.

Christine, Retail: The opportunities coming are going to be amazing. And I can t wait to see all what the new T-Mobile has to offer.

Christion, Retail: And so I think I can speak for everybody is just how excited we are about the merger.

Terrance, Customer Care: What excites me most about the new T-Mobile is 5G for all. About being able to be with a company that s going to be at the forefront of innovation and technology.

Leroy, Retail: I m really excited about the merger. I think it s going to be really great from the standpoint of the 5G network.

Tara, Customer Care: But what excites me the most about the new T-Mobile is going to be all of the new product work that we re going to go ahead and have, where from the Layer 3 TV to TVision, to being able to go ahead and improve on 5G and maintain ourselves as the Un-carrier.

Christion, Retail: And so we re really on the point of taking T-Mobile from a wireless company to a technology company. And so when you talk about all the things we re going to be able to provide for our customers, you know, 5G being one of those integrated products like it s super exciting, and I think that speaking for employees, that lets us feel like, man, there s going to be so much opportunity to grow here in the future with the company so.

Ony, Customer Care: We re about to break another barrier here with another Un-carrier move, bringing over a whole new customer base and being able to show them how it is to put a customer first and give them that top notch service that they deserve.

Ramfis, Customer Care: When you think about bringing all of Sprint s current customer base and also their technologies and merging them with our own, we ll truly be able to be the first wireless company that can go ahead and bring 5G true 5G to the world. And we ll be able to provide better service to all of our customers.

Takira, Customer Care: I am super excited about our growth and expansion into areas outside of the wireless industry such as our ever-expanding TV and home internet offerings. I think it s pretty cool that we re also merging with Sprint. So we re increasing our customer base as well. We re honestly leading the industry, leading the wireless industry in the things that we can do, and we re really becoming the Un-carrier. We re becoming the industry standard.

Stephanie, Customer Care: We re going to be able to go to a wider market, see more people, help more people.

Sarah, Customer Care: With the new influx of people and customers, we ll be able to continue to push down barriers, fix broken things in the wireless industry.

Thomas, Customer Care: What excites me the most about the new T-Mobile Team of Experts. Nothing like it in the world. Gives me a chance to be more personal with my customers, and they love it. They love the help that we give them. And they get so excited the minute I say I m a Team of Experts.

Ryan, Customer Care: I mean, there s tons of opportunities that are coming. I mean, we saw just T-Mobile explode when we took Team of Experts and made that come to life. So I just can t wait to see the new T-Mobile come to life. There s going to be so much more growth.

Natalie, Retail: But the most important thing to me is with this integration coming, the opportunity that it s going to give people to grow their career paths.

Christine, Retail: We re going to add jobs, not take away jobs, in the future T-Mobile. What we ve done for the wireless industry has already been there, but what we re about to do is going to be even better.

Sarah, Customer Care: There s going to be new positions, new departments, new training.

Shawnie, Customer Care: With the new T-Mobile we are actually going to be opening up a whole bunch of new opportunities as well. So I can use the free education that I got from T-Mobile to actually step into those roles.

Erick, Retail: You know, a merger, right, it s such a scary word. Right? But at the end of the day, just the patience and the transparency that the company has had with us and the vision that s set forward, there s so much excitement from the frontline and from everyone in the company.

Priscilla, Retail: The majority of my friends and family know that I ve been with T-Mobile for so long, so they are just excited for us. They re always asking like, man, what are you guys doing over there? The growth. And I do have a lot of friends that work in telecom as well. But for us, it s just positive things for me.

Marquette, Retail: And when I think about this integration that s going to occur, I think of it bringing two powers together to treat all the common evils of what people think about wireless. And then I think about, hey, we re going to target every pain point that every customer has had between this integration. And I m super excited to see the opportunities that it ll have for employees, because it lets us know that there s so much more and so many greater things we can do.

Jenny, Retail: I feel like this company has aspired to grow bigger and bigger, and they ve never let anybody down. They actually found me a home after Katrina. So I say, hey, look what happened with T-Mobile in the past. That was 14 years ago. I had just got hired. Only been with the company three months. And so it s not even a question to me of where we will be in the next three to five months or in the next year when the integration happens.

Leroy, Retail: I would say the future is looking amazingly bright right now.

Erick, Retail: Jump on board because we are on the road to be number one. Yes.

Guadalupe, Retail: One piece of advice. We won t stop. We will continue to rock. And we will continue to challenge the status quo.
