General and administrative (“G&A”) expenses primarily consist of overhead expenses, employee remuneration and professional and consulting fees. The Company capitalizes certain G&A expenditures where they satisfy the criteria for capitalization under GAAP as relating to oil and gas exploration activities following the full cost method of accounting.

The net change in G&A cost for the three months ended June 30, 2014 compared to the same period in 2013 was $70,818, or 4% higher. The increase for the three month period reflected $260,076 in professional costs associated with the merger with Pyramid, along with approximately $121,000 in increased costs over 2013 resulting from four (net) additional employees. The second quarter of 2013 contained RSU, RSA and annual incentive awards of approximately $496,000. For the six month period ended June 30, 2014, G&A cost was $2,017,012, or 67%, over the amount for the same period in 2013. The increase for the six month period ended June 30, 2014 over the same period in 2013 is due to the write-off of approximately $1.3 million in expenses incurred to explore several alternatives to obtaining a public listing for Yuma’s stock, and approximately $585,000 in costs associated with the merger with Pyramid.

Production is up from the same 2013 periods by 139% quarter-to-date and 167% year-to-date. Refer to “Sales and Other Operating Revenues” above for oil and gas production discussion.

“EBITDA” represents earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, depletion and amortization, and is a non-GAAP financial measure. Because Yuma makes other adjustments to its EBITDA formula by considering the change in the preferred stock derivative liability, accretion of asset retirement obligations, and changes in commodity derivative values, management refers to this metric as Adjusted EBITDA and it is provided as an additional metric that is used by Yuma’s Board of Directors and management to measure operating performance and trends. Adjusted EBITDA for the three and six months ended June 30, 2014 increased from the same periods in 2013 by $4,302,267 (412%) and $7,471,572 (196%), respectively. The increase for 2014 was from increased oil and gas revenue, somewhat offset by increased LOE and G&A.

Interest Expense

	Three Months Ended June		Six Months Ended June 30,
	2014	30, 2013	2014	2013
Interest expense	$332,363	$559,237	$708,683	$963,523

Bank debt	$24,775,000	$24,925,000	$24,775,000	$24,925,000

At the beginning of the second quarter of 2013, debt was used to finance the acquisition of the Addison acreage, attributing to an increase in debt through the first quarter of 2014. Also, interest for the three months ended June 30, 2013 was greater than the same period in 2014 because 2013 interest included $189,727 of debt cost write-off due to the exit of a lender from the Yuma loan syndicate. Year to date 2013 also included $123,925 debt cost write-off from the exit of another lender in the first quarter of 2013, for a six month total of $313,652. Debt declined during the second quarter of 2014 due to increasing production.

Income Tax Expense

The following summarizes Yuma's income tax expense (benefit) and effective tax rates:

	Three Months Ended June		Six Months Ended June 30,
	2014	30, 2013	2014	2013
Consolidated net income (loss) before income taxes	$(7,835,697)	$(25,063,451)	$(8,979,675)	$(22,840,822)
Income tax expense (benefit)	(285,000)	(73,600)	(1,134,000)	41,200
Effective tax rate	3.64	% 0.29	% 12.63	% (0.18)%

The differences between the U.S. federal statutory rate of 35% and Yuma's effective tax rates are due primarily to the tax effects of the excess of book carrying value over the tax basis in the full cost pool and the net operating loss carryforwards for each period.

Cash Flows From Operating Activities

Cash flows from operations for the six month period ended June 30, 2014 increased 120.3% over the same period of 2013 primarily due to increased production in the La Posada field and new production at Crosby #12-1. These increases were somewhat mitigated by higher lease operating expenses associated with increasing production at La Posada, new production at Crosby #12-1 and the acquisition of the Addison properties in the Austin Chalk.

During the six months ended June 30, 2014, the Greater Masters Creek Field accounted for $8,370,260 of Yuma's total oil and natural gas investing activities. Of that, $987,956 was spent primarily on lease extensions and geological and geophysical activities. The remaining $7,382,304 represents drilling costs. A net credit of $671,553 for insurance recovery on the Grief Bros. #1 created a credit balance for recompletions, capital workovers and P&A for the period.

For the six months ended June 30, 2013, lease related costs of $8,535,010 were incurred on the Austin Chalk Project, a part of the Greater Masters Creek Field. Other significant lease related costs for the first six months of 2013 were $574,133 for Livingston and $459,729 for Amazon, and $325,086 in other leases. Costs incurred in the Bakken to drill and complete the Bunning 35-26 #1H and build the Jerry and Monson salt water disposal ("SWD") facilities amounted to $648,476. At La Posada, $1,019,009 was incurred to drill and complete the Broussard #1 side track and upgrade the production facilities. Other drilling costs incurred were $1,202,150 for the SLLO #1 at Amazon and $1,422,130 for the Starns 38-1 and the Weyerhaeuser 57-1 SWD at Livingston.

Cash Flows From Financing Activities

Yuma's cash flows, both in the short-term and the long-term, are impacted by highly volatile oil and natural gas prices. Although Yuma mitigates this risk by hedging a significant portion of its future crude oil and natural gas production out two years (three to five years historically), a significant deterioration in commodity prices negatively impacts revenues, earnings, and cash flows, capital spending, and potentially our liquidity. Sales volumes and costs also impact cash flows; however, these historically have not been as volatile or as impactful as commodity prices in the short-term.

Yuma expects to finance future acquisition, development and exploration activities through available working capital, cash flows from operating activities, advances from its credit facility, sale of non-strategic assets, and the possible issuance of additional equity/debt securities. In addition, Yuma may slow or accelerate its development of existing reserves to more closely match its projected cash flows.

At June 30, 2014, Yuma had a $40.0 million conforming borrowing base, with a $4.5 million additional non-conforming borrowing base, providing a total borrowing base of $44.5 million, with available borrowing capacity of $19,725,000 in accordance with its credit facility. The borrowing base is reviewed and redetermined in March and October of each year and was increased to the current level on April 22, 2014.

	Six Months Ended June 30, 2014	Twelve Months Ended December 31, 2013
Credit Facility:
Balances outstanding, beginning of year	$ 31,215,000	$ 17,875,000
Activity	(6,440,000)	13,340,000
Balances outstanding, end of period	$ 24,775,000	$ 31,215,000

Other than the credit facility, Yuma had debt of $507,654 and $178,027 at June 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013, respectively, from an installment loan financing oil and gas property insurance premiums.

Debt in 2014 has been favorably impacted by increased revenues and trended lower during the six month period ended June 30, 2014.

Hedging Activities

Current Commodity Derivative Contracts

Yuma seeks to reduce its sensitivity to oil and gas price volatility and secure favorable debt financing terms by entering into commodity derivative transactions which may include fixed price swaps, price collars, puts, calls and other derivatives. Yuma believes its hedging strategy should result in greater predictability of internally generated funds, which in turn can be dedicated to capital development projects and corporate obligations.

Noncurrent	-	(183,106)	-	(218,649)

Assets and liabilities are netted within each commodity on the balance sheet as all contracts are with the same counterparty. For the balances without netting, refer to Note C – “Commodity Derivative Instruments” in the Unaudited Condensed Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements of Yuma for the period ended June 30, 2014.

The fair market value of Yuma’s commodity derivative contracts in place at June 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013 were net liabilities of $1,712,952 and $77,144, respectively.

Yuma expects to reclassify losses on commodity derivatives of $16,826 net after taxes into earnings from accumulated other comprehensive income during the twelve months ending June 30, 2015; however, actual cash settlement gains and losses recognized may differ materially.

Please see Note C – “Commodity Derivative Instruments” in the Unaudited Condensed Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements of Yuma for the period ended June 30, 2014, for additional information on Yuma’s commodity derivatives.

Hedging commodity prices for a portion of Yuma's production is a fundamental part of Yuma's corporate financial management. Yuma does not engage in speculative commodity trading activities and does not hedge all available or anticipated quantities of its production. In implementing its hedging strategy Yuma seeks to:

effectively manage cash flow to minimize price volatility and generate internal funds available for operations, capital development projects and additional acquisitions; and ensure its ability to support its exploration activities as well as administrative and debt service obligations.

Estimating the fair value of derivative instruments requires complex calculations, including the use of a discounted cash flow technique, estimates of risk and volatility, and subjective judgment in selecting an appropriate discount rate. In addition, the calculations use future market commodity prices which, although posted for trading purposes, are merely the market consensus of forecasted price trends. The results of the fair value calculation cannot be expected to represent exactly the fair value of Yuma's commodity derivatives. Yuma currently obtains fair value positions from its counterparties and compares that value to the calculated value provided by its outside commodity derivative consultant. Yuma believes that the practice of comparing the consultant's value to that of Yuma's counterparties, who are more specialized and knowledgeable in preparing these complex calculations, reduces its risk of error and approximates the fair value of the contracts, as the fair value obtained from Yuma's counterparties would be the cost to Yuma to terminate a contract at that point in time.

Commitments and Contingencies

Yuma had the following contractual obligations and commitments as of June 30, 2014:

	Debt (1)	Liability for Commodity Derivatives (2)	Operating Leases	Asset Retirement Obligations
2014	$ -	$ 1,405,719	$ 268,066	$ -
2015	-	437,148	542,655	1,169,566
2016	-	(129,915)	550,989	977,054
2017	24,775,000	-	536,227	307,657
2018	-	-	2,197	717,923
Thereafter	-	-	-	7,818,230
Totals	$ 24,775,000	$ 1,712,952	$ 1,900,134	$ 10,990,430

(1) This table does not include future commitment fees, interest expense or other fees because the credit agreement is a floating rate instrument, and Yuma cannot determine with accuracy the timing of future loans, advances, repayments or future interest rates to be charged.

(2) Represents the estimated future payments under Yuma's oil and natural gas derivative contracts based on the future market prices as of June 30, 2014. These amounts will change as oil and natural gas commodity prices change.

Off Balance Sheet Arrangements

Yuma has no off balance sheet arrangements, special purpose entities, financing partnerships or guarantees (other than Yuma's guarantee of its wholly-owned subsidiary's credit facility).

Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk of Yuma

Commodities. Yuma is exposed to market risk from changes in commodity prices. In the normal course of business, Yuma enters into derivative transactions, including commodity price collars, swaps and floors to mitigate its exposure to commodity price movements. Yuma does not participate in these transactions for trading or speculative purposes. While the use of these arrangements may limit the benefit to Yuma of increases in the prices of oil and natural gas, it also limits the downside risk of adverse price movements.

Interest rates. Yuma is exposed to financial risk from changes in future interest rates to the extent that it incurs future indebtedness. As of June 30, 2014, Yuma had outstanding indebtedness under its credit facility of $24,775,000, which matures in May 2017. The credit facility provides for a variable interest rate. In the event interest rates rise significantly, and Yuma incurs future indebtedness without mitigating or fixing future interest rates, Yuma's interest expense will increase in accordance with any future borrowings and at rates in effect at the time of those borrowings.
