NIRB Schedules Final Public Hearings for review of Proposed Doris North Project at Hope Bay

VANCOUVER Miramar Mining Corporation today announced the Nunavut Impact Review Board (NIRB) has scheduled final public hearings to consider the Doris North Project. The hearings are scheduled for the week of January 30 to February 3, 2006 and will be held in Cambridge Bay, Nunavut.

Miramar filed a Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS) for the Doris North Project with NIRB on October 31, 2005. The FEIS has been delivered to all intervening agencies who have been directed by NIRB to complete a review the FEIS within 60 days. After this review, the public hearings will occur.

These hearings represent the culmination of efforts put forth by all involved to consider the merits of the Doris North Project, said Tony Walsh, Miramar's President & CEO. Over the past months, Miramar and the various intervening agencies have worked to ensure that NIRB has been provided with appropriate information to make a recommendation about the Doris North project. The final hearings are the last step in what we believe to have been a very collegial NIRB process.

After the hearings, if Miramar obtains a positive NIRB recommendation on the project and the Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs Canada (INAC) agrees that the project should move to the next step, Miramar would then enter the regulatory phase of the permitting process. This would include the concurrent filing of applications for various licences and permits for the project.

Miramar also announced earlier today that the world's largest gold mining company, Newmont mining, will take a significant position in the company. Miramar views this investment by Newmont as a vote of confidence, not only in the Hope Bay project, but also in Nunavut as a mining territory.

Miramar aims to become an intermediate gold producer through the integrated development of the Hope Bay belt, the largest undeveloped gold belt in Canada. In order to achieve this goal, while minimizing potential risk to shareholders, Miramar has developed a phased approach to maximizing gold production from the Hope Bay belt starting with the proposed small scale, high grade Doris North Mine. Miramar's goal is then to extend and expand production levels by developing through phase 2 & 3, the rest of Doris, Boston and Madrid.
