PART III
NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail the reasons why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-QSB, N-SAR, or the transition report portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period. (Attach extra sheets if needed)

Registrant's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended June 30, 2005 could not be filed within the prescribed time period because registrant could not complete the preparation of the required information without unreasonable effort and expense. Registrant's senior management has recently identified certain company checks issued by a senior financial officer payable to that individual in the first and second quarters of the registrant's current fiscal year ending December 31, 2005. These transactions did not comply with the registrant's controls practices, nor has the employee supported the transactions to Company representatives to date. These payments were expensed. Preliminary inquiry indicates that other transactions not supported by appropriate documents may have occurred in earlier years. The registrant has advised its independent registered public accounting firm of this development. The individual referred to above does not currently have access to the registrant's accounts or assets, and will be requested to cooperate with an investigation.

The aggregate amount of the 2005 checks referred to above is $56,000 ($33,000 after tax effect). Registrant cautions that it cannot assure that it has identified all questionable 2005 transactions, nor can it reliably estimate the amount and character of any pre-2005 similar transactions. The registrant's Audit Committee, having been informed of these transactions, has engaged an accounting firm which has had no prior business or professional relationship with the registrant to investigate, identify and quantify the payments and furnish a report to the Audit Committee. The investigation will include the year 2005 and prior periods. The Audit Committee has also engaged independent legal counsel.

The registrant's management believes that it has identified certain weaknesses in the controls relative to payroll disbursements. In connection with the investigation, the registrant will perform further evaluation and implement the appropriate remedial action. All effort is being directed to the filing of form 10-Q for the period ended June 30, 2005.
