Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

On December 20, 2013, the majority of the entities owned by the Company's Joint Venture I entered into new joint venture agreements to recapitalize the majority of the interests of Venture I with an institutional investor, referred to as Venture V, whereby the majority of the assets of Venture I were transferred to Venture V. The recapitalization of the Venture I assets and the entering of Venture V are estimated to result in an aggregate net gain after consideration of earnings by non-controlling interests to the Company of between $14 million and $16 million. The Company's net gain will be calculated after consideration of distributions to the holders of interests in Venture I other than the Company including its lenders and institutional capital partner and a minority investment entity owned by the Company's CEO and CIO, earnings by the holders of interests in NexCore Real Estate LLC other than the Company, and the profits interests held by Equity Participation LLC, which is owned by members of management. In addition, such gain recognition is expected to be due in part to the prior earnings, losses and cash flow distributions since the inception of Venture I, as well as the structural terms of Venture V.
