BT BREAKS THROUGH GBP20 BROADBAND PRICE BARRIER

BT today announced plans to further accelerate broadband growth with the launch of a new cut-price service called BT Broadband Basic.

The new package gives customers a real broadband experience - with surfing speeds up to ten times that of ordinary dial-up services, but costing just GBP19.99* a month.

BT Broadband Basic is aimed at those customers who are currently dial-up users or new to the internet, taking the first step on the broadband ladder.

Duncan Ingram, managing director, BT Openworld, said: "The Basic package provides a simple to use, low-cost entry level service but with the equivalent speed of our other broadband products - unlike some of our competitors who offer so-called low cost broadband packages which, at best, run at half the speed of BT's basic broadband service.

"Getting not so broad broadband from other providers presents major limitations on what you can do on the internet, with much more time spent waiting for things to download, like web pages, music tracks and video clips.

"Other activities such as online gaming could prove frustrating when players with faster broadband connections constantly leave you standing.

"The launch of BT Broadband Basic represents a major addition to the creation of Broadband Britain.

"We have broken through the GBP20 price barrier which - combined with the fact that more than 85 per cent of UK homes and businesses are now connected to broadband enabled exchanges - means there is an even greater incentive for people to join the ever growing BT Broadband community.

"Now for just a few pounds more than a dial-up service, customers can enjoy the benefits of surfing and e-mail at ten times the speed whilst freeing up their phone line to make and receive calls

"We have kept the Basic package price competitive by designing it around the basic requirements that many potential customers want from a broadband service.

"For example, we have included a data allowance of 1Gb a month and designed our free customer help and support service to be used solely online."

Ingram added: "BT Broadband Basic is just the first initiative in our future broadband strategy. In the coming weeks we will be announcing a whole host of portfolio developments and enhancements which will be key in helping BT hit its five million connections target during 2006."

Notes to Editors:

- BT Broadband Basic operates at up to 512Kb, the same as BT Broadband and BT Yahoo! Broadband
- *GBP19.99 is the price for Direct Debit Customers (GBP20.99 otherwise)

- Basic is available to customers purchasing online via BT.com.

Enclosure 9

March 24, 2004

BT REAFFIRMS COMMITMENT

TO COMPETITIVE PRICING BY ABOLISHING

STANDARD RATE FOR RESIDENTIAL CUSTOMERS

BT today announced plans to abolish its standard rate for residential customers and introduce a simpler range of low prices as part of its continuing strategy to make it easier for people to understand phone price comparisons and the value of what they get.

The plans will make BT cheaper for most UK calls than its major cable rivals. And even where some of its main non-cable rivals are cheaper for some UK calls, any differences per month in customer bills are likely to be minimal.

The simplified pricing structure will bring low call charges and reductions in line rental for all three BT Together fixed monthly-fee options. The changes will make it easier for customers to compare the value they get from BT with similar offerings from competitors.

Existing standard rate customers will move to join the five million already on BT Together Option 1, which will become the benchmark for BT's fixed-line call prices from July 1. Standard rate customers moving to Option 1 will pay just 3p a minute in the daytime and 5.5p for up to an hour per call in the evenings and weekends instead of up to 60p for just local calls at the old rate.

Edgar Filing: BT GROUP PLC - Form 6-K

By driving down prices across all three of its Together options, UK national calls will be cheaper with BT than rivals Telewest and ntl anytime, day or night.

Gavin Patterson, group managing director, BT Consumer and Ventures, said: "These changes are the latest developments in our strategy to deliver more simplicity and value for our customers. They mean that arguments by other operators about how their prices compare with BT become virtually irrelevant. By driving down prices and making them simpler to understand, it will be much easier for customers to see how BT offers great value when compared to its main competitors. Now it will be far easier for customers to compare like-with-like when making decisions about their fixed-line phone services.

"The changes will also make BT highly competitive against the majority of its rivals for UK calls and within a whisker of most of those offering lower rates.

"Our increased competitiveness on price means customers can focus more on the overall value of what they get. They will need to weigh-up factors like the service, experience and added-value they can get from an established operator like BT when compared with what's on offer from more recent entrants to the market.

"We are determined to fight hard but fair to retain and even grow our share of the fixed-line market. These changes demonstrate our intention to meet head-on the twin challenges of carrier pre-selection and wholesale line rental, and overcome them. Customers will now benefit from simple, low charges. Compared to Telewest, for instance, there is no contest. With BT, 5.5p gets you up to an hour of chat. With Telewest, it doesn't even get you connected.

"By abolishing standard rate we have made life even simpler for all our residential customers - which is what they have told us they want from BT. Standard rate can be confusing with, for example, six different types of call price.

"Saving money on phone calls with BT now really is as easy as one, two, three."

BT Together customers will now pay a lower line rental than they were previously. BT Together Option 1 customers will pay GBP10.50 per month (previously GBP11.50). They will also pay just 5.5p for up to an hour (previously 6p an hour) on all evening and weekend calls made in the UK.

For GBP6 a month more (previously GBP7) than Option 1, BT Together Option 2 offers free UK evening and weekend calls, while Option 3 gives free UK daytime, evening and weekend calls for an additional GBP15 a month (previously GBP18). BT Together Options 2 and 3 customers will benefit from the revised packages from April 1 and Option 1 customers from July 1.
