THE JAPAN EQUITY FUND, INC.

GENERAL INFORMATION

THE FUND

The investment objective of the Fund is to outperform over the long term, on a total return basis (including appreciation and dividends), the Tokyo Stock Price Index ("TOPIX"), a composite market-capitalization weighted index of all common stocks listed on the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange ("TSE"). The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing substantially all of its assets in equity securities of companies listed on the TSE or listed on the over-the-counter market in Japan or listed on other stock exchanges in Japan. Daiwa SB Investments (U.S.A.) Ltd. is the Fund's Investment Manager. Daiwa SB Investments Ltd. is the Fund's Investment Adviser. The Fund implements an "active" portfolio management policy, which is an approach that involves quantitative valuation of securities to identify an appropriate universe of securities from which to select investments, with judgmental analysis then applied to this universe to determine the actual investments to be made by the Fund.

SHAREHOLDER INFORMATION

The Fund's shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"). The Fund understands that its shares may trade periodically on certain exchanges other than the NYSE, but the Fund has not listed its shares on those other exchanges and does not encourage trading on those exchanges.

The Fund's NYSE trading symbol is "JEQ". Weekly comparative net asset value ("NAV") and market price information about the Fund is published each Monday in THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, each Sunday in THE NEW YORK TIMES and each Saturday in BARRON'S, and also appears in many other newspapers. The Fund's weekly NAV is also available by visiting www.daiwast.com or calling (800) 933-3440 or (201) 915-3020. May 18, 2004

DEAR SHAREHOLDERS:

It is our pleasure on behalf of the Board of Directors to present the Semi-Annual Report for The Japan Equity Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") for the six months ended April 30, 2004.

PERFORMANCE AND REVIEW OF THE JAPANESE STOCK MARKET

- During the period November 2003 through April 2004, the Fund's portfolio increased by 12.33%. Over the same period, the TOPIX advanced by 12.10% in U.S. dollar ("USD") terms.

- On the other hand, in Japanese Yen ("JPY") terms, the performance of the Fund, excluding expenses and the cash position effect, represented 16.27%, whereas the TOPIX was up 13.70%.

- Relative to the TOPIX, stock selection contributed substantially to the relative performance while sector selection within sectors was slightly negative (see Table 3).

Edgar Filing: JAPAN EQUITY FUND INC - Form N-CSR

- As shown below on Table 4, stock selection was primarily strong in Wholesale Trade and Transport Equipment. On the other hand, stock holdings in Other Financing Business hurt the results.
- Out performance in the Retail Trade sector in which we were overweight provided positive relative performance, while the underweight stance in Banks detracted from the relative result.

MARKET REVIEW (NOVEMBER 2003 - APRIL 2004)

During the six month period, the Japanese stock market showed solid movement with the TOPIX advancing by 13.70% on a JPY basis. To review the Japanese equity market for the period:

- November 03: From the outset of November, the market was upbeat mirroring the surge in U.S. stocks and the Yen's depreciation. However, on November 17th, the Nikkei 225 Index ("Nikkei 225") fell below the psychologically important 10,000-mark as investor sentiment cooled ahead of the House of Representatives elections and in response to the decline in U.S. stocks and the U.S. dollar and the recent terrorist attacks. During this period, liquidation of margin positions by individual investors was also apparent. As the U.S. market began to pick up, the Nikkei 225 recovered to move above 10,000 on November 26th. Even so, the TOPIX closed below 1,000 points at month-end following a Nikkei Shinbun report on November 28th indicating that Ashikaga Financial Group was to receive an injection of public funds. During November, the average daily trading volume on the Tokyo Stock Exchange ("TSE") First Section was 1.06 billion shares, with an average traded value of JPY1.09 trillion, both being below October's levels.
- December 03: The stock market rose sharply at the beginning of December upon positive expectations for the U.S. Christmas sales season, but with the Yen continuing to appreciate and U.S. stocks declining, the Nikkei 225 slid below 10,000 points on December 10th. After that, the Nikkei 225 was heavily moved by expectations following the disappointment surrounding U.S. stocks after the capture of former Iraqi President

Saddam Hussein. Even so, momentum gradually declined in the run-up to the holiday season for non-Japanese investors. Nevertheless, toward the end of the month (and the year), the United States and other leading overseas markets strengthened and the Nikkei 225 ended the month with a three-day rally, despite relatively thin trading, on both a sense of lagging behind overseas markets and expectations for the overall market in the new year. With this, 2003 was the first year since 1999 that the market closed the year higher.

- January 04: In January, Japanese stocks made a strong start at the opening session of the year, reflecting the global rise in stock markets at year-end and through the New Year's holiday. Nevertheless, the TOPIX recorded five consecutive days of decline for the first time since April 2003 at January-end, slowing its monthly growth rate to 0.4%. Individual investors remained active players from start to finish, and the Nikkei JASDAQ Stock Average rose for 21 days in a row during the course of the month, indicating the good performance of small-caps. Aggressive buying by non-Japanese investors of Japanese equities was seen as the Japanese market was deemed to be lagging overseas stocks. However, domestic investors began to take profits ahead of the end of the fiscal year in recognition of the strength of the Yen and the unwinding of cross shareholdings. As a result, rising prices were quickly capped as the market approached its 2003 high. From mid-month onwards, investors began to expect an expansion in high tech firm's earnings ahead of third quarter results announcements, with leading electrical machinery stocks recording highs. In spite of this, adjustments by major banks, the slowdown in non-Japanese investors' activity ahead of the month-end and the plunge in U.S. stocks after the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting led to a cooling in investor sentiment, bringing the market to a close on a weak note at the end of the month.

- February 04: The Tokyo stock market in February was characterized by a stronger rising trend from the middle to the end of the month. Continuing from the end of the previous month, attention in early February remained focused on major high tech companies' earnings announcements. While the results themselves were not bad, they did not surpass expectations and failed to fuel a rise in the overall market. Meanwhile, the Nikkei 225 temporarily endured a stronger declining trend as overseas investors withdrew from buying amid a market that was susceptible to a wait-and-see mood. This attitude was attributed to the upcoming special inspections at major banks and the G7 meeting.

Following these initial trends, both U.S. and Japanese stocks turned around and entered a rising trend, encouraged by U.S. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan's testimony. Although there were concerns about supply/demand deterioration factors in light of an offering of JR West shares and the unwinding of cross-shareholdings before the end of the fiscal year, stocks remained in a rising trend throughout the month. This was due to increased expectations that the domestic economy would continue to recover on the back of the U.S. dollar recovering to Y109/$, high October-December Gross Domestic Product ("GDP") growth and improved industrial production in January. During this period, investors sought a wide range of stocks, covering everything from export-related to domestic demand issues. The Nikkei 225 recovered above 11,000 points.

- March 04: In March, the stock market generally remained on a rising trend, with the TOPIX closing the month at its highest level since the beginning of 2003. It rose by 49.6% in fiscal year 2003, the first rise since fiscal year 1999 and the biggest gain since fiscal year 1986 (47.8%). Throughout the month, non-Japanese investors continued to be aggressive buyers of Japanese stocks on the back of expectations that the recovery in the domestic economy would spread. There were a number of negative incentives, such as concerns over a rise in the unwinding of cross shareholdings ahead of the end of the fiscal year, the terrorist attacks against trains in Spain, the assassination of the founder of the Hamas movement by Israeli forces, a temporary adjustment in U.S. stock prices and a return of JPY appreciation. However, these were counteracted by prospects of further rises in stock prices over the medium term, as indicators such as corporate statistics and land prices boosted confidence even further. With expectations of increased consumer spending, an end to deflation and the bottoming out of land prices, stock selection focused on domestic demand issues, with materials issues also sought after toward the end of the month.

- April 04: In April, although the stock market was mostly unchanged over the month, it was firm overall on the back of an improvement in the Japanese economy and expectations of growth in corporate earnings. The TOPIX was above the 1,200-point level for most of the month. Even when the market was sent down by negative incentives, such as reports that UFJ Holdings had more bad loans than it had admitted, the adjustment of U.S. stocks and news that three Japanese nationals had been taken hostage in Iraq, buying on decline promptly kicked in. As a result, trading volume maintained a high level, but the upside appeared to be capped at the end of the month. On April 30, the last trading day of the month, the TOPIX closed below the 1,200-point level on adjustments of cash positions, due to incentives running dry, with the end of earnings announcements at leading companies and uncertainty in overseas markets as a result of fears of an economic slowdown stemming from monetary tightening in the United States and China. Total trading volume in April exceeded the total trading volume in March to hit a record high.

OUTLOOK

Concerns about higher interest rates, contraction of excess liquidity and a slowdown in China have resurfaced as new realities. After an over 50% rebound in the last twelve months, a consolidation or correction in the Tokyo market seems natural at this stage, as is the case with other equity markets around the world.

The market has reacted to the wave of positive earnings news from technology firms. We expect companies, particularly manufacturers, to present conservative outlooks for fiscal year 2004 (vs. market expectations). We think the TOPIX will settle down into a box range of 1000 to 1200 due to a lack of news once non-manufacturer result announcements run their course in May.

We believe medium and long-term investors should take a buy-on-dips strategy in the mean time. After bottoming out in January 2001, the Japanese economy has been in a recovery phase that could be a historically durable one. While cyclical factors may cause a slow-down in corporate earnings in the second half of this year, valuations in the Japanese stock market remain near the bottom of their trading ranges. One-year forward earnings-per-share, at 19 times earnings, is based on the assumption of a 30% increase in bottom-line profit in fiscal 2004.

The initial stages of the recovery favored cyclicals, lower-quality equities, and smaller capitalization companies. However, we would expect higher-quality companies with sustainable growth characteristics to lead the way as global growth momentum stabilizes.

Major factors to be scrutinized in the meantime will continue to be the U.S. and Chinese economies, and the Japanese economy's relative sensitivity to them.

(1) Recent U.S. economic statistics, including job reports and factory orders, indicate the necessity of interest rate hikes this summer, aside from U.S. political considerations. A key question is whether capital expenditure will recover sufficiently to cover a possible slowdown in housing and consumption, which are more sensitive to short-term interest rate movements. It is reasonable to expect a slowdown of economic growth in the second half of 2004 and in 2005.

(2) The Chinese government is serious about combating excess investment in basic industries, including steel, cement, aluminum and automobiles.

Monetary tightening, including higher reserve requirements and direct control of bank lending, has already hit the world commodities markets. This, in combination with probable U.S. interest rate hikes and a stronger U.S. dollar, has been forcing speculators to leave the commodities markets. The correction of the commodities markets itself is not a negative factor, as it will relieve raw material cost pressures on manufacturing industries. We believe the Chinese economy will be able to achieve a soft-landing this time unlike 1993-94, as money supply growth and inflation are much lower than the previous cycle and excesses are limited to several sectors as mentioned above. Economic policy performance over the next three to six months should be watched, as China has become a big theme in financial and commodities markets.

(3) The Japanese economic recovery, triggered initially by exports, has permeated through capital expenditures and personal consumption. However, the momentum of Japanese economic recovery seemed to be slowing down sequentially in the quarter ended March 31, 2004 given the erratic movements in industrial production and machinery orders. On the other hand, business sentiment remained quite high and there were improvements in lagging sectors such as services and small enterprises. Whether Japan will be able to sustain its economic recovery based on consumption and capital expenditure will be tested by the less friendly external economic circumstances outlined above, particularly any slowdown in China, in late 2004 and in 2005.

As of April 30, 2004, the Fund's net assets were approximately $95.3 million, which represents a net asset value of $6.61 per share. The change in net asset value in USD depends on several factors such as: (1) the percentage change in the benchmark during the period; (2) the over-or under-performance of the Fund's portfolio, after expenses, relative to the benchmark; and (3) the change in the JPY/USD exchange rate.

Our investment strategy is to invest in undervalued securities based on intensive bottom-up analysis supported by quantitative screening. In our research efforts, we place a priority on evaluation of the top management, and its commitment to enhance shareholder value through clear-cut strategies, including restructuring, that will be eventually reflected in share prices. We add value primarily through a bottom-up stock selection approach for the fundamental Japan equity product.

It is important to emphasize again that it has not been an objective of the Fund to predict changes in its benchmark. Rather, its goal is to outperform the benchmark, while staying fairly fully invested. Specifically, the goal is to hold no more than 5% in cash. On April 30, 2004, the proportion of the Fund's net assets invested in Japanese equities listed on the First

Section of the TSE was 97.65%, while short-term investments and other net assets represented 2.35%.

The invested position of the Fund's assets consisted of common stocks of Japanese companies operating in 27 different industries. The Fund had relatively large weightings in Electric Appliances (16.68% of net assets), Transportation Equipment (9.98%), Communication (9.13%) and Banks (8.44%).

During the six months ended April 30, 2004, the Fund's market price on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") ranged from a low of $6.15 per share on December 18, 2003 to a high of $7.75 on April 12, 2004. The Fund's NYSE market price closed at $6.79 per share on April 30, 2004.

The NYSE trading price in relation to the Fund's net asset value per share, as measured by the weekly closing prices during the six months ended April 30, 2004, ranged from a low premium of 1.80% on January 29, 2004 to a high premium of 22.90% on November 6, 2003, and ended the period at a premium of 2.72%.

On December 23, 2003, the Fund successfully completed a rights offering resulting in the issuance of 3,605,229 new shares, representing proceeds to the Fund of approximately $19.4 million, after deducting for all expenses.

The Fund has not invested in derivative securities. Although foreign currency hedging is permitted by the Fund's prospectus, the Fund has not engaged in any foreign currency hedging.

THE JAPAN EQUITY FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Japan Equity Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was incorporated in Maryland on July 12, 1990 under its former name "The Japan Emerging Equity Fund, Inc." and commenced operations on July 24, 1992. It is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as a closed-end, diversified management investment company.

The following significant accounting policies are in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America for investment companies. Such policies are consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual reporting results could differ from those estimates.

VALUATION OF INVESTMENTS--Securities which are listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange or listed on the over-the-counter market in Japan or listed on other exchanges in Japan and for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last reported sales price available to the Fund at the close of business on the day the securities are being valued or, lacking any such sales, at the last available bid price. In instances where quotations are not readily available or where the price as determined by the above procedures is deemed not to represent fair market value, fair value will be determined in such manner as the Board of Directors (the "Board") may prescribe. Short-term investments having a maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost, except where the Board determines that such valuation does not represent the fair value of the investment. All other securities and assets are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by, or under the direction of, the Board.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION--The books and records of the Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars as follows: (1) the foreign currency market value of investment securities and other assets and liabilities stated in Japanese yen are translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the end of the period; and (2) purchases, sales, income and expenses are translated at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The resulting exchange gains and losses are included in the Statement of Operations. The Fund does not isolate the effect of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates from the effect of fluctuations in the market price of securities.

TAX STATUS--The Fund intends to continue to distribute substantially all of its taxable income and to comply with the minimum distribution and other requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise taxes is required.

The Fund is not subject to any Japanese income, capital gains or other taxes except for withholding taxes on certain income, generally imposed at rates of 10% on interest and dividends, paid to the Fund by Japanese corporations.

INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME--Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date (the date upon which the order to buy or sell is executed). Realized and unrealized gains and losses from security and foreign currency transactions are calculated on the identified cost basis. Dividend income and corporate actions are recorded generally on the ex-date, except for certain dividends and corporate actions from Japanese securities which may be recorded after the ex-date, as soon as the Fund acquires information regarding such dividends or corporate actions. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis.

Edgar Filing: JAPAN EQUITY FUND INC - Form N-CSR

DIVIDENDS AND DISTRIBUTIONS TO SHAREHOLDERS--The Fund records dividends and distributions payable to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. The amount of dividends and distributions from net investment income and net realized capital gains are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. These book basis/tax basis differences are either considered temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent in nature, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their federal tax basis treatment; temporary differences do not require reclassifications. Dividends and distributions which exceed net investment income and net realized capital gains for tax purposes are reported as distributions of paid-in-capital.

INVESTMENT MANAGER AND INVESTMENT ADVISER

The Fund has entered into an Investment Management Agreement with Daiwa SB Investments (U.S.A.) Ltd. (the "Manager"). Daiwa SB Investments Ltd. ("DSBI" or the "Adviser"), an affiliate of the Manager, acts as the Fund's investment adviser pursuant to an Investment Advisory Agreement between the Manager and DSBI. For such investment services, the Fund is obligated to pay the Manager a monthly fee at an annual rate of 0.60% of the first $20 million, 0.40% of the next $30 million and 0.20% of the excess over $50 million of the Fund's average weekly net assets, of which fee 60% is paid by the Manager to DSBI. In addition, the Fund has agreed to reimburse the Manager and the Adviser for all out-of-pocket expenses related to the Fund. For the six months ended April 30, 2004, there were no out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the Manager or the Adviser.
