PART I

Item 1. Business

General

City National Corporation (the Corporation) was organized in Delaware in 1968 to acquire the outstanding capital stock of City National Bank (the Bank). References to the Company reflect all of the activities of the Corporation and its subsidiaries, including the Bank. The Corporation owns all the outstanding shares of the Bank.

The Bank, which was founded in 1953 and opened for business in January 1954, conducts business in California and New York City. The Bank is a national banking association providing banking, investment and trust services through 52 offices, including 12 full-service regional centers, in Southern California, the San Francisco Bay Area and New York City. As of December 31, 2004, the Company had total assets of $14.2 billion.

At December 31, 2004, the Company had 2,397 full-time equivalent employees.

In the three years ended December 31, 2004, the Company acquired two financial services institutions. On April 1, 2003, the Corporation acquired Convergent Capital Management, LLC, (CCM) a privately held Chicago-based company, and substantially all of its asset management holdings, including its majority ownership interests in eight asset management firms and minority interests in two additional firms. Combined, these 10 firms manage assets of approximately $10.0 billion as of December 31, 2004. On February 28, 2002, the Company completed the acquisition of Civic BanCorp (Civic) headquartered in Oakland, California with total assets at December 31, 2001 of $524.0 million. Subsequently, two former Civic BanCorp branches with combined deposits of approximately $37.0 million were sold. See Note 2 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements on page A-51 of this report.

The Company is engaged in one operating segment: providing private and business banking, including investment and trust services. The Bank is the second largest independent commercial bank headquartered in California. The Bank's principal client base comprises small-to mid-sized businesses, entrepreneurs, professionals, and affluent individuals. For more than 50 years, the Bank has served its clients through relationship banking. The Bank seeks to build client relationships with a high level of personal service and tailored products through private and commercial banking teams, product specialists and investment advisors to facilitate the use by the client, where appropriate, of multiple services and products offered by the Company. The Company offers a broad range of lending, deposit, cash management, international banking, and other products and services. The Company also lends, invests, and provides services in accordance with its Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) commitment. Through the Bank's Wealth Management division, as well as the Corporation's investment advisor subsidiaries, the Company offers: 1) investment management and advisory services and brokerage services, including portfolio management, securities trading and asset management, 2) personal and business trust and investment services, including employee benefit trust services, 401(k) and defined benefit plans and 3) estate and financial planning and custodial services. The Bank also advises and makes available mutual funds under the name of CNI Charter Funds.

Competition

The banking business is highly competitive. The Bank competes with domestic and foreign banks for deposits, loans, and other banking and investment business. In addition, other financial intermediaries, such as savings and loans, money market mutual funds, securities firms, credit unions, insurance companies and other financial services companies, compete with the Bank. Legislation has facilitated the ability of non-depository institutions to act as financial intermediaries. Furthermore, interstate banking legislation has eroded the geographic constraints on the financial services industry.

The Bank seeks to provide personalized and responsive services through management's knowledge and awareness of its market areas, key industries and clients. The Bank believes this relationship approach and knowledge provide a business advantage in serving the small to mid-sized businesses, entrepreneurs, professionals and other individuals that comprise the Company's client base.

Economic Conditions, Government Policies, Legislation, and Regulation

The Company's profitability, like most banking institutions, is highly dependent on interest rate differentials. In general, the difference between the interest rates paid by the Bank on interest-bearing liabilities, such as deposits and other borrowings, and the interest rates received by the Bank on its interest-earning assets, such as loans extended to its clients and securities held in its investment portfolio, comprise the major portion of the Company's earnings. These rates are highly sensitive to many factors that are beyond the Company's control, such as inflation, recession, and unemployment. The impact future changes in domestic and foreign economic conditions might have on the Company cannot be predicted.

The Company's business is also influenced by the monetary and fiscal policies of the federal government and the policies of regulatory agencies, particularly the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the Federal Reserve). The Federal Reserve implements national monetary policies (with objectives such as curbing inflation and combating recession) through its open-market operations in U.S. Government securities, by adjusting the required level of reserves for depository institutions subject to its reserve requirements, and by varying the target federal funds and discount rates applicable to borrowings by depository institutions. The actions of the Federal Reserve in these areas influence the growth of bank loans, investments, and deposits and also affect interest rates earned on interest-earning assets and paid on interest-bearing liabilities. The nature and impact on the Company of any future changes in monetary and fiscal policies cannot be predicted.

Proposals to change the laws and regulations governing the operations and taxation of banks, bank holding companies, and other financial institutions and financial services providers are frequently introduced in the U.S. Congress, in the state legislatures, and before various regulatory agencies. The likelihood and timing of any proposals or legislation and the impact they may have on the Company cannot be determined at this time.

Supervision and Regulation

General

Bank holding companies and banks are extensively regulated under both federal and state law. This regulation is intended primarily for the protection of depositors, the deposit insurance fund, and other clients of the Bank, and not for the benefit of shareholders of the Corporation. Set forth below is a summary description of the material laws and regulations that relate to the operations of the Corporation and the Bank. The description is qualified in its entirety by reference to the applicable laws and regulations.

The Corporation

The Corporation, as a registered bank holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, as amended (the BHCA), is subject to supervision, regulation and inspection by the Federal Reserve.

Under the BHCA, the Corporation is required to obtain the prior approval of the Federal Reserve before (i) acquiring, directly or indirectly, ownership or control of any voting shares of another bank holding company or a bank if, after such acquisition, it would own or control more than 5% of such shares (unless it already owns or controls the majority of such shares); (ii) acquiring all or substantially all of the assets of another bank or bank holding company; or (iii) merging or consolidating with another bank holding company. The BHCA also prohibits the Corporation, except in certain statutorily prescribed instances, from engaging in, or acquiring direct or indirect ownership or control of more than 5% of the voting shares of any company engaged in non-banking activities, other than any activities that are deemed by the Federal Reserve to be so closely related to banking or managing or controlling banks as to be a proper incident thereto (See Gramm-Leach Bliley Act of 1999 ). The Federal Reserve can also limit the Corporation's ability to repurchase or redeem its equity securities under certain circumstances.

Under Federal Reserve regulations, a bank holding company is required to serve as a source of financial and managerial strength to its subsidiary banks and may not conduct its operations in an unsafe or unsound manner. Under this policy, the Federal Reserve may require a holding company to contribute additional capital to an undercapitalized subsidiary bank.

The Bank

The Bank, as a national banking association, is subject to broad federal regulation and oversight extending to all its operations, by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (the Comptroller ), its primary regulator, and also by the Federal Reserve and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. As part of this authority, the Bank is required to file periodic reports with the Comptroller and is subject to periodic examination by the Comptroller.

The Comptroller has extensive enforcement authority over all national banks, including the Bank. If, as a result of an examination of a bank, the Comptroller determines that the financial condition, capital resources, asset quality, earnings prospects, management, liquidity, or other aspects of the bank's operations are unsatisfactory or that the bank or its management is violating or has violated any law or regulation, various remedies are available to the Comptroller. These remedies include the power to enjoin unsafe or unsound practices, to require affirmative action to correct any conditions resulting from any violation or practice, to issue an administrative order that can be judicially enforced, to direct an increase in capital, to restrict the growth of the bank, to assess civil monetary penalties, to remove officers and directors, and ultimately to terminate the bank's deposit insurance.

The Comptroller, as well as the other federal agencies, have adopted regulations and guidelines establishing safety and soundness standards, including but not limited to such matters as loan underwriting and documentation, internal controls and audit systems, interest rate risk exposure, asset quality and earnings and compensation and other employee benefits.

Various other requirements and restrictions under the laws of the United States affect the operations of the Bank. Statutes and regulations relate to many aspects of the Bank's operations, including reserves against deposits, ownership of deposit accounts, interest rates payable on deposits, loans, investments, mergers and acquisitions, borrowings, dividends, locations of branch offices, and capital requirements.

Gramm-Leach Bliley Act of 1999

The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act of 1999 (the GLB Act ) permits qualifying bank holding companies to elect to become financial holding companies and engage in other activities that are financial in nature or are complementary to financial activity and do not pose a substantial risk to the safety and soundness of depository institutions or the financial system generally. These activities include insurance underwriting and brokerage, securities activities, merchant banking and additional activities that the Federal Reserve has determined to be closely related to banking. A qualifying national bank also may engage, subject to limitations on investment, in activities that are financial in nature, other than insurance underwriting, insurance company portfolio investment, real estate development, and real estate investment through a financial subsidiary of the bank.

Pursuant to the GLB Act, federal banking regulators have adopted rules that limit the ability of banks and other financial institutions to disclose non-public information about consumers to nonaffiliated third parties. These rules require disclosure of privacy policies to consumers and, in some circumstance, allow consumers to prevent disclosure of certain personal information to a nonaffiliated third party.

Anti-Money Laundering

A major focus of governmental policy on financial institutions in recent years has been aimed at combating money laundering and terrorist financing. The Bank Secrecy Act of 1970 ( BSA ) and subsequent laws and regulations require the Bank to take steps to prevent the use of the Bank or its systems from facilitating the flow of illegal or illicit money and to file suspicious activity reports. Those requirements include ensuring effective Board and management oversight, establishing policies and procedures, developing effective monitoring and reporting capabilities, ensuring adequate training and establishing a comprehensive internal audit of BSA compliance activities. The USA Patriot Act of 2001 ( Patriot Act ) significantly expanded the anti-money laundering ( AML ) and financial transparency laws and regulations by imposing significant new compliance and due diligence obligations, creating new crimes and penalties and expanding the extra-territorial jurisdiction of the United States. Regulations propounded under the Patriot Act impose various requirements on financial institutions, such as standards for verifying customer identification at account opening and maintaining expanded records (including Know Your Customer and Enhanced Due Diligence practices) and other obligations to maintain appropriate policies, procedures and controls to aid the process of preventing, detecting, and reporting money laundering and terrorist financing. The Patriot Act also applies BSA procedures to broker-dealers. An institution subject to the Patriot Act must provide AML training to employees, designate an AML compliance officer and annually audit the AML program to assess its effectiveness.

Dividends and Other Transfers of Funds

The Corporation is a legal entity separate and distinct from the Bank. Dividends from the Bank constitute the principal source of income to the Corporation. The Bank is subject to various statutory and regulatory restrictions on its ability to pay dividends to the Corporation. Under such restrictions, at December 31, 2004, the Bank could have paid dividends of $333.0 million to the Corporation without obtaining prior approval of its banking regulators. In addition, federal bank regulatory authorities can prohibit the Bank from paying dividends, depending upon the Bank's financial condition, if such payment is deemed to constitute an unsafe or unsound practice.

Federal law limits the ability of the Bank to extend credit to the Corporation or its other affiliates, to invest in stock or other securities thereof, to take such securities as collateral for loans, and to purchase assets from the Corporation or other affiliates. These restrictions prevent the Corporation and such other affiliates from borrowing from the Bank unless the loans are secured by marketable obligations of designated amounts. Further, such secured loans and investments by the Bank to or in the Corporation or to or in any other affiliate are limited individually to 10.0 percent of the Bank's capital and surplus and in the aggregate to 20.0 percent of the Bank's capital and surplus. See Note 10 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements on page A-62 of this report. Further, a bank holding company and its subsidiaries are prohibited from engaging in certain tie-in arrangements in connection with any extension of credit, lease or sale of property, or furnishing of services.

Capital Standards

Each federal banking agency has adopted risk-based capital regulations under which a banking organization's capital is compared to the risk associated with its operations for both transactions reported on the balance sheet as assets as well as transactions which are off-balance sheet items, such as letters of credit and recourse arrangements. Under the capital regulations, the nominal dollar amounts of assets and the balance sheet equivalent amounts of off-balance sheet items are multiplied by one of several risk adjustment percentages, which range from 0 percent for asset categories with low credit risk, such as certain U.S. Treasury securities, to 100 percent for asset categories with relatively high credit risk, such as commercial loans.

In addition to the risk-based capital guidelines, federal banking agencies require banking organizations to maintain a minimum amount of Tier 1 capital to total assets, referred to as the leverage ratio. For a banking organization rated composite 1 under the Composite Uniform Financial Institutions Rating System (CAMELS) for banks, which rating is the lowest level of supervisory concern of the five categories used by the federal banking agencies to rate banking organizations ( 5 being the highest level of supervisory concern), the minimum leverage ratio of Tier 1 capital to total assets is 3 percent. For all banking organizations other than those rated composite 1 under the CAMELS system, the minimum leverage ratio of Tier 1 capital to total assets is 4 percent. Banking organizations with supervisory, financial, operational, or managerial weaknesses, as well as organizations that are anticipating or experiencing significant growth, are expected to maintain capital ratios above the minimum levels. In addition to these uniform risk-based capital guidelines and leverage ratios that apply across the industry, the federal banking agencies have the discretion to set individual minimum capital requirements for specific institutions at rates significantly above the minimum guidelines and ratios.

At December 31, 2004, the Corporation and the Bank each exceeded the required risk-based capital ratios for classification as well capitalized as well as the required minimum leverage ratios. See Management's Discussion and Analysis Balance Sheet Analysis Capital on page A-35 of this report.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Act requires federal bank regulatory agencies to take prompt corrective action with respect to FDIC-insured depository institutions that do not meet minimum capital requirements. A depository institution's treatment for purposes of the prompt corrective action provisions will depend on how its capital levels compare to various capital measures and certain other factors, as established by regulation.

The existing U.S. federal bank regulatory agencies' risk-based capital guidelines are based upon the 1988 capital accord of the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision ( BIS ). In June 2004, BIS issued a revised framework for measuring capital adequacy ( Basel II ) including setting capital requirements for operational risk. Basel II promotes risk management practices and includes a greater use of assessments of risk provided by banks' internal systems as inputs to capital calculations. Federal regulators are currently preparing regulations on compliance with Basel II in the United States. U.S. banking regulators have stated that only the 10 largest U.S. bank holding companies will be required to adopt the new standards, and that others may do so voluntarily. The Corporation continues to monitor and analyze Basel II and its implementation, including what effect the new capital requirements of Basel II may have on the Corporation's minimum capital requirements and on its risk management policies.

Premiums for Deposit Insurance

The Bank's deposit accounts are insured by the Bank Insurance Fund ( BIF ), as administered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the FDIC ), up to the maximum permitted by law. Insurance of deposits may be terminated by the FDIC upon a finding that the institution has engaged in unsafe or unsound practices, is in an unsafe or unsound condition to continue operations, or has violated any applicable law, regulation, rule, order, or condition imposed by the FDIC or the institution's primary regulator.

The FDIC charges an annual assessment for the insurance of deposits, which as of December 31, 2004 ranged from 0 to 27 cents per $100 of insured deposits, based on the risk a particular institution poses to its deposit insurance fund. The risk classification is based on an institution's capital group and supervisory subgroup assignment. An institution's capital group is based on the FDIC's determination of whether the institution is well capitalized, adequately capitalized, or less than adequately capitalized. An institution's supervisory subgroup assignment is based on the FDIC's assessment of the financial condition of the institution and the probability that FDIC intervention or other corrective action will be required. In addition to its normal deposit insurance premium as a member of the BIF, the Bank must pay an additional premium toward the retirement of the Financing Corporation bonds ( Fico Bonds ) issued in the 1980s to assist in the recovery of the savings and loan industry. In 2004, this premium was approximately 1.5 cents per $100 of insured deposits.

Interstate Banking and Branching

The Riegle-Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Act permits banks and bank holding companies from any state to acquire banks located in any other state, subject to certain conditions, including certain nationwide-and state-imposed concentration limits. The Company also has the ability, subject to certain restrictions, to acquire branches outside its home state by acquisition or merger. The establishment of new interstate branches is also possible in those states with laws that expressly permit de novo branching. Interstate branches are subject to certain laws of the states in which they are located. In December 2002, the Company purchased an existing branch in New York and opened a private banking facility. From time to time, the Company may engage in additional interstate branch acquisitions.

Community Reinvestment Act

Under the Community Reinvestment Act ( CRA ), the Bank has a continuing and affirmative obligation consistent with safe and sound banking practices to help meet the credit needs of its entire community, including low and moderate income neighborhoods. CRA does not establish specific lending requirements or programs for financial institutions nor does it limit an institution's discretion to develop the types of products and services that it believes are best suited to its particular community, consistent with CRA. CRA generally requires the federal banking agencies to evaluate the record of a financial institution in meeting the credit needs of its local communities and to take that record into account in its evaluation of certain applications by such institution, such as applications to grant charters, branches and other deposit facilities, relocations, mergers, consolidations and acquisitions or engage in certain activities pursuant to the GLB Act. An unsatisfactory rating may be the basis for denying the application. Based on the most current examination report dated January 13, 2003, the Bank was rated satisfactory.

Securities and Exchange Commission

Under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 ( Advisers Act ), investment advisers who manage $25 million or more in client assets or who act as an adviser to a registered investment company, such as Reed, Conner & Birdwell, LLC (RCB) and the asset management firms owned by CCM, must register with the Securities and Exchange Commission ( SEC ). The regulations applicable to investment advisers cover all aspects of the investment advisory business, including compliance requirements, limitations on fees, record-keeping, reporting and disclosure requirements and general anti-fraud prohibitions.

On July 30, 2002, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act ( SOX ) was enacted. This measure addresses corporate governance and securities reporting requirements. The SEC has adopted a substantial number of new rules and regulations pursuant to SOX. They include rules relating to changes in auditing and accounting, executive compensation, certifications by Chief Executive Officers and Chief Financial Officers of certain securities filings, expanded reporting of information in current reports filed with the SEC, more detailed reporting information in securities disclosure documents and more timely filings of corporate information. The New York Stock Exchange has also issued corporate governance rules that the Company has adopted, which rules are intended to enable stockholders to more easily and efficiently monitor the performance of companies and directors.

2005 Regulatory Developments

During the first quarter of 2005, the Bank announced that it had entered into a written agreement with the Comptroller. The agreement arose out of certain previously disclosed compliance activities regarding the BSA and the Patriot Act and requires the Bank to take appropriate actions to continue to improve its policies and procedures for complying with the BSA and the Patriot Act. The Bank has taken significant corrective actions, and adopted and implemented a number of policies and procedures, to address the concerns of the OCC and these actions will continue in 2005. In connection with the agreement, the Bank paid a monetary assessment of $750,000.

Flower Street and plaza building at 525 S. Flower Street, commonly known as the ARCO Plaza complex. It was renamed City National Plaza in January 2005.

See Cautionary Statement for Purposes of the Safe Harbor Provision of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, on pages A-36 and A-37 in connection with forward looking statements included in this report.

Over the last three years, the Company's assets, loans, and deposits have grown by 40 percent, 19 percent, and 47 percent, respectively. The growth primarily reflects the successful sales efforts of the Company's colleagues, but was also augmented by a Bank acquisition in that same period. The Corporation regularly evaluates, and holds discussions with, various potential acquisition candidates.

On April 1, 2003, the Corporation acquired Convergent Capital Management LLC, a privately held Chicago-based company, and substantially all of its asset management holdings, including its majority ownership interests in eight asset management firms and minority interests in two additional firms. Combined, these 10 firms managed assets of approximately $10.0 billion as of December 31, 2004. The purchase price was $49.0 million, comprised of cash and the assumption of approximately $7.5 million of debt. The acquisition resulted in $25.8 million in customer contract intangibles, which is being amortized over 20 years, and $21.5 million in goodwill.

On February 28, 2002, the Corporation completed its acquisition of Civic Bancorp (Civic). The Corporation paid consideration equal to $123.5 million (including the consideration for stock options), 53.5 percent of which was paid in the Corporation's common stock, and 46.5 percent of which was paid in cash. Civic had total assets, loans, and deposits of $502.8 million, $368.4 million, and $438.5 million, respectively at the date of acquisition. The acquisition resulted in the recording of goodwill of $71.2 million and core deposit intangibles of $16.0 million. On May 31, 2002, the Bank sold two branches acquired from Civic at a premium which reduced goodwill related to the Civic acquisition.

On February 13, 2003, the Corporation issued $225.0 million of 5.125 percent Senior Notes due 2013 in a private placement. A like amount of exchange notes were subsequently registered pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 in April 2003 and 100 percent of the Senior Notes were exchanged for the registered notes in an exchange offering with the Senior Notes which closed on May 29, 2003.

On January 22, 2003, the Board of Directors authorized a one-million-share stock buyback program. The buyback was completed in 2004 at an average cost of $46.55 per share. On July 15, 2003, the Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of 500,000 additional shares of City National Corporation stock, following completion of the Company's January 22, 2003 buyback initiative. In 2004, 490,500 shares were repurchased under this program, leaving 9,500 shares to be repurchased. In March 2004, the Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of an additional one million shares of City National Corporation stock, to follow the completion of the July 15, 2003 buyback initiative. The shares purchased under the buyback programs will be reissued for acquisitions, upon the exercise of stock options, and for other general corporate purposes. In January 2005, 187,300 shares were repurchased at an average cost of $69.54 per share and in February 2005, 86,100 shares were repurchased at an average cost of $69.47 per share. At February 28, 2005, 736,100 shares were available for repurchase.

The Corporation paid dividends of $1.28 per share of common stock in 2004 and $0.97 per share of common stock in 2003. On January 19, 2005, the Board of Directors authorized a regular quarterly cash dividend on common stock at an increased rate of $0.36 per share to shareholders of record on February 2, 2005 payable on February 15, 2005. This reflects a 13.0 percent increase over the $0.32 paid in November 2004.

The accounting and reporting policies of City National Corporation (the Corporation) and of City National Bank (the Bank) and their subsidiaries conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The preparation of these consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reported periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The material estimates included in the financial statements relate to the allowance for loan losses, the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments and the valuation of financial instruments.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations are based upon our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. The preparation of these financial statements requires management to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of our financial statements. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Certain accounting policies involve significant judgments and assumptions by management which have a material impact on the carrying value of certain assets and liabilities; management considers such accounting policies to be critical accounting policies. The judgments and assumptions used by management are based on historical experience and other factors, which are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Management believes the following are critical accounting policies that require the most significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of its consolidated financial statements:

Accounting for securities

All securities other than trading securities are classified as available-for-sale and are valued at fair value. Trading securities are valued at fair value with any unrealized gains or losses included in income.

Unrealized gains or losses on securities available-for-sale are excluded from net income but are included in comprehensive income net of taxes. Premiums or discounts on securities available-for-sale are amortized or accreted into income using the interest method. Realized gains or losses on sales of securities available-for-sale are recorded using the specific identification method.

If available, quoted market prices provide the best indication of value. If quoted market prices are not available for fixed maturity securities, the Company discounts the expected cash flows using market interest rates commensurate with the credit quality and maturity of the investments. Alternatively, matrix or model pricing may be used to determine an appropriate fair value. The determination of market or fair value considers various factors, including time value and volatility factors; price activity for equivalent instruments; counterparty credit quality; and the potential impact on market prices or fair value of liquidating the Company's positions in an orderly manner over a reasonable period of time under current market conditions. Changes in assumptions could affect the fair values of investments.

For the substantial majority of our portfolios, fair values are determined based upon externally verifiable model inputs and quoted prices. All financial models that are used for updating the Company's published financial statements, or for independent risk monitoring, must be validated and periodically reviewed by qualified personnel. Using this information, the Company conducts regular reviews to assess whether other-than-temporary impairment exists. Deteriorating global, regional or specific issuer-related economic conditions could adversely affect these values. The Company considers such factors as the length of time and the extent to which the market value has been less than cost. If an other-than-temporary impairment is determined to exist, the impairment is recorded as a loss on the writedown of securities.

Accounting for the allowance for loan losses and reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments

The provision for credit losses charged to operations reflects management's judgment of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments. It is determined through quarterly analytical reviews of the loan and commitment portfolios and consideration of such other factors as the Company's loan loss experience, trends in problem loans, concentrations of credit risk, underlying collateral values, and current economic conditions, as well as the results of the Company's ongoing credit examination process and that of its regulators. As conditions change, our level of provisioning and the allowance for loan losses and reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments may change.

Larger-balance, non-homogenous exposures are individually evaluated based upon the borrower's overall financial condition, resources, and payment record; the prospects for support from any financially responsible guarantors; and, if appropriate, the realizable value of any collateral. The allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments attributed to these loans are established via a process that begins with estimates of probable loss inherent in the portfolio based upon various statistical analyses. These analyses consider historical and projected default rates and loss severities; internal risk ratings; geographic, industry, and other environmental factors; and model imprecision. Management also considers overall portfolio indicators, including trends in internally risk-rated exposures, classified exposures, cash-basis loans, and historical and forecasted write-offs; and a review of industry, geographic, and portfolio concentrations, including current developments within those segments. In addition, management considers the current business strategy and credit process, including credit-limit setting and compliance, credit approvals, loan underwriting criteria and loan workout procedures.

Within the allowance for loan losses, amounts are specified for larger-balance, non-homogeneous loans that have been individually determined to be impaired. These amounts consider all available evidence, including, as appropriate, the present value of the expected future cash flows discounted using the loan's contractual effective rate, the secondary market value of the loan and the fair value of collateral.

Each portfolio of smaller balance, homogeneous loans, including residential first mortgage, installment, revolving credit and most other consumer loans, is collectively evaluated for loss potential. The allowance for loan losses and reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments for these loans is established via a process that begins with estimates of probable losses inherent in the portfolio, based upon various statistical analyses. These include migration analysis, in which historical delinquency and credit loss experience is applied to the current aging of the portfolio, as well as analyses that reflect current trends and conditions. Management also considers overall portfolio indicators, including historical credit losses, delinquent, non-performing and classified loans, and trends in volumes and terms of loans; an evaluation of overall credit quality and the credit process, including lending policies and procedures, economic, geographical, product, and other environmental factors; and model imprecision.

The allocated allowance for loan losses is supplemented by the unallocated allowance to adjust for imprecision and to incorporate the range of probable outcomes inherent in estimates used for the allocated allowance. The unallocated allowance is the result of judgment risks inherent in the portfolio, industry and large loan concentrations, economic uncertainties, historical loss experience, and other subjective factors including industry trends.

Accounting for derivatives and hedging activities

In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133 Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as amended (SFAS No. 133), all derivatives are recorded on the balance sheet at their fair value. The treatment of changes in the fair value of derivatives depends on the character of the transaction. The Company uses plain vanilla interest rate swaps to mitigate risks associated with changes 1) to the fair value of certain fixed-rate deposits and borrowings and 2) to certain cash flows related to future interest payments on variable-rate loans.

For fair-value hedges, in which derivatives hedge the fair value of assets and liabilities, changes in the fair value of derivatives will be reflected in current earnings, together with changes in the fair value of the related hedged item. For effective cash-flow hedges, in which derivatives hedge the variability of cash flows related to floating rate assets, liabilities or forecasted transactions, changes in the derivatives fair value will not be included in current earnings but will be reported as other comprehensive income. These changes in fair value will be included in earnings of future periods when earnings are affected by the variability of the hedged cash flows. To the extent these derivatives are not effective, changes in their fair values will be immediately included in current earnings.

Fair values are determined from verifiable third-party sources that have considerable experience with the interest-rate swap market. The periodic net settlement of these interest-rate risk management instruments is recorded as an adjustment to net interest income.

The positive mark-to-market on the fair value hedges has resulted in an increase in both other assets and hedged deposits and borrowings. The negative mark-to-market on cash flow hedges of variable-rate loans has resulted in a decrease in other assets and a reduction in comprehensive income.

Accounting for stock options

The Company applies APB Opinion No. 25 in accounting for the stock option plans and, accordingly, no compensation cost has been recognized for its stock options in the financial statements. As a practice, the Corporation's stock-option grants are such that the exercise price equals the current market price of the common stock. Had the Company determined compensation cost based on the fair value at the grant date for its stock options under SFAS No. 123 using the Black Scholes option-pricing model, the Company's proforma net income would have been reduced to the proforma amounts indicated below:

Dollars in thousands, except for per share amounts	2004	2003	2002
Net income, as reported	$ 206,322	$ 186,677	$ 183,100
Total stock-based employee compensation expense under the fair-value method for all awards, net of tax	(4,958 )	(6,417 )	(10,165 )
Proforma net income	201,364	180,260	172,935
Net income per share, basic, as reported	4.21	3.84	3.69
Proforma net income per share, basic	4.11	3.71	3.49
Net income per share, diluted, as reported	4.04	3.72	3.56
Proforma net income per share, diluted	3.94	3.59	3.37
Percentage reduction in net income per share, diluted	2.5	% 3.5	% 5.3	%

The Black Scholes option-pricing model requires assumptions on the expected lives of the options that is based upon the pattern of exercise of options granted by the Corporation in the past; volatility based on changes in the price of the Corporation's common stock during the past 10 years, as measured monthly; the dividend yield and a risk-free investment rate. Actual dividend payments will depend upon a number of factors, including future financial results, and may differ substantially from the assumption. The risk-free investment rate for the weighted average life of the outstanding options is interpolated based on the U.S. Treasury Note yield curve.

The actual value, if any, which a grantee may realize will depend upon the difference between the option exercise price and the market price of the Corporation's common stock on the date of exercise.

In 2004 and 2003, stock-based compensation performance awards were granted to colleagues of the Company which, for the first time, included restricted stock grants with fewer stock options. This reduced the total number of shares awarded but better aligned the interests of shareholders and colleagues. Twenty-five percent of the restricted stock vests two years from the date of grant, then 25 percent vests on each of the next three consecutive grant anniversary dates. The portion of the market value of the restricted stock related to current service is recognized as compensation expense. The portion of the market value of the restricted stock relating to future service (deferred equity compensation) will be amortized over the remaining vesting period. The Company recorded $3,445,007 in expense for restricted stock awards in 2004 compared to $905,170 in 2003. Based on the date of grant, expense for 2003 primarily reflected restricted stock expense for only seven months, while 2004 expense reflected 12 months of expense for 2003 grants and approximately ten months expense for 2004 grants. This change in the awards resulted in the lower percentage reduction in proforma net income compared to reported net income in 2004 and 2003 compared to 2002.

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised) ( SFAS No. 123R ), Share-Based Payment . SFAS No. 123R eliminates the intrinsic value method under APB 25 as an alternative method of accounting for stock-based awards. SFAS No. 123R also revises the fair value-based method of accounting for share-based payment liabilities, forfeitures and modifications of stock-based awards and clarifies SFAS No. 123's guidance in several areas, including measuring fair value, classifying an award as equity or as a liability and attributing compensation cost to reporting periods. In addition, SFAS No. 123R amends SFAS No. 95, Statement of Cash Flows, to require that excess tax benefits be reported as a financing cash inflow rather than as reduction of taxes paid, which is included in operating cash flows.

The Company is required to adopt SFAS No. 123R for the interim period beginning July 1, 2005 using a modified version of prospective application or may elect to apply a modified version of retrospective application. The Company currently expects to adopt SFAS No. 123R using the modified prospective method with an effective date of July 1, 2005. This will have the effect of increasing compensation expense in 2005 and reducing net income per share by approximately $0.05 a share.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Consolidated net income for 2004 was $206.3 million, or $4.04 per diluted common share, compared with $186.7 million, or $3.72 per diluted common share, in 2003. Income before taxes increased 12 percent, primarily attributable to making no provision for credit losses in 2004 compared to $29.0 million in 2003. Nonaccrual loans for 2004 fell to $34.6 million, an 18 percent decline from December 31, 2003. Net loan charge-offs were $5.7 million in 2004, a decrease of 79 percent from $27.5 million in 2003.
- Net interest income on a fully taxable-equivalent basis for 2004 was $559.5 million compared with $529.0 million for 2003.
- Noninterest income rose $7.0 million, or 4 percent, in 2004 over 2003. This increase was due, in part, to higher wealth management fee income.
- The Company's income tax rate increased from 36.6 percent in 2003 to 37.4 percent in 2004, which is primarily due to the effect of relatively stable permanent adjustments as compared with an increase in pretax income.
- Total assets at December 31, 2004 were $14.2 billion, compared with $13.0 billion at December 31, 2003.
- Total average assets increased to $13.4 billion in 2004 from $12.2 billion in 2003, an increase of $1.2 billion, or 10 percent, primarily due to higher average securities.
- The return on average assets was 1.54 percent for both 2004 and 2003. The return on average shareholders' equity increased to 16.34 percent, compared with 16.27 percent for the prior year.
- Average securities for 2004 were up 24 percent from 2003 due to higher deposit balances. The average duration of the total available-for-sale securities portfolio at December 31, 2004 was 3.0 years.
- Average loans for 2004 were $389.3 million higher than 2003 due, in part, to improving loan demand near the end of the year.
- Average deposits rose during 2004 to $11.3 billion, an increase of 12 percent over $10.0 billion for 2003.
- Average core deposits for 2004 were up 15 percent from 2003.

OUTLOOK

Management continues to expect net income per diluted common share for 2005 to be approximately 11 to 14 percent higher than net income per diluted common share for 2004, based on current economic conditions, business indicators and an expectation that the federal funds rate will rise by 75 basis points in 2005.

Average loans are expected to grow at a faster rate than in 2004, while average deposits are expected to grow at a slower rate than in 2004. Net interest income is expected to grow at a much higher rate in 2005, as a result of interest rate changes that occurred in 2004, expected rate increases in 2005 and higher loan balances. Management expects that a provision for credit losses may be required in 2005 as average loan balances grow. Noninterest expense is expected to grow at about the same rate in 2005 as in 2004. This includes higher risk-management costs related to efforts to improve controls, policies and procedures and compliance with the Bank Secrecy Act and USA Patriot Act, as well as a $750,000 assessment in connection with an agreement entered into with the Comptroller of the Currency in the first quarter of 2005 to continue to improve controls in this area. It also includes higher premises costs relating to the opening of three new offices in Southern California as well as continuing consolidation of operations and colleagues at City National Plaza in downtown Los Angeles. Also expected to contribute to growth in noninterest expense are the continued recognition of the cost of restricted stock grants and the cost of stock option expense beginning in the second half of 2005. The effective tax rate is expected to be about the same in 2005 as it was in 2004.

(2) Adjusted balances reflect the elimination of goodwill amortization of $12,868 and $11,223 for the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000, respectively, to reflect all periods on a comparable basis.

Net Interest Income

Net interest income is the difference between interest income (which includes yield-related loan fees) and interest expense. Net interest income on a fully taxable-equivalent basis expressed as a percentage of average total earning assets is referred to as the net interest margin, which represents the average net effective yield on earning assets.

Net interest income is impacted by the volume (changes in volume multiplied by prior rate), mix (change in rate multiplied by change in volume), and rate (changes in rate multiplied by prior volume) of interest-earning assets and interest-bearing liabilities. The following table shows changes in net interest income between 2004 and 2003 as well as between 2003 and 2002 broken down between volume and rate.

Taxable-equivalent net interest income totaled $559.5 million in 2004, compared with $529.0 million for 2003. The increase in net interest income was primarily due to higher yielding average securities. Included in 2004 was $29.1 million from the receipt of net settlements of interest-rate risk management instruments compared to $31.5 million in 2003. Interest income recovered on nonaccrual and charged-off loans included above was $2.1 million in 2004, compared with $2.7 million for 2003. The fully taxable-equivalent net interest margin in 2004 was 4.54 percent, compared with 4.74 percent for 2003. The decrease is due to lower yields on interest-earning assets.

Average loans for 2004 were $8,118.5 million, $389.3 million or 5.0 percent higher than 2003 due to improving loan demand. Compared with 2003 averages, residential mortgage loans rose 16.9 percent to $2,081.1 million, commercial real estate mortgage loans increased 5.8 percent to $1,827.2 million; and real estate construction loans rose 18.5 percent to $767.8 million. Commercial loans decreased 5.5 percent to $3,136.5 million.

Average securities available-for-sale in 2004 were $3,656.5 million, an increase of $712.1 million, or 24.2 percent, over 2003, as deposit growth continued to exceed loan demand.

Total average core deposits rose to $10,425.5 million, an increase of 15.3 percent over 2003. Average core deposits represented 92.5 percent of the total average deposit base for the year. Average interest-bearing core deposits increased to $4,944.3 million in 2004 from $4,352.4 million in 2003, an increase of $591.9 million, or 13.6 percent. Average noninterest-bearing deposits increased to $5,481.2 million in 2004 from $4,689.9 million in 2003, an increase of $791.3 million, or 16.9 percent. New clients and higher existing client deposit balances maintained to pay for services contributed to the growth of deposits. Average time deposits in denominations of $100,000 or more decreased $153.5 million, or 15.3 percent, between 2003 and 2004.

For 2003, fully taxable-equivalent net interest income totaled $529.0 million, a decrease of $1.1 million from 2002. The decrease in net interest income was due to lower interest rates and lower commercial loan balances. Included in 2003 was $31.5 million from the receipt of net settlements of interest-rate risk-management instruments compared to $32.2 million in 2002. In addition, interest income recovered on nonaccrual and charged-off loans included above was $2.7 million in 2003, compared with $2.3 million for 2002.

Average loans declined to $7,729.2 million in 2003, a decrease of 1.0 percent over the prior year. The decrease in average loans was the result of modest demand and efforts of the Company to improve credit quality. Compared with 2002 averages, residential mortgage loans rose 4.5 percent to $1,781.0 million, commercial real estate mortgage loans rose 3.8 percent to $1,901.5 million, and construction loans rose 2.2 percent to $647.9 million. Commercial loans decreased 7.3 percent to $3,319.3 million.

Average securities available-for-sale were $2,944.4 million in 2003, an increase of $1,000.5 million, or 51.5 percent, over 2002 as deposit growth exceeded increased loan demand.

Total average core deposits rose to $9,042.3 million in 2003, an increase of 22.2 percent over 2002. Average core deposits represented 90.0 percent of the total average deposit base for 2003. Average interest-bearing core deposits increased to $4,352.4 million in 2003 from $3,584.8 million in 2002, an increase of $767.6 million, or 21.4 percent. Average noninterest-bearing deposits increased to $4,689.9 million in 2003 from $3,815.2 million in 2002, an increase of $874.7 million, or 22.9 percent. New clients and higher existing client deposit balances maintained to pay for services contributed to the growth of deposits. Average time deposits in denominations of $100,000 or more decreased $236.6 million, or 19.1 percent, between 2002 and 2003.

Provision for Credit Losses

The provision for credit losses primarily reflects the levels of net loan charge-offs and nonaccrual loans, changes in the economic environment during the period, as well as management's ongoing assessment of the credit quality and growth of the loan and commitment portfolios. In 2004, 2003, and 2002, net charge-offs totaled $5.7 million, $27.5 million and $54.1 million, respectively. In these years, nonaccrual loans at year-end totaled $34.6 million, $42.3 million and $71.4 million, respectively.

The Company recorded no provision for credit losses in 2004, $29.0 million in 2003, and $67.0 million in 2002. See Balance Sheet Analysis Asset Quality Allowance for Loan Losses and Reserve for Off-Balance Sheet Credit Commitments.

Noninterest Income

Noninterest income in 2004 totaled $184.3 million, an increase of $7.1 million, or 4.0 percent, from 2003. It increased $30.9 million, or 21.1 percent, from 2002. Noninterest income represented 25.2 percent of total revenues in 2004, compared with 25.6 percent and 22.1 percent in 2003 and 2002, respectively.

A breakdown of noninterest income by category is reflected below.

Trust and investment fee revenue and brokerage and mutual fund fees, which include trust fees, commissions and mark-ups on securities transactions with clients, and fees on mutual funds, increased by $22.3 million or 26.6 percent in 2004 compared with 2003. The increase was due to new business and higher market values. Trust and investment fee revenue and brokerage and mutual fund fees increased by $22.4 million, or 36.5 percent, from 2002 to 2003 aided by the acquisition of CCM, which closed on April 1, 2003, as well as strong investment performance and higher market values. At December 31, 2004, the Company had $35.1 billion in assets under management or administration, including $16.2 billion in assets under management, compared with $28.8 billion and $13.6 billion, respectively, at December 31, 2003. The increase in assets under management in 2004 is primarily attributable to strong investment performance and higher market values.

Cash management and deposit transaction fees decreased $2.1 million, or 4.8 percent, in 2004, compared with a 5.6 percent increase in 2003. The decrease in 2004 was due to higher balances maintained to offset transaction charges and a higher earnings credit rate. The increase in 2003 was the result of strong growth in deposits, higher sales of cash management products and the residual impact of a reduction in the earnings credit on analyzed deposit accounts for clients who chose to pay fees rather than increase deposit balances to pay for services.

International services fee income for 2004 increased $1.5 million, or 7.8 percent, over 2003, compared with a 5.5 percent increase in 2003. The increase in 2004 is primarily due to higher foreign exchange income. In 2003, international services fee income of $19.3 million increased $1.0 million over 2002 due to higher foreign exchange income partially offset by lower trade-finance revenue.

Other income decreased $5.4 million in 2004 over 2003, or 22.0 percent, as a result of lower participating mortgage loan (PML) fees. Other income increased $3.3 million in 2003 over 2002, or 15.6 percent, primarily due to higher PML fees of $1.0 million and $1.2 million of fees received from the sale of certain merchant credit card business. Participation mortgage loan fees are earned upon completion and repayment for certain real estate construction projects. In these cases, City National Bank advances funds and receives a share of the profits in return for this funding.

The gain (loss) on the sale or writedown of loans and assets was not significant in 2004 or 2003. In 2002, $5.1 million in losses related to the sale or writedown of loans classified as available-for-sale and $3.5 million in gains related to the sale of other assets.

Losses on the sale or writedown of securities available-for-sale totaled $5.8 million for 2004 primarily due to an $8.2 million writedown for other-than-temporary impairment on certain perpetual fixed-rate preferred securities in the fourth quarter. Gains on the sale of available-for-sale securities totaled $3.1 million in 2003 and $3.0 million in 2002.

Noninterest Expense

Noninterest expense was $395.4 million in 2004, an increase of $31.2 million, or 8.6 percent, from 2003. In 2003, it increased $32.6 million, or 9.8 percent, from 2002. Noninterest expense in 2004 grew primarily because of increases in staff, incentive compensation, the issuance of restricted stock awards to colleagues in 2004, relocation of colleagues to City National Plaza and expenses related to regulatory compliance requirements. In 2003, noninterest expense rose as a result of the acquisition of CCM, the issuance of restricted stock awards to colleagues in 2003 as well as the Company's expansion, primarily into New York and new California regional centers in Walnut Creek and Palo Alto. A breakdown of noninterest expense by category is reflected below.

Salaries and employee benefits expense increased 10.2 percent in 2004 compared with an 11.1 percent increase in 2003. On a full-time equivalent basis, staff levels have increased to 2,397 at December 31, 2004 from 2,348 at December 31, 2003 and 2,250 at December 31, 2002. As described in Note 1 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements and Critical Accounting Policies, the Company applies APB Opinion No. 25 in accounting for its stock options plans and, accordingly, no compensation cost for its stock options was recognized in the financial statements prior to 2003. However, in both 2003 and 2004, the Company's stock-based compensation performance awards included restricted stock grants. The Company recorded $3,445,007 in expense for restricted stock awards in 2004 compared to $905,170 in 2003.

The remaining expense categories increased $9.1 million, or 6.2 percent, between 2003 and 2004. Increases resulted from the Company's growth and expenses related to regulatory compliance requirements. The remaining expense categories increased $10.8 million, or 7.9 percent, between 2002 and 2003 as a result of the Company's growth, including expenses related to the acquisition of CCM, and to a lesser extent, the opening of the banking office in New York City.

Income Taxes

The effective tax rate for 2004 was 37.4 percent, compared with 36.6 percent for 2003 and 30.1 percent for 2002. The higher effective tax rate for 2004 is primarily due to the effect of relatively stable permanent adjustments as compared with an increase in pretax income. The higher rate for 2003 compared to 2002 also reflects changes in the mix of tax rates applicable to income before tax as well as the absence of certain tax benefits related to its two REITs recognized in 2002. In the fourth quarter of 2003, the Company reversed the net state tax benefits related to its REITs recorded in the first three quarters of the year and reflected no such benefits in the fourth quarter of 2003 or in 2004, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

On December 31, 2003, the California Franchise Tax Board (FTB) announced that it had taken the position that certain REIT and regulated investment company (RIC) tax deductions would be disallowed consistent with notices issued by the State of California that stipulate that the REIT and RIC are listed transactions under California tax-shelter legislation. The Company had created its two REITs (one of which was formed as a RIC in 2000) to raise capital for the Bank. While management believes that the tax benefits related to the two REITs realized in prior years were appropriate, the Company deemed it prudent to participate in the statutory Voluntary Compliance Initiative, Option 2, which required payment of all California taxes and interest on the disputed 2000 through 2002 tax benefits while permitting the Company to claim a refund for these years and avoid certain potential penalties. The Company retains potential exposure for assertion of an accuracy-related penalty should the FTB prevail in its position, in addition to the risk of not being successful in its refund claims for taxes and interest. The Company and its advisors continue to believe that the Company's position has merit and the Company will aggressively pursue its claims and defend its use of these entities and transactions. The Company continues to reflect a $36.4 million net state tax receivable, after giving effect to reserves for loss contingencies on the refund claims, or $23.7 million after the effect of Federal tax benefits.

The effective rates during all periods differed from the applicable statutory federal tax rate due to various factors, including state taxes, tax benefits from investments in affordable housing partnerships and tax-exempt income, including interest on bank-owned life insurance.

The Company's tax returns are open for audits by the Internal Revenue Service back to 1998 and by the Franchise Tax Board of the State of California back to 1996. From time to time, there may be differences in opinions with respect to the tax treatment accorded transactions. When, and if, such differences occur and the related tax effects become probable and estimable, such amounts will be recognized.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

Market risk results from the variability of future cash flows and earnings due to changes in the financial markets. These changes may also impact the fair values of loans, securities and borrowings. The values of financial instruments may change because of interest rate changes, foreign currency exchange rate changes or other market changes. The Company's asset/liability management process entails the evaluation, measurement and management of interest rate risk, market risk and liquidity risk. The principal objective of asset/liability management is to optimize net interest income subject to margin volatility and liquidity constraints over the long term. Margin volatility results when the rate reset (or repricing) characteristics of assets are materially different from those of the Company's liabilities. The Board of Directors approves asset/liability policies and sets limits within which the risks must be managed. The Asset/Liability Management Committee (ALCO), which is comprised of senior management and key risk management individuals, sets risk management guidelines within the broader limits approved by the Board, monitors the risks and periodically reports results to the Board.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk results from the mismatching of asset and liability cash flows. Funds for this purpose can be obtained in cash markets, by borrowing, or by selling assets. The objective of liquidity management is to manage cash flow and liquidity reserves so that they are adequate to fund the Company's operations and meet obligations and other commitments on a timely and cost effective basis. The Company achieves this objective through the selection of asset and liability maturity mixes that it believes best meet its needs. The Company's liquidity position is enhanced by its ability to raise additional funds as needed in the money markets.

In recent years, the Company's core deposit base has provided the majority of the Company's funding requirements. This relatively stable and low-cost source of funds has, along with shareholders' equity, provided 87 percent and 84 percent of funding for average total assets in 2004 and 2003, respectively.

A significant portion of remaining funding of average total assets is provided by short-term federal fund purchases and, to a lesser extent, sales of securities under repurchase agreements. These funding sources, on average, totaled $119.3 million and $147.9 million in 2004 and 2003, respectively. Additionally, the Company reduced its funding from other borrowings to $571.8 million on average in 2004 from $645.6 million in 2003 by paying off Federal Home Loan Bank advances.

Liquidity is also provided by assets such as federal funds sold and trading account securities, which may be immediately converted to cash at minimal cost. The aggregate of these assets averaged $496.5 million during 2004 compared with $418.7 million in 2003. Liquidity is also provided by the portfolio of securities available-for-sale, which totaled $4,114.3 million and $3,365.7 million at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. The unpledged portion of securities available-for-sale at December 31, 2004 totaled $3,733.7 million and could be sold or made available as collateral for borrowing. Maturing loans provide additional liquidity, and $2,700.9 million, or 31.8 percent, of the Company's loans are scheduled to mature in 2005.

Interest-Rate Risk

Interest rate risk is inherent in financial services. Interest rate risk results from assets and liabilities maturing or repricing at different times; assets and liabilities repricing at the same time but at different amounts or from short-term and long-term interest rates changing by different amounts (changes in the yield curve).

The Company has established two primary measurement processes to quantify and manage exposure to interest rate risk: net interest income simulation modeling and present value of equity analysis. Net interest income simulations are used to identify the direction and severity of interest rate risk exposure across a 12 and 24 month forecast horizon. Present value of equity calculations are used to estimate the price sensitivity of shareholders' equity to changes in interest rates. The Company also uses gap analysis to provide insight into structural mismatches of asset and liability cash flows.

Net Interest Income Simulation: The Company is asset-sensitive due to its large portfolio of rate-sensitive commercial loans that are funded in part by rate-stable core deposits. As a result, the net interest margin increases when interest rates increase and decreases when interest rates decrease. The Company uses a simulation model to estimate the severity of this risk and to develop mitigation strategies. The magnitude of the change is determined from historical volatility analysis. The assumptions used in the model are updated periodically and reviewed and approved by the Asset/Liability Management Committee (ALCO). In addition, the Board of Directors has adopted limits within which interest rate exposure must be contained. Within these broader limits, ALCO sets management guidelines to further contain interest rate risk exposure.

During 2004 the Company maintained an asset-sensitive interest rate position. Based on the balance sheet at December 31, 2004, the simulation model indicates that net interest income would not be adversely impacted by a 100 basis point rise in interest rates. Assuming a static balance sheet, a gradual 100-basis-point decline in interest rates over a 12-month horizon would cause net interest income to decline approximately 2.4 percent. This is comparable to the 3.2 percent decline projected at December 31, 2003. (Note: Where a 100-basis-point decline would cause some rates to be negative in the 2003 simulation, we assumed that rates would fall only to zero). A gradual 100-basis-point increase in interest rates over the next 12 months would result in a projected increase in net interest income of approximately 1.6 percent compared to 2.5 percent projected a year earlier. The Company's interest-rate-risk exposure remains within Board of Directors' ALCO guidelines.

Market Value of Portfolio Equity: The market value of portfolio equity ( MVPE ) model is used to evaluate the vulnerability of the market value of shareholders' equity to changes in interest rates. The MVPE model calculates the expected cash flow of all of the Company's assets and liabilities under sharply higher and lower interest rate scenarios. The present value of these cash flows is calculated by discounting them using the interest rates for that scenario. The difference between the present value of assets and the present value of liabilities in each scenario is the MVPE. The assumptions about the timing of cash flows, level of interest rates and shape of the yield curve are the same as those used in the net interest income simulation. They are updated periodically and are reviewed by ALCO at least annually.

The MVPE model indicates that MVPE is somewhat vulnerable to a sudden and substantial increase in interest rates. As of December 31, 2004, a 200 basis point increase in interest rates results in a 6.4 percent decline in MVPE. This compares to a 7.0 percent decline a year earlier. The lower sensitivity is due to strategic changes in the investment portfolio to limit extension risk. A 200 basis point decrease in rates would improve MVPE 3.4 percent. A year earlier, the MVPE would improve only slightly as rates decreased due to their very low starting level.

Gap Analysis: The gap analysis is based on the contractual cash flows of all asset and liability balances on the Company's books. The contractual life of these balances may differ substantially from their expected lives however. For example, checking accounts are subject to immediate withdrawal. Experience suggests that these accounts will have an average life of several years. Also, certain loans (such as first mortgages) are subject to prepayment. The gap analysis reflects the contractual cash flows adjusted for anticipated client behavior. It may be used to identify periods in which there is a substantial mismatch between asset and liability cash flows. These mismatches can be moderated by investments or interest rate derivatives. Gap analysis is used to support both interest rate risk and liquidity risk management.

The following table presents in tabular form information about the Company's financial instruments that are sensitive to changes in interest rates. The table presents principal cash flows and related average interest rates by expected maturity or repricing date, whichever is sooner, and fair values as of December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003. Expected repricing or maturities of assets are contractual. Interest-bearing demand and savings deposits are included in the earliest maturity category, although withdrawal of these balances is not contractually required and may not actually occur during that period. Average interest rates on variable rate instruments are based upon the Company's interest rate forecast. Actual repricing or maturities of interest-sensitive assets and liabilities could vary substantially from expectations if different assumptions are used or if actual experience differs from the assumptions used.

Interest rate swaps are used to reduce cash flow variability and to moderate changes in the fair value of long-term financial instruments. Net interest rate swap accruals (the difference between the fixed and floating rates paid or received) are included in net interest income in the reporting periods in which they are earned.

Interest-rate swap transactions involve dealing with counterparties and the risk that they may not meet their contractual obligations. Counterparties must receive appropriate credit approval before the Company enters into an interest rate contract. Notional principal amounts express the volume of these transactions, although the amounts subject to credit and market risk are much smaller. At December 31, 2004, the Company's interest-rate swaps were entered into as a hedge of the variability in interest cash flows generated from LIBOR based loans due to fluctuations in the LIBOR index or to convert fixed-rate deposits and borrowings into floating rate liabilities. In accordance with SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivatives and Hedging Activities as amended, all derivatives are recorded on the balance sheet at their fair value. The treatment of changes in the fair value of derivatives depends on the character of the transaction.

As of December 31, 2004, the Company had $1,265.9 million notional amount of interest rate swaps, of which $540.9 million were fair value hedges and $725.0 million were cash flow hedges. The positive mark-to-market on the fair value hedges resulted in the recognition of other assets and an increase in hedged deposits and borrowings of $26.4 million. The negative mark-to-market on the cash flow hedges of variable-rate loans resulted in the recognition of other assets and a comprehensive loss of $2.0 million, before taxes of $0.8 million.

Amounts to be paid or received on the cash-flow-hedge interest-rate swaps will be reclassified into earnings upon receipt of interest payments on the underlying hedged loans, including amounts totaling $8.2 million that were reclassified into net interest income during 2004. Comprehensive income expected to be reclassified into net interest income within the next 12 months is $0.5 million.

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had $1,100.9 million notional amount of interest rate swaps, of which $600.9 million were fair value hedges and $500.0 million were cash flow hedges. The positive mark-to-market on the fair value hedges resulted in the recognition of other assets and an increase in hedged deposits and borrowings of $34.9 million. The positive mark-to-market on the cash flow hedges of variable rate loans resulted in the recognition of other assets and comprehensive income of $7.2 million, before taxes of $3.0 million.

The Company has not entered into transactions involving any other interest rate derivative instruments, such as interest-rate floors, caps, and interest-rate futures contracts. The Company could consider using such financial instruments in the future if they offered a significant financial advantage over interest-rate swaps.

The table below shows the notional amounts of the Company's interest-rate swap maturities and average rates at December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003. Average interest rates on variable-rate instruments are based upon the Company's interest-rate forecast.

Market Risk-Foreign Currency Exchange

The Company enters into foreign-exchange contracts with its clients and counterparty banks primarily for the purpose of offsetting or hedging clients' transaction and economic exposures arising out of commercial transactions. The Company's policies also permit proprietary currency positioning within certain approved limits. The Company actively manages its foreign exchange exposures within prescribed risk limits and controls. At December 31, 2004, the Company's outstanding foreign exchange contracts for both those purchased as well as sold totaled $63.6 million. All foreign exchange contracts outstanding at December 31, 2004 had remaining maturities of 12 months or less and the mark-to-market included in other assets totaled $0.2 million.

BALANCE SHEET ANALYSIS*Securities

At December 31, 2004, the securities available-for-sale portfolio had a net unrealized loss of $0.3 million, comprised of $27.1 million of unrealized gains and $27.4 million of unrealized losses. At December 31, 2003, the securities available-for-sale portfolio had a net unrealized gain of $15.0 million, comprised of $39.2 million of unrealized gains and $24.2 million of unrealized losses. The unrealized gain or loss on securities available-for-sale is reported on an after-tax basis as a valuation allowance that is a component of other comprehensive income.

The increase was due to deposit growth exceeding increased loan demand. The average duration of total available-for-sale securities at December 31, 2004 was 3.0 years compared with 3.4 years at December 31, 2003.

The following table provides the expected remaining maturities and yields (fully taxable-equivalent basis) of debt securities included in the securities portfolio at December 31, 2004. The principal balances for mortgage-backed securities were allocated according to final maturities. Final maturities will differ from contractual maturities because mortgage debt issuers may have the right to repay obligations prior to contractual maturity. To compare the tax-exempt asset yields to taxable yields, amounts are adjusted to pre-tax equivalents based on the marginal corporate federal tax rate of 35 percent.

Loan Portfolio

Total loans were $8,494.2 million, $7,882.7 million, and $7,999.5 million at December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. Total loans increased $611.5 million during 2004 due to improving loan demand near year end. Residential mortgage loans grew $310.8 million, construction loans increased $209.8 million and commercial real estate mortgages grew $79.3 million. Commercial loans decreased $64.1 million, reflecting, in part, the Company's discontinued servicing of the dairy industry which resulted in a decline of $143.8 million in loans.

Total loans decreased $116.7 million during 2003 due to modest commercial loan demand. Residential mortgage loans grew $199.1 million and real estate mortgages grew $47.6 million. Commercial loans decreased $386.6 million and construction loans decreased $3.3 million.

The following table shows the Company's consolidated loans by type of loan and their percentage distribution:

The Company's loan portfolio consists primarily of loans for business and real estate purposes. Loans are generally made on the basis of a cash-flow repayment source as the first priority with collateral generally being a secondary source for loan qualification. Although the legal lending limit for any one borrowing relationship was $228.8 million at December 31, 2004, the Bank has established house limits for individual borrowings. These limits vary by risk rating. At December 31, 2004, there were 42 relationships with commitments greater than $30.0 million. Of the 42 relationships, 15 had outstanding balances greater than $30.0 million, of which the largest was a $88.5 million relationship with an investment-grade borrower who is involved in the aircraft leasing business.

At December 31, 2004, the Company's loan portfolio included approximately $993.7 million in credits to borrowers in Northern California.

Commercial

Commercial loans were $3,158.4 million at December 31, 2004, representing 37.2 percent of the loan portfolio compared with $3,222.4 million, or 40.9 percent of the loan portfolio, at December 31, 2003. The average outstanding individual note balance in the commercial loan portfolio at December 31, 2004 was $429,000. See also Results of Operations Net Interest Income.

(1) Legal, membership organizations, engineering and management services, etc.

(2) The Company discontinued servicing this industry and will no longer report these balance separately going forward.

(3) Loans in this category consist of five single-asset borrowers, all related to one company. These loans are partially or fully supported by either payment guarantees or asset-value support and remarketing agreements from an investment-grade company. This investment-grade company also has a $20.5 million unsecured loan included in this category. As of December 31, 2004, all of the loans are current. Not included in this category are loans to other companies serving the airline industry or loans to individuals or companies to purchase non-commercial aircraft where repayment is primarily predicated on the strength of the borrower and/or guarantor.

Residential Mortgage

Residential mortgage loans which comprised 26.5 percent of total loans at December 31, 2004 and are made primarily to existing clients, continued a 10-year growth trend, increasing $310.8 million, or 16.0 percent, to $2,248.7 million at December 31, 2004. At December 31, 2004, 99.6 percent of the portfolio was originated internally, and the balance was purchased from third parties. The residential first mortgage loans originated internally have a weighted average loan-to-value ratio of 56.0 percent at origination. There were essentially no residential mortgage loans on nonaccrual status as of December 31, 2004. The average outstanding individual note balance at December 31, 2004 was approximately $701,000.

Commercial Real Estate Mortgage

Commercial real estate mortgages, representing 22.3 percent of the loan portfolio, was comprised of 90.8 percent commercial and 9.2 percent residential (1-4 family including undeveloped land and multi-family condominium/apartment loans) loans. The average outstanding individual note balance at December 31, 2004 was approximately $1,286,000. A breakdown of real estate mortgage loans by collateral type follows:

The Company's policy is to monitor each loan with respect to incurred costs, sales price, and sales cycle. The average outstanding individual note balance at December 31, 2004 was approximately $3,473,000. Following is a breakdown of real estate construction loans by collateral type:

The average outstanding individual note balance at December 31, 2004 was approximately $157,000.

Installment

Installment loans consist primarily of loans to individuals for personal purchases. There were $785,000 in nonaccrual installment loans, or 0.9 percent of outstandings at December 31, 2004. The average outstanding individual note balance at December 31, 2004 was approximately $40,000.

The Company's lending activities are predominantly in California and, to a lesser extent, New York although it has some loans to domestic clients who are engaged in international trade or film productions. Concentrations of credit risk arise when a number of clients are engaged in similar business activities, or activities in the same geographic region, or have similar economic features that would cause their ability to meet contractual obligations to be similarly affected by changes in economic conditions. Although the Company has a diversified loan portfolio, a substantial portion of the loan portfolio and credit performance depends on the economic stability of Southern California. Credit performance also depends, to a lesser extent, on economic conditions in the San Francisco Bay Area and New York.

Inherent in any loan portfolio are risks associated with certain types of loans. The Company assesses and manages credit risk on an ongoing basis through diversification guidelines, lending limits, credit review and approval policies, and internal monitoring. As part of the control process, an independent credit risk review department regularly examines the Company's loan portfolio and other credit related products, including unused commitments and letters of credit. In addition to this internal credit process, the Company's loan portfolio is subject to examination by external regulators in the normal course of business. Credit quality is influenced by underlying trends in the economic and business cycle. The Company also seeks to manage and control its risk through diversification of the portfolio by type of loan, industry concentration, and type of borrower as well as specific maximum loan-to-value (LTV) limitations at origination as to various categories of real estate related loans other than residential first mortgage loans. These ratios are as follows:

Maximum LTV Ratios

Category of Real Estate Collateral	Maximum LTV Ratio
1-4 family (includes undeveloped land)	80 %
Condominiums/apartments	80
Equity lines of credit	80
Industrial	80
Shopping centers	80
Churches/religious	75
Office building	75
Other improved property	70
Acquisition and development	60
Land, nonresidential	50

The Company's loan policy provides that any term loan on income-producing properties must have a minimum debt service coverage at origination of at least 1.20 to 1 for non-owner occupied property and at least 1.05 to 1 for owner occupied property. Any exception to these guidelines requires approval at higher levels of authority based on the type of exception. Exceptions are reviewed by the Credit Policy Committee of the Bank.

One of the significant risks associated with real estate lending involves environmental hazards on or in property affiliated with the loan. The Company mitigates such risks through an evaluation performed by the Bank's Environmental Risk Management Unit for all loans secured by real estate. A Phase I environmental report may be required if the evaluation determines it appropriate. Other reasons would include the industrial use of environmentally sensitive substances or the proximity to other known environmental problems. A Phase II report is required in certain cases, depending on the outcome of the Phase I report.

At December 31, 2004, 80.1 percent of outstanding commercial loans and 52.7 percent of real estate loans, including residential mortgages, were floating interest rate loans, including hybrids (which convert from fixed to floating rates). There were no floating rate installment loans as of December 31, 2004. Floating rate loans comprised 62.3 percent of the total loan portfolio at December 31, 2004 compared to 63.0 percent at December 31, 2003. Of the total loans at December 31, 2004, 31.8 percent was due in one year or less, 15.0 percent was due in one to five years, and 53.2 percent was due after five years.

The loan maturities shown in the table below are based on contractual maturities. As is customary in the banking industry, loans that meet sound underwriting criteria can be renewed by mutual agreement between the Company and the borrower. Because the Company is unable to estimate the extent to which its borrowers will renew their loans, the table is based on contractual maturities.

Asset Quality

Allowance for Loan Losses and Reserve for Off-Balance Sheet Credit Commitments

A consequence of lending activities is that losses may be experienced. The amount of such losses will vary from time to time depending upon the risk characteristics of the loan portfolio as affected by economic conditions, rising interest rates, and the financial performance of borrowers. The allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments which provide for the risk of losses inherent in the credit extension process, are increased by the provision for credit losses charged to operating expense and allowances acquired through acquisitions. The allowance for loan losses is decreased by the amount of charge-offs, net of recoveries. There is no exact method of predicting specific losses or amounts that ultimately may be charged off on particular segments of the loan portfolio.

The Company has an internal risk analysis and review staff that issues reports to the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors and continually reviews loan quality. This analysis includes a detailed review of the classification and categorization of problem, potential problem loans and loans to be charged off, an assessment of the overall quality and collectibility of the portfolio, consideration of the credit loss experience, trends in problem loans and concentration of credit risk, as well as current economic conditions, particularly in California. Management then evaluates the allowance, determines its desired level, determines appropriate provisions, and reviews the results with the Audit Committee which approves management's recommendation.

The allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments are significant estimates that can and do change based on management's process in analyzing the loan and commitment portfolios, management's assumptions about specific borrowers and the impact on the portfolio of applicable economic and environmental conditions, among other factors. The Company's methodology for determining the allowance for loan losses establishes both a specific and a general component. The specific component of the allowance for commercial and real estate loans is based principally on current loan grades and historical loan loss experience adjusted to reflect current conditions, as well as analyses of other factors that may have affected the collectibility of loans in the portfolio. The specific component of the allowance for residential mortgage, equity lines of credit and installment loans is based principally on loan payment status and historical loss rates adjusted to reflect current conditions. The general component of the allowance for loan losses represents the results of analyses that estimate probable losses inherent in the total portfolio that are not fully captured in the specific allowance analyses. These analyses include industry concentrations, current economic factors, trends in the portfolio and the estimated impact of current economic conditions on certain historical loss rates used. In assessing the estimated impact of current economic conditions on certain historical loss rates, management continuously monitors trends in loan portfolio qualitative factors, including loan growth, past due loans, criticized loans and nonperforming loans. Based on known information available to it at the date of this report, management believes that the Company's allowance for loan losses and reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments were adequate to cover credit losses inherent in the loan portfolio at December 31, 2004. Examinations of the loan portfolio are also conducted periodically by the Company's regulators.

Based on expected loan growth, the levels of nonperforming loans and net charge-offs, it is anticipated that the allowance for loan losses and reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments will require additional provisions for credit losses in 2005, but not necessarily equal to the amount of net charge-offs. Credit quality will be influenced by underlying trends in the economic cycle, particularly in California, and other factors which are beyond management's control. Consequently, no assurances can be given that the Company will not sustain loan losses, in any particular period, that are sizable in relation to the allowance for loan losses. Additionally, subsequent evaluation of the loan and commitment portfolios by the Company and its regulators, in light of factors then prevailing, may warrant an adjustment to the amount of the projected provision. See Provision for Credit Losses.

As of September 30, 2004, the Company reclassified the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments from the allowance for loan losses to other liabilities. Amounts presented prior to September 30, 2004 have been restated to conform with the current reporting period.

Edgar Filing: CITY NATIONAL CORP - Form 10-K

The allowance for loan losses as a percentage of total loans was 1.75 percent, 1.98 percent, and 1.96 percent at December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. The allowance for loan losses as a percentage of non-performing loans was 428.9 percent, 369.1 percent, and 217.4 percent at December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. See Nonaccrual, Past Due, and Restructured Loans.

Based on an evaluation of individual credits, previous loan loss experience, management's evaluation of the current loan portfolio, and current economic conditions, management has allocated the allowance for loan losses as shown for the past five years in the table below.

(1) For the purpose of this presentation, the unallocated portion of the allowance for loan losses of $57,316, $60,027, $51,092, $52,196 and $48,289 for 2004, 2003, 2002, 2001, and 2000, respectively, has been assigned to loan categories based on the relative specific and general allocation amounts.

While the allowance is allocated to portfolios, the allowance is general in nature and is available for the portfolio in its entirety. Increased allocations to real estate mortgages, residential first mortgages and real estate construction in 2004 reflect the growth of the portfolios. In 2004 and 2003, a decrease in problem commercial loans, which in 2003 include media and telecommunications loans, resulted in the decreased allocation to this category.

At December 31, 2004, there were $33.0 million of impaired loans included in nonaccrual loans that had an allowance of $9.0 million allocated to them. On a comparable basis, at December 31, 2003, there were $40.7 million of impaired loans which had an allowance of $5.0 million allocated to them.

Loans, other than those included in large groups of smaller-balance homogeneous loans, are considered impaired when, based on current information and events, it is probable that the Company will be unable to collect all amounts due according to the contractual terms of the loan agreement, including scheduled interest payments. The assessment for impairment occurs when and while such loans are on nonaccrual, or the loan has been restructured. When a loan with unique risk characteristics has been identified as being impaired, the amount of impairment will be measured by the Company using discounted cash flows, except when it is determined that the primary (remaining) source of repayment for the loan is the operation or liquidation of the underlying collateral. In such cases, the current fair value of the collateral, reduced by costs to sell, will be used in place of discounted cash flows. As a final alternative, the observable market price of the debt may be used to assess impairment. Some impaired loans with commitments of less than $500,000 are aggregated for the purpose of measuring impairment using historical loss factors as a means of measurement.

If the measurement of the impaired loan is less than the recorded investment in the loan (including accrued interest, net deferred loan fees or costs and unamortized premium or discount), an impairment allowance is recognized by creating or adjusting an existing allocation of the allowance for loan losses. The Company's policy is to record cash receipts on impaired loans first as reductions in principal and then as interest income.

Nonaccrual, Past Due, and Restructured Loans

Total nonperforming assets (nonaccrual loans and ORE) were $34.6 million, or 0.41 percent of total loans and ORE at December 31, 2004, compared with $42.3 million, or 0.54 percent, at December 31, 2003. The decrease was primarily due to the Company's continued effort to improve credit quality.

The following table presents information concerning nonaccrual loans, ORE, loans which are contractually past due 90 days or more as to interest or principal payments and still accruing, and restructured loans:

Company policy requires that a loan be placed on nonaccrual status if either principal or interest payments are 90 days past due, unless the loan is both well secured and in process of collection, or if full collection of interest or principal becomes uncertain, regardless of the time period involved.

At December 31, 2004, in addition to loans disclosed above as past due, nonaccrual or restructured, management also identified $6.9 million of loans to 12 borrowers, where the ability to comply with the present loan payment terms in the future is questionable. However, the inability of the borrowers to comply with repayment terms was not sufficiently probable to place the loan on nonaccrual status at December 31, 2004. This amount was determined based on analysis of information known to management about the borrowers' financial condition and current economic conditions. Management's classification of credits as nonaccrual, restructured or problems does not necessarily indicate that the principal is uncollectable in whole or part.

The table below summarizes the approximate changes in nonaccrual loans for the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2003.

Changes in Nonaccrual Loans

Dollars in thousands	2004	2003
Balance, beginning of the year	$ 42,273	$ 71,357
Loans placed on nonaccrual	84,882	103,850
Charge-offs	(25,326 )	(30,100 )
Loans returned to accrual status	(15,221 )	(3,016 )
Repayments (including interest applied to principal) and sales	(51,970 )	(99,818 )
Balance, end of year	$ 34,638	$ 42,273

The additional interest income that would have been recorded from nonaccrual loans, if the loans had not been on nonaccrual status was $4.8 million, $7.5 million, and $3.0 million for the years ended December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. Interest payments received on nonaccrual loans are applied to principal unless there is no doubt as to ultimate full repayment of principal, in which case the interest payments are recognized as interest income. Interest collected on nonaccrual loans and applied to principal was $2.6 million, $3.2 million, and $2.6 million for the years ended December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. Interest income not recognized on nonaccrual loans reduced the net interest margin by 4, 7, and 3 basis points for the years ended December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively.

Other Real Estate (ORE)

Other real estate is comprised of real estate acquired in satisfaction of loans. The Company had no ORE at December 31, 2004 or 2003. The Company's policy is to record these properties at estimated fair value, net of selling expenses, at the time they are transferred into ORE, thereby tying future gains or losses from sale or potential additional write-downs to underlying changes in the market.

Off Balance Sheet

In the normal course of business, the Company is a party to financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk. These financial instruments include commitments to extend credit, letters of credit, and financial guarantees. These instruments involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit and interest rate risk in excess of the amount reflected in the consolidated balance sheet. Commitments to extend credit are agreements to lend to a client as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. Since a portion of the commitments are expected to expire without being drawn upon, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements. The Company evaluates each client's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis.

The Company had off-balance sheet loan commitments aggregating $3,818.7 million at December 31, 2004, an increase from $3,687.3 million at December 31, 2003. In addition, the Company had $432.1 million outstanding in bankers' acceptances and letters of credit of which $406.7 million relate to standby letters of credit at December 31, 2004. At December 31, 2003, bankers' acceptances and letters of credit were $414.1 million of which $368.0 million related to standby letters of credit. Substantially all of the Company's loan commitments are on a variable-rate basis and are comprised of real estate and commercial loan commitments.

The Company has various contractual obligations that are recorded as liabilities in our consolidated financial statements. Other items, such as certain lease and purchase commitments, are only required to be disclosed. The following table summarizes our significant contractual obligations and commercial commitments at December 31, 2004 and the future periods in which such obligations are expected to be settled in cash. The table also reflects the timing of principal payments in outstanding borrowings. Additional details regarding these obligations are provided in the footnotes to the financial statements, as referenced in the table.

Deposits and Borrowed Funds

Core deposits, which include noninterest-bearing deposits and interest-bearing deposits excluding time deposits of $100,000 and over, provide a stable source of low cost funding. Average core deposits were $10,425.5 million in 2004 compared with $9,042.3 million in 2003. The increase was due primarily to internally generated growth.

Certificates of deposit of $100,000 or more totaled $932.9 million at December 31, 2004, of which $562.6 million mature within three months, $212.3 million mature within four to six months, $83.4 million mature within seven months to one year and $74.6 million mature beyond one year.

At December 31, 2004 and 2003, the aggregate amount of deposits by foreign depositors in domestic offices totaled $47.0 million and $61.3 million, respectively, the majority of which was interest-bearing. Brokered deposits were $90.0 million and $150.0 million, at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

Short and long-term borrowed funds provided additional funding, albeit at a higher cost, to support loan and securities growth. Average borrowed funds were $166.0 million in 2004 compared with $793.5 million in 2003. Borrowed funds declined as deposits increased.

Capital

At December 31, 2004, the Corporation's and the Bank's Tier 1 capital, which is comprised of common shareholders' equity as modified by certain regulatory adjustments, amounted to $1,079.6 million and $1,147.1 million, respectively. At December 31, 2003, the Corporation's and the Bank's Tier 1 capital amounted to $930.9 million and $986.7 million, respectively. The increase from December 31, 2003 resulted from 2004 earnings and the exercise of stock options, offset by dividends paid and amounts related to shares repurchased. See Overview.

The following table presents the regulatory standards for well capitalized institutions and the capital ratios for the Corporation and the Bank at December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT FOR PURPOSES OF THE SAFE HARBOR PROVISIONS OF THE PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995

We have made forward-looking statements in this document that are subject to risks and uncertainties. These statements are based on the beliefs and assumptions of our management, and on information currently available to our management. Forward-looking statements include the information concerning our possible or assumed future results of operations, and statements preceded by, followed by, or that include the words will, believes, expects, anticipates, intends, plans, estimates, or similar expressions.

Our management believes these forward-looking statements are reasonable. However, you should not place undue reliance on the forward-looking statements, since they are based on current expectations. Actual results may differ materially from those currently expected or anticipated.

Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of performance. They involve risks, uncertainties, and assumptions. Our future results and shareholder values may differ materially from those expressed in these forward-looking statements. Many of the factors described below that will determine these results and values are beyond our ability to control or predict. For those statements, we claim the protection of the safe harbor contained in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made and the Company does not undertake to update forward-looking statements to reflect circumstances or events that occur as of the date the statements are made or to update earnings guidance including the factors that influence earnings.

A number of factors, some of which are beyond the Corporation's ability to control or predict, could cause future results to differ materially from those contemplated by such forward-looking statements. These factors, which include (1) the unknown economic impact caused by the State of California's budget issues, (2) earthquake or other natural disasters impacting the condition of real estate collateral, (3) the effect of acquisitions and integration of acquired businesses, could have the following consequences, any of which could hurt our business:

- Loan delinquencies may increase;
- Problem assets and foreclosures may increase;
- Demand for our products and services may decline; and
- Collateral for loans made by us, especially real estate, may decline in value, in turn reducing clients' borrowing power, and reducing the value of assets and collateral associated with our existing loans.

Changes in interest rates affect our profitability. We derive our income mainly from the difference or spread between the interest earned on loans, securities, and other interest-earning assets, and interest paid on deposits, borrowings, and other interest-bearing liabilities. In general, the wider the spread, the more we earn. When market rates of interest change, the interest we receive on our assets and the interest we pay on our liabilities fluctuates. This causes increases or decreases in our spread and affects our net interest income. In addition, interest rates affect how much money we lend.

Significant changes in the provision or applications of regulatory, judicial or legislative tax treatment of business transactions affecting our business and the risk management costs of complying with Sarbanes-Oxley 404, Anti-Money Laundering, and USA Patriot Act requirements could materially affect our business. The banking industry is subject to extensive federal and state regulations, and significant new laws or changes in, or repeals of, existing laws may cause results to differ materially. Also, federal monetary policy, particularly as implemented through the Federal Reserve System, significantly affects our credit conditions, primarily through open market operations in U.S. government securities, the discount rate for member bank borrowing, and bank reserve requirements. A material change in these conditions would affect our results. Parts of our business are also subject to federal and state securities laws and regulations. Significant changes in these laws and regulations would also affect our business.

We face strong competition from financial service companies and other companies that offer banking services which can adversely impact our business. Increased competition in our market may result in reduced loans and deposits. Ultimately, we may not be able to compete successfully against current and future competitors. Many competitors offer the banking services that we offer in our service area. These competitors include national, regional, and community banks. We also face competition from many other types of financial institutions, including, without limitation, savings and loans, finance companies, brokerage firms, insurance companies, credit unions, mortgage banks, and other financial intermediaries. Recently passed legislation will make it easier for other types of financial institutions to compete with us.

Our results would be adversely affected if we suffered higher than expected losses on our loans due to real estate cycles or other economic events. We assume risk from the possibility that we will suffer losses because borrowers, guarantors, and related parties fail to perform under the terms of their loans. We try to minimize this risk by adopting and implementing what we believe are effective underwriting and credit policies and procedures, including how we establish and review the allowance for credit losses. We assess the likelihood of nonperformance, track loan performance, and diversify our credit portfolio. Those policies and procedures may still not prevent unexpected losses that could adversely affect our results.

MANAGEMENT'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company's internal control over financial reporting is designed by, or under the supervision of the Company's principal executive and principal financial officers and effected by the Company's Board of Directors, management and other personnel, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. All internal control systems, no matter how well designed, have inherent limitations. The Company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that:

- (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company;
- (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the Company; and
- (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

The Company's management assessed the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2004. In making this assessment, the Company's management used the criteria set forth by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO) in Internal Control-Integrated Framework.

Based on our assessment and the COSO criteria, management believes that, as of December 31, 2004, the Company's internal control over financial reporting is effective at the reasonable assurance level.

The Company's independent auditors, KPMG LLP, have issued an attestation report on management's assessment of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. That report appears on page A-40.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

The Board of Directors and Shareholders of
City National Corporation:

We have audited management's assessment, included in the accompanying Management's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting that City National Corporation (the Corporation) maintained effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2004, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). The Corporation's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on management's assessment and an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, evaluating management's assessment, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control, and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, management's assessment that City National Corporation maintained effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2004, is fairly stated, in all material respects, based on the COSO criteria. Also, in our opinion, City National Corporation maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2004, based on the COSO criteria.

CITY NATIONAL CORPORATION
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements of the Corporation include the accounts of the Corporation, its non-bank subsidiaries, the Bank, and the Bank's wholly-owned subsidiaries after elimination of all material inter-company transactions. Preferred stock and equity ownership of others is reflected as minority interest in consolidated subsidiaries. Certain prior years' data have been restated to conform to the current year presentation.

The Corporation is on the accrual basis of accounting for income and expenses. In accordance with the usual practice of banks, assets and liabilities of individual trust, agency and fiduciary funds have not been included in the financial statements.

Securities

All securities other than trading securities are classified as available-for-sale and are valued at fair value. Trading securities are valued at market value with any unrealized gains or losses included in net income. Unrealized gains or losses on securities available-for-sale are excluded from net income but are included in comprehensive income net of taxes. Premiums or discounts on securities available-for-sale are amortized or accreted into income using the interest method. The value of securities is reduced when the declines are considered other than temporary and a new cost basis is established for the securities. The estimated loss is included in net income. Realized gains or losses on sales of securities available-for-sale are recorded using the specific identification method.

Investment fee revenue consists of fees, commissions, and markups on securities transactions with clients and money market mutual fund fees.

Loans

Loans are generally carried at principal amounts less net deferred loan fees. Net deferred loan fees include deferred unamortized fees less direct incremental loan origination costs. Interest income is accrued as earned. Net deferred fees are accreted into interest income using the interest method over the estimated life of the loan.

Loans are placed on nonaccrual status when they become 90 days past due as to interest or principal unless the loan is both well secured and in process of collection. Loans are also placed on nonaccrual status when the full collection of interest or principal becomes uncertain. When a loan is placed on nonaccrual status, the accrued and unpaid interest receivable is reversed and the accretion of deferred loan fees ceases. Thereafter, interest collected on the loan is accounted for on the cash collection or cost recovery method until qualifying for return to accrual status. Generally, a loan may be returned to accrual status when all delinquent principal and interest are brought current in accordance with the terms of the loan agreement and certain ongoing performance criteria have been met.

The Corporation considers a loan to be impaired when it is probable that it will be unable to collect all amounts due according to the contractual terms of the loan agreement. Once a loan is determined to be impaired, the impairment is measured based on the present value of the expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's effective interest rate, except that as a practical expedient, the impairment is measured by using the fair value of the loan's collateral if the loan is collateral dependent. As a final alternative, the observable market price of the debt may be used to assess impairment. Impairment on loans less than $500,000 is measured using historical loss factors, which approximates the discounted cash flows method.

When the measurement of the impaired loan is less than the recorded amount of the loan, an impairment is recognized by creating a valuation allowance with a corresponding charge to the allowance for credit losses or by adjusting an existing valuation allowance for the impaired loan.

The Corporation's policy is to record cash receipts received on impaired loans first as reductions to principal and then to interest income.

Provision for Credit Losses

The provision for credit losses charged to operations reflects management's judgment of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments. It is determined through quarterly analytical reviews of the loan portfolio, problem loans and consideration of such other factors as the Company's loan loss experience, trends in problem loans, concentrations of credit risk, underlying collateral values and current economic conditions, as well as the results of the Company's ongoing credit examination process and that of its regulators.

Venture Capital Investments

Venture capital investments are carried at the lower of cost or market and are included in other assets.

Premises and Equipment

Bank premises and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation is generally computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of each type of asset. Gains and losses on dispositions are reflected in current operations. Maintenance and repairs are charged to operating expenses.

Other Real Estate (ORE)

Other real estate is comprised of real estate acquired in satisfaction of loans. Properties acquired by foreclosure or deed in lieu of foreclosure are transferred to ORE and are recorded at fair value less estimated costs to sell, at the date of transfer of the property. The fair value of the ORE property is based upon a current appraisal. Losses that result from the ongoing periodic valuation of these properties are charged against ORE expense in the period in which they are identified. Expenses for holding costs are charged to operations as incurred.

Income Taxes

The Corporation files a consolidated federal income tax return and a combined state income tax return. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the expected future tax consequences of existing differences between the financial reporting and tax reporting basis of assets and liabilities, as well as for operating losses and tax credit carry forwards, using enacted tax laws and rates. Deferred tax assets will be reduced through a valuation allowance whenever it becomes more likely than not that all, or some portion of the deferred tax asset, will not be realized. Deferred income taxes (benefit) represents the net change in the deferred tax asset or liability balance during the year. This amount, together with income taxes currently payable or refundable in the current year, represents the total income taxes (benefit) for the year.

From time to time, the Company engages in business strategies that may also have an effect on its tax liabilities. If the tax effects of a strategy are significant, the Company's practice is to obtain the opinion of advisors that the tax effects of such strategies should prevail if challenged.

Net Income Per Share

Basic earnings per share is based on the weighted average shares of common stock. Diluted earnings per share gives effect to all dilutive potential common shares that were outstanding during part or all of the year.

Goodwill and Intangibles

Goodwill represents the excess of the purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets associated with acquisition transactions of the Company accounted for as purchases. Intangibles represent the value of depositor relationships associated with deposit liabilities and other contracts assumed in acquisitions. Depositor relationship intangibles are amortized over seven years and other contract intangibles are amortized over 20 years on a straight-line basis. Goodwill and intangibles are evaluated annually for permanent impairment.

The Company adopted the FASB's Statement No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets effective January 1, 2002. The Company evaluated its existing intangible assets and goodwill and determined that no reclassifications were necessary to separate any intangible assets apart from goodwill. The Company also reassessed the useful lives of all intangible assets acquired in purchase business combinations, which consisted only of core deposit intangibles, and determined that no amortization period adjustments were necessary. The Company assessed whether there was an indication that goodwill was impaired and determined that there were no indications of impairment.

The following table summarizes the Company's goodwill and other intangible assets as of December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003.

Dollars in thousands	December 31, 2003	Additions	Reductions	December 31, 2004

Note 1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

At December 31, 2004, the estimated aggregate amortization of intangibles annually through 2009 is $5.8 million, $5.4 million, $4.0 million, $3.8 million, and $1.9 million, respectively. Prior to the adoption of FASB Statement No. 142, goodwill was amortized over 15 years.

Interest Rate Risk Management Activities

In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133 Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as amended, all derivatives are recorded on the balance sheet at their fair value. The treatment of changes in the fair value of derivatives depends on the character of the transaction. For fair value hedges, in which derivatives hedge the fair value of assets and liabilities, changes in the fair value of derivatives are reflected in current earnings, together with changes in the fair value of the related hedged item. For effective cash flow hedges, in which derivatives hedge the variability of cash flows related to floating rate assets, liabilities or forecasted transactions, changes in the fair value of the derivatives are reported as other comprehensive income. These changes in fair value will be included in earnings of future periods when earnings are affected by the variability of the hedged cash flows. To the extent these hedges are not effective, changes in their fair values will be immediately included in current earnings.

Stock Option and Restricted Stock Plans

The Company applies APB Opinion No. 25 in accounting for stock option plans and, accordingly, no compensation cost has been recognized for its plans in the financial statements prior to 2003. In 2003, the Company began issuing restricted stock awards which vest over a five-year period. In 2004, the Company recorded $3,445,007 in expense relating to the granting of restricted stock awards, compared to $905,170 in 2003. As a practice, the Corporation's stock option grants are such that the exercise price equals the current market price of the common stock. Had the Company determined compensation cost based on the fair value of its stock options at the grant date under SFAS No. 123 using the Black Scholes option-pricing model, the Company's proforma net income would have been reduced to the proforma amounts indicated below:

Dollars in thousands, except for per share amounts	2004	2003	2002
Net income, as reported	$ 206,322	$ 186,677	$ 183,100
Total stock-based employee compensation expense under the fair-value method for all awards, net of tax	(4,958 )	(6,417 )	(10,165 )
Proforma net income	201,364	180,260	172,935

Proforma net income per share, basic	4.11	3.71	3.49

Proforma net income per share, diluted	3.94	3.59	3.37
Percentage reduction in net income per share, diluted	2.5	% 3.5	% 5.3	%

The granting of restricted stock grants and fewer stock options in 2004 and 2003 resulted in the lower percentage reductions in proforma net income from reported net income in 2004 and 2003 compared to 2002.

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised) ( SFAS No. 123R ), Share-Based Payment . SFAS No. 123R eliminates the intrinsic value method under APB 25 as an alternative method of accounting for stock-based awards. SFAS No. 123R also revises the fair value-based method of accounting for share-based payment liabilities, forfeitures and modifications of stock-based awards and clarifies SFAS No. 123 's guidance in several areas, including measuring fair value, classifying an award as equity or as a liability and attributing compensation cost to reporting periods. In addition, SFAS No. 123R amends SFAS No. 95, Statement of Cash Flows , to require that excess tax benefits be reported as a financing cash inflow rather than as reduction of taxes paid, which is included in operating cash flows.

The Company is required to adopt SFAS No. 123R for the interim period beginning July 1, 2005 using a modified version of prospective application or may elect to apply a modified version of retrospective application. The Company currently expects to adopt SFAS No. 123R using the modified prospective method with an effective date of July 1, 2005. This will have the effect of increasing compensation expense in 2005 and reducing net income per share by approximately $0.05 a share.

Note 2. Acquisitions

On April 1, 2003, the Corporation acquired CCM, a privately held Chicago-based company, and substantially all of its asset management holdings, including its majority ownership interests in eight asset management firms and minority interests in two additional firms. Combined, these 10 firms managed assets of approximately $8.5 billion as of December 31, 2003. The purchase price was $49.0 million, comprised of cash and the assumption of approximately $7.5 million of debt. The acquisition resulted in $25.8 million in customer contract intangibles, which is being amortized over 20 years, and $21.5 million in goodwill. Results for 2003 reflect the operations of CCM from April 1, 2003, the date that the acquisition was completed.

On February 28, 2002, the Corporation acquired Civic BanCorp ( Civic ). For these securities, the temporary impairment is a result of the change in market interest rates and is not a result of the underlying issuers' ability to repay. The Company has the intent and ability to hold these securities to maturity and no temporary impairment has been recognized in consolidated net income.

However, the Company's investment in the fixed rate perpetual preferred stock of government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs) was considered to be other than temporarily impaired as of December 31, 2004. Therefore, as of December 31, 2004, the Company recognized a $4.8 million dollar after-tax loss in the income statement on the write down of this preferred stock.

Included in marketable equity securities was Federal Reserve stock of $17.1 million as of both December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003. Also, in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Home Loan Bank, stock in that institution in the amount of $29.7 million and $30.9 million as of December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003, respectively, was included in marketable equity securities. Holdings of these equity securities are valued at cost.

The following table provides the expected remaining maturities and yields (fully taxable-equivalent basis) of debt securities at December 31, 2004, by contractual maturity. The remaining principal balances for mortgage-backed securities were allocated according to final maturities. Final maturities will differ from contractual maturities because mortgage debt issuers may have the right to prepay obligations prior to contractual maturity. To compare the tax-exempt asset yields to taxable yields, amounts are adjusted to pre-tax equivalents based on the marginal corporate federal tax rate of 35 percent.

In the normal course of business, the Bank has loans to executive officers and directors as well as loans to companies and individuals affiliated with or guaranteed by officers and directors of the Corporation and the Bank. These loans were made in the ordinary course of business at rates and terms no more favorable than those offered to others with a similar credit standing. The aggregate dollar amounts of these loans were $14.3 million and $8.4 million at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. During 2004, new loans and advances totaled $13.6 million and repayments totaled $7.7 million. Interest income recognized on these loans amounted to $0.4 million, $0.4 million and $0.4 million during 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. At December 31, 2004, none of these loans were past due or on nonaccrual status. Based on analysis of information presently known to management about the loans to officers and directors and their affiliates, management believes all have the ability to comply with the present loan repayment terms.

Loans past due 90 days or more and still accruing interest totaled $0.1 million, $2.0 million, and $6.2 million at December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. There were no restructured loan balances at December 31, 2004, 2003, or 2002.

As of September 30, 2004, the Company reclassified the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments from the allowance for loan losses to other liabilities. Amounts presented prior to the third quarter of 2004 have been restated to conform with the presentation in the current reporting period.

The allowance for loan losses and the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments are significant estimates that can and do change based on management's process in analyzing the loan and commitment portfolios and on management's assumptions about specific borrowers and applicable economic and environmental conditions, among other factors.

Depreciation and amortization expense was $17.3 million in 2004, $16.9 million in 2003, and $17.9 million in 2002. Net rental payments on operating leases included in net occupancy of premises in the consolidated statement of income were $24.7 million in 2004, $24.8 million in 2003, and $22.9 million in 2002.

The future net minimum rental commitments were as follows at December 31, 2004:

Dollars in thousands	Net Minimum Rental Commitment
2005	$ 24,549
2006	23,962
2007	21,705
2008	20,114
2009	17,907
Thereafter	87,181
	$ 195,418

The rental commitment amounts in the table above reflect the contractual obligations of the Company under all leases. Lease obligations related to acquisitions have been adjusted to current market values through purchase accounting adjustments. The allowance thus created is being accreted over the terms of the leases and reduces the total expense recognized by the Company in its operating expenses. At December 31, 2004, the Company is contractually entitled to receive minimum future rentals of $3.0 million under non-cancelable sub-leases.

A majority of the leases provide for the payment of taxes, maintenance, insurance, and certain other expenses applicable to the leased premises. Many of the leases contain extension provisions and escalation clauses. The Bank paid $1.7 million in 2003, and $1.7 million in 2002 for rent and operating expense pass-throughs to a real estate partnership in which the Bank owned a 32 percent interest, and Mr. Bram Goldsmith, Chairman of the Board of the Corporation, indirectly owned a 14 percent interest. This building was sold on October 31, 2003 to unrelated parties.

recorded as an asset to the extent that management assesses the utilization of such temporary differences and carry forwards to be more likely than not. The realization of tax benefits of deductible temporary differences and carry forwards depends on whether the Company has sufficient taxable income within the carry back and carry forward period permitted by the tax law to allow for utilization of the deductible amounts. As of any period end, the amount of the deferred tax asset that is considered realizable could be reduced if estimates of future taxable income are reduced.

Income taxes resulted in effective tax rates that differ from the statutory federal income tax rate for the following reasons:

	Percent of Pretax Income (Loss)
	2004	2003	2002
Statutory rate	35.0 %	35.0 %	35.0 %

All other net	(0.8 )	0.1	(0.6 )
Effective tax provision	37.4 %	36.6 %	30.1 %

The Company's current tax receivable was $36.4 million and $17.8 million at December 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003, respectively.

At December 31, 2004, federal net operating loss carry forwards of $14.5 million, acquired in the First Los Angeles Bank acquisition in 1995, will expire in 2010.

On December 31, 2003, the California Franchise Tax Board announced its position that certain transactions related to real estate investment trusts ( REITs ) and regulated investment companies ( RICs ) will be disallowed pursuant to California Senate Bill 614 and Assembly Bill 1601. The Company created its two REITs (one of which was previously formed as a RIC in 2000) to raise capital for the Bank. The tax benefits relating to these transactions were reversed in 2003 and no tax benefits related to the two REITs were recorded in 2004. The Company believes it is appropriately reserved for the benefits recognized in the three prior years.

Note 7. Retirement Plan

The Corporation has a profit sharing retirement plan with an Internal Revenue Code Section 401(k) feature covering eligible employees. Contributions are made on an annual basis into a trust fund and are allocated to the participants based on their salaries. The profit sharing contribution requirement is based on a percentage of annual operating income subject to a percentage of salary caps. For 2004, 2003, and 2002, the Company recorded total contributions expense of $14.7 million, $14.2 million, and $13.2 million, respectively.

Eligible employees may contribute up to 50 percent of their salary, but not more than the maximum allowed under Internal Revenue Service regulations. The Company matches 50 percent of the first 6 percent of covered compensation. For 2004, 2003, and 2002, the Company's matching contribution included in the total contribution above was $2.7 million, $2.7 million, and $2.5 million, respectively.

During 2002, a SERP was created for one of the officers of the Company. At December 31, 2004, there was a $2.0 million unfunded pension liability and a $0.8 million intangible asset related to this plan. Total expense in 2004 and 2003 was $0.6 million and $0.5 million, respectively. The Company does not provide for any post retirement employee benefits beyond the profit sharing retirement plan and the SERP.

At December 31, 2004, nonqualified and incentive stock options covering 2,247,859 and 763,734 shares, respectively, of the Corporation's common stock were exercisable under the plans.

The 1995 Omnibus Plan (now expired) and the 2002 Omnibus Plan provide for granting of restricted shares of Corporation stock to employees. Beginning in the second quarter of 2003, stock-based performance awards granted to colleagues of the Company included grants of restricted stock for the first time. This reduced the total number of shares awarded but better aligned the interests of shareholders and colleagues. In 2004, the number of shares awarded in connection with stock-based performance awards for 2003 was further reduced when the Company took into consideration changes in the value of the Company's stock price when determining share awards. Twenty-five percent of the restricted stock vests two years from the date of grant, then 25 percent vests on each of the next three consecutive grant anniversary dates. The restricted stock is subject to forfeiture until the restrictions lapse or terminate. The cost of the restricted stock is charged to salaries and employee benefits over the vesting period.

During 2004, the Compensation, Nominating and Governance Committee (the Committee) of the Corporation's Board of Directors awarded 146,548 shares of restricted common stock having a market value of $9,008,000. During 2003, the Committee awarded 176,973 shares of restricted common stock with a corresponding market value of $7,604,214. The portion of the market value of the restricted stock related to current service was recognized as compensation expense in 2004 and 2003 and the portion of the market value relating to future service (deferred equity compensation) will be amortized over the remaining vesting period. The compensation expense for 2004 was $3,445,007 compared to $905,170 in 2003. Based on the date of grant, expense for 2003 primarily reflected restricted stock expense for only seven months, while 2004 expense reflected 12 months of expense for 2003 grants and approximately ten months of expense for 2004 grants. This change in the method of issuing stock-based compensation performance awards continued in 2004. There were 309,023 restricted shares that had not vested as of December 31, 2004.

In addition to the above, the Corporation's 2002 Stock Option Plan provides for the automatic annual grant, on the date of the Annual Meeting of Stockholders, of a discounted stock option (which is not an Incentive Stock Option) to each non-employee director, including members of the Compensation, Nominating and Governance Committee. The grant allows each non-employee director to purchase 500 shares of the Corporation's common stock ( Director Stock Options ) at an exercise price of $1.00 per share. The purchase is payable in cash or cash equivalents, by surrender of the Corporation's common stock held by the director for at least a year before exercise, or any combination of the two. Director Stock Options fully vest six months after the date of issuance or upon the termination of the holder's directorship (other than for cause), whichever is earlier, and expire 10 years after the date of grant. In order to conform the grant of equity compensation awarded to non-employee directors to the requirements of section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code, enacted as part of the American Jobs Creation Act of 2004, commencing in 2005, the 2002 Omnibus Plan will be amended to discontinue the grant of Director Stock Options.

Short-term borrowings consist of funds with remaining maturities of one year or less, and long-term debt consists of borrowings with remaining maturities greater than one year. The maximum amount of other short-term borrowings at any month-end was $50.1 million, $205.1 million, and $793.6 million in 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively.

The maximum amount of overnight federal funds purchased and securities sold under agreements to repurchase outstanding at any month-end was $204.7 million, $266.3 million, and $266.7 million in 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. The average amount of securities sold under agreements to repurchase was $9.9 million, $6.6 million and $11.2 million during 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively. The securities underlying the agreements to repurchase remain under the Company's control.

On February 13, 2003, the Corporation issued $225.0 million of 5.125 percent Senior Notes due in 2013 in a private placement. A like amount of exchange notes were subsequently registered pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 in April 2003 and 100 percent of the Senior Notes were exchanged for the registered notes in an exchange offering with the Senior Notes which closed on May 29, 2003. The carrying value of the senior notes is net of the impact of fair value hedge accounting and issuance costs which are being amortized to interest expense to yield an effective interest rate of 5.28 percent.

On August 30, 2001, the Bank issued $150.0 million of 6.75 percent subordinated notes, due in 2011, which qualifies as Tier II capital. The carrying value of the subordinated notes is net of the impact of fair value hedge accounting and issuance costs which are being amortized to interest expense to yield an effective interest rate of 6.92 percent.

On January 12, 1998, the Bank issued $125.0 million of 6.375 percent subordinated notes, due in 2008, in a private offering. These subordinated notes qualify as Tier II capital. The carrying value of the subordinated notes is net of discount and issuance costs which are being amortized to interest expense to yield an effective interest rate of 6.62 percent.

There were no Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) advances as of December 31, 2004. FHLB advances outstanding as of December 31, 2003 totaled $65.0 million all with maturity dates of less than one year and with a weighted average interest rate of 2.08 percent. The Bank had $519.5 million and $280.1 million of unused borrowing capacity from the FHLB at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

The equity participation notes relate to CCM and RCB. The RCB notes of $3.3 million mature on December 31, 2005. These notes accrue interest equal to 10 percent of the operating income of RCB as defined in the notes.

The CCM notes of $3.9 million mature as follows, expressed in thousands of dollars:

2005	2006	2007	2008	2009	After 2009	Total
$410	$104	$109	$2,527	$83	$702	$3,935

Interest on these notes range from 5.79 percent to 7.50 percent.

During 2002, the Bank converted its former registered investment company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Bank, to a real estate investment trust to provide the Bank with flexibility in raising capital. As of December 31, 2004, 2003 and 2002, the net income and assets of CN Real Estate Investment Corporation II ( CNII ) are eliminated in consolidation. During 2002 and 2003, CNII sold 152,680 shares of 8.50 percent Series A Preferred Stock to accredited investors for $10.5 million which is included in minority interest. Dividends of $1,297,780, $1,231,586 and $47,619 which are included in minority interest expense were paid in 2004, 2003 and 2002, respectively.

During 2001, the Bank formed and funded CN Real Estate Investment Corporation ( CN ), a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary of the Bank which provides the Bank with flexibility in raising capital. As of December 31, 2004, 2003, and 2002, the net income and assets of CN are eliminated in consolidation. City National Bank contributed participation interest in loans with a book value of $1,555.1 million, net of reserves, and $50.0 million in cash in exchange for 100 percent of the common stock of CN. During 2002, CN sold 6,828 shares of 8.5 percent Series B Preferred Stock to accredited investors for $6.8 million which is included in minority interest. During 2001, CN sold 33,933 shares of 8.50 percent Series A Preferred Stock to accredited investors for $3.4 million which is included in minority interest. Dividends of $868,811, $868,811 and $578,621 which are included in minority interest expense were paid in 2004, 2003 and 2002 on both of the preferred stock issues.

The Corporation is authorized to issue 5,000,000 shares of preferred stock. The Corporation's Board of Directors has the authority to issue the preferred stock in one or more series, and to fix the designations, rights, preferences, privileges, qualifications and restrictions, including dividend rights, conversion rights, voting rights, rights and terms of redemption, liquidation preferences, and sinking fund terms.

Under a shareholders rights agreement (the Agreement ), the Corporation distributed preferred stock purchase rights ( Rights ) as a Rights dividend on March 13, 1997 at the rate of one Right for each share of the Corporation's common stock held as of the close of business on that date. The existence of the Rights makes it less likely that a person will acquire significant voting control of the Corporation's common stock or otherwise acquire the Corporation without the Board of Directors' consent. Until the Distribution Date, which is defined in the Agreement, (1) the Rights are not exercisable, (2) the Rights are attached to and trade only together with the Corporation's common stock, and (3) the stock certificates representing the Corporation's common stock also represent the attached Rights. Each share of the Corporation's common stock issued after March 13, 1997 and prior to the Distribution Date includes one Right. On the Distribution Date, the Rights will separate from the Corporation's common stock, Rights certificates will be issued, and the Rights will become exercisable as described in the Agreement. The Rights expire on March 13, 2007, unless earlier redeemed or exchanged.

Historically, the majority of the funds for the payment of dividends by the Corporation have been obtained from the Bank. Under federal banking law, dividends declared by national banks in any calendar year may not, without the approval of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ( OCC ), exceed net profits (as defined), for that year combined with its retained net income for the preceding two calendar years. At December 31, 2004, the Bank could have declared dividends of $333.0 million without the approval of the OCC.

Federal banking law also prohibits the Corporation from borrowing from the Bank on less than a fully secured basis. The Corporation had no borrowings from the Bank at either December 31, 2004 or December 31, 2003.

Federal Reserve Board regulations require that the Bank maintain certain minimum reserve balances. Cash balances maintained to meet reserve requirements are not available for use by the Bank or the Corporation. During 2004 and 2003, reserve balances averaged approximately $65.5 million and $50.0 million, respectively.

The Corporation and the Bank are subject to various regulatory capital requirements administered by the federal banking agencies. Failure to meet minimum capital requirements can initiate certain mandatory, and possibly additional discretionary, actions by regulators that, if undertaken, could have a direct material effect on the Company's financial statements. Under capital adequacy guidelines and the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action, the Corporation and the Bank must meet specific capital guidelines that involve quantitative measures of the Corporation's and Bank's assets, liabilities and certain off-balance-sheet items as calculated under the regulatory accounting rules. The Corporation's and the Bank's capital amounts and classification are also subject to qualitative judgments by the regulators about components, risk weightings and other factors.

Quantitative measures established by regulation to ensure capital adequacy require the Corporation and the Bank to maintain minimum amounts and ratios (set forth in the table below) of total and Tier 1 capital (as defined in the regulations) to risk-weighted assets (as defined). Management believes, as of December 31, 2004, the Corporation and the Bank meet and exceed all capital adequacy requirements to which either is subject. Additionally, the regulatory agencies are required by law to take specific prompt action with respect to banks that do not meet minimum capital standards. As of December 31, 2004, the Bank was categorized as well capitalized.

The Corporation's actual amounts and ratios are presented in the following table:

(1) As of September 30, 2004, the Company reclassified the reserve for off-balance sheet credit commitments from the allowance for loan losses to other liabilities. Amounts presented prior to the third quarter of 2004 have been restated to conform with the presentation in the current reporting period.

Shareholders' equity to assets as of December 31, 2004 was 9.48 percent compared with 9.36 percent as of December 31, 2003.

Note 11. Commitments and Contingencies

In the normal course of business, the Company is a party to financial instruments with off-balance-sheet risk. These financial instruments include commitments to extend credit, letters of credit, and financial guarantees; and to invest in venture capital funds. These instruments involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit, foreign exchange, and interest rate risk in excess of the amount reflected in the consolidated balance sheet.

Exposure to credit loss in the event of nonperformance by the other party to the financial instrument for commitments to extend credit, letters of credit, and financial guarantees written is represented by the contractual notional amount of those instruments. The Company uses the same credit policies in making commitments and conditional obligations as it does for on-balance sheet instruments.

Commitments to extend credit are agreements to lend to a client as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. Since a portion of the commitments are expected to expire without being drawn upon, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements. The Corporation evaluates each client's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis.

The Company had outstanding commitments aggregating $3,818.7 million and $3,687.3 million at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively compared to outstanding loan balances of $8,494.2 million and $7,882.7 million, respectively. Substantially all of the Company's loan commitments are on a variable rate basis and are comprised of real estate and commercial loan commitments. In addition, the Company had $432.1 million and $414.1 million outstanding in bankers' acceptances and letters of credit at December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively, of which $406.7 million and $368.0 million relate to standby letters of credit. Included in standby letters of credit were $395.6 million and $364.9 million of financial guarantees as of December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Substantially all fees received from the issuance of financial guarantees are deferred and amortized on a straight-line basis over the terms of the guarantee.

As of December 31, 2004, the Company had venture capital fund commitments of $6.7 million of which $5.0 million was funded. As of December 31, 2003, the Company had venture capital fund commitments of $3.9 million, of which $1.3 million was funded.

The Corporation or its subsidiaries are defendants in various pending lawsuits claiming substantial amounts. Based upon present knowledge, management including in-house counsel does not believe that the final outcome of such lawsuits will have a material adverse effect on the Company.

The Company enters into indemnification agreements in the ordinary course of business under which the Company agrees to hold third parties harmless from any damages, losses and expense, including out-of-pocket legal and other expenses incurred in connection with any claims made and legal and other proceedings arising from relationships and/or transactions between the indemnified persons and the Company. These relationships and/or transactions include those arising from one of its subsidiaries, or an entity in which the Company or one of its subsidiaries has an interest, underwriting agreements relating to offers and sales of the Company's securities, acquisition agreements, and various other business transactions or arrangements. Because the extent of the Company's obligations under such indemnification agreements depends entirely upon the occurrence of future events that may give rise to a claim, the Company is unable to estimate the amount it would be required to pay in connection with any such claim.

Note 12. Disclosure about Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instruments for which it is practicable to estimate that value:

Cash and due from banks and Federal funds sold (Cash and Cash Equivalents)

For these short-term instruments, the carrying amount is a reasonable estimate of fair value.

Securities and trading account assets

For securities held as available-for-sale, fair value equals quoted market price, if available. If a quoted market price is not available, discounted cash flows or matrix or model pricing may be used to determine an appropriate fair value. For trading account securities, fair values are based on quoted market prices or dealer quotes.

Loan receivables

For certain homogeneous categories of loans, such as some residential mortgages, and other consumer loans, fair value is estimated using dealer quotes, adjusted for differences in loan characteristics. The fair value of other types of loans is estimated by discounting the future cash flows using the current rates at which similar loans would be made to borrowers with similar credit ratings and for the same remaining maturities. In establishing the credit risk component of the fair value calculations for loans, the Company concluded that the allowance for loan losses represented a reasonable estimate of the credit risk component of the fair value of loans at December 31, 2004 and 2003.

Deposit liabilities

The fair value of demand and interest checking deposits, savings deposits, and certain money market accounts is the amount payable on demand at the reporting date. The fair value of fixed-maturity certificates of deposit is estimated using the rates currently offered for deposits of similar remaining maturities or the amount payable on demand less any interest forfeiture penalties, whichever is greater.

Short-term borrowings

For short-term borrowings, the carrying amount is a reasonable estimate of fair value.

Long-term debt

The fair value of long-term debt was estimated by discounting the future payments at current interest rates.

Commitments to extend credit, standby letters of credit, and financial guarantees written

The fair value of commitments is estimated using the fees currently charged to enter into similar agreements, taking into account the remaining terms of the agreements and the present creditworthiness of the counterparties. The Company does not make fixed-rate loan commitments. The fair value of letters of guarantee and letters of credit is based on fees currently charged for similar agreements or on the estimated cost to terminate them or otherwise settle the obligations with the counterparties at the reporting date.

Commitments to venture capital funds

The fair value of commitments to venture capital funds is based on the estimated cost to terminate them or otherwise settle the obligation.

Derivatives

The fair value of exchange traded derivatives is based on quoted market prices or dealer quotes. The fair value of non-exchange traded derivatives consists of net unrealized gains or losses, accrued interest receivable or payable and any premiums paid or received.

The Company uses interest rate swaps to mitigate risks associated with changes 1) to the fair value of certain fixed rate deposits and borrowings and 2) to certain cash flows related to future interest payments on variable rate loans. As of December 31, 2004, the Company had $1,265.9 million notional amount of interest rate swaps, of which $540.9 million were fair value hedges and $725.0 million were cash flow hedges. The positive mark-to-market on the fair value hedges resulted in the recognition of other assets and an increase in hedged deposits and borrowings of $26.4 million. The negative mark-to-market on the cash flow hedges of variable rate loans resulted in the reduction of other assets and comprehensive income of $2.0 million, before taxes of $0.8 million.

Amounts to be paid or received on the cash flow hedge interest rate swaps are reclassified into earnings upon receipt of interest payments on the underlying hedged loans, including amounts totaling $8.2 million that were reclassified into net interest income during 2004. Within the next 12 months, $0.5 million of comprehensive income is expected to be reclassified into net interest income.

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had $1,100.9 million notional amount of interest rate swaps, of which $600.9 million were fair value hedges and $500.0 million were cash flow hedges. The positive mark-to-market on the fair value hedges resulted in the recognition of other assets and an increase in hedged deposits and borrowings of $34.9 million. The positive mark-to-market on the cash flow hedges of variable rate loans resulted in the recognition of other assets and comprehensive income of $7.2 million, before taxes of $3.0 million.

Interest rate swap agreements involve the exchange of fixed- and variable-rate interest payments based upon a notional principal amount and maturity date. The Company's interest rate risk management instruments had $24.4 million of credit risk exposure at December 31, 2004 and $42.1 million as of December 31, 2003. The credit exposure represents the cost to replace, on a present value basis and at current market rates, all profitable contracts outstanding at year-end. The Company's swap agreements require the deposit of cash or marketable debt securities as collateral for this risk if it exceeds certain market value thresholds. These requirements apply individually to City National Corporation and to City National Bank. As of December 31, 2004, City National Corporation had no securities pledged to interest rate swap counterparties as collateral for fair value hedge transactions. As of December 31, 2004, City National Bank had received and was holding $14.3 million of cash and $3.8 million of securities as collateral for fair value and cash flow hedge transactions.

The periodic net settlement of interest rate risk management instruments is recorded as an adjustment to net interest income. These interest rate risk management instruments increased net interest income by $29.1 million, $31.5 million, and $32.2 million for 2004, 2003, and 2002, respectively.

During the first quarter of 2005, the Bank announced that it had entered into a written agreement with the Comptroller of the Currency (the Comptroller). The agreement arises out of certain previously disclosed compliance activities regarding the Bank Secrecy Act of 1970 (BSA) and the USA Patriot Act of 2001 (Patriot Act) and requires the Bank to take appropriate actions to continue to improve its policies and procedures for complying with the BSA and the Patriot Act. The Bank has taken significant corrective actions, and adopted and implemented a number of policies and procedures, to address the concerns of the Comptroller and these actions will continue in 2005. In connection with the agreement, the Bank paid a monetary assessment of $750,000.
