Citizens Communications Reports
2004 Second-Quarter Results

Stamford, Conn., August 3, 2004 -- Citizens Communications (NYSE:CZN) today reported second quarter 2004 consolidated revenues of $544.1 million; consolidated operating income of $128.2 million; and consolidated net income of $23.8 million. Consolidated operating income and net income reflect $11.6 million of pre-tax expense related to our review of financial and strategic alternatives and management succession.

Second quarter 2004 revenue from the company's ILEC operations was $505.8 million, compared to $510.2 million in the second quarter of 2003. The decrease is due primarily to lower access services revenues, reduced long distance revenue and loss of access lines. These decreases were partially offset by continued increases in data and enhanced service revenues.

Average revenue per month per average number of access lines increased 2% to $71.17 in the second quarter of 2004 from $70.07 in the year ago period.

The company added a record 22,200 DSL customers during the quarter and had 164,200 DSL subscribers at June 30, 2004. The company's primary access line count, which does not take into account DSL subscriptions, decreased 13,300 lines during the quarter.

ILEC operating income for the second quarter of 2004 was $127.2 million and operating income margin was 25.2 percent.

Capital expenditures for the ILEC were $73.7 million for the second quarter of 2004.

In July 2004 we retired $300 million principal amount of Senior Notes that are part of our Equity Units, which will result in a pre-tax charge of approximately $15 million in the third quarter of 2004, and means that only the remaining outstanding $160 million of such notes will be remarketed. We expect to save approximately $20 million per year in interest expense as a result of this retirement.

As previously reported, the company has declared a special dividend of $2 per share and is instituting a regular annual dividend of $1 per share that will be payable quarterly. The special dividend and the first quarterly dividend will both be paid on September 2, 2004 to stockholders of record on August 18, 2004. We expect that all of the dividends paid to stockholders in 2004 will be treated as dividends for federal income tax purposes. Shareholders are encouraged to consult with their tax advisors.

The company uses certain non-GAAP financial measures in evaluating its performance. These include free cash flow. A reconciliation of the differences between free cash flow and the most comparable financial measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP is included in the tables that follow. The non-GAAP financial measures are by definition not measures of financial performance under generally accepted accounting principles and are not alternatives to operating income or net income reflected in the statement of operations or to cash flow as reflected in the statement of cash flows and are not necessarily indicative of cash available to fund all cash flow needs. The non-GAAP financial measures used by the company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.

The company believes that presentation of non-GAAP financial measures provides useful information to investors regarding the company's financial condition and results of operations because these measures, when used in conjunction with related GAAP financial measures, (i) together provide a more comprehensive view of the company's core operations and ability to generate cash flow, (ii) provide investors with the financial analytical framework upon which management bases financial, operational, compensation and planning decisions and (iii) presents measurements that investors and rating agencies have indicated to management are useful to them in assessing the company and its results of operations. Management uses these non-GAAP financial measures to plan and measure the performance of its core operations and its divisions measure performance and report to management based upon these measures. In addition, the company believes that free cash flow, as the company defines it, can assist in comparing performance from period to period, without taking into account factors affecting cash flow reflected in the statement of cash flows, including changes in working capital and the timing of purchases and payments.

Management uses these non-GAAP financial measures to (i) assist in analyzing the company's underlying financial performance from period to period, (ii) evaluate the financial performance of its business units, (iii) analyze and evaluate strategic and operational decisions, (iv) establish criteria for compensation decisions; and (v) assist management in understanding the company's ability to generate cash flow and, as a result, to plan for future capital and operational decisions. Management uses these non-GAAP financial measures in conjunction with related GAAP financial measures. The company believes that the non-GAAP financial measures are meaningful and useful for the reasons outlined above.

While the company utilizes these non-GAAP financial measures in managing and analyzing its business and financial condition and believes they are useful to management and to investors for the reasons described above, these non-GAAP financial measures have certain shortcomings. In particular, free cash flow does not represent the residual cash flow available for discretionary expenditures, since items such as debt repayments are not deducted from such measure. Management compensates for the shortcomings of these measures by utilizing them in conjunction with their comparable GAAP financial measures. The information in this press release should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and footnotes contained in our documents to be filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.
