Top of the Form Item 8.01 Other Events.

In connection with the common stock offering by Altus Pharmaceuticals Inc. (the "Company") in April 2007, all of our directors and executive officers and some of our stockholders agreed to a 90-day lock-up period during which they would refrain from selling or offering to sell securities of the Company. The 90-day lock up period began on the date of the prospectus supplement and expired today.

In connection with the lock-up agreements, the Company exercised its right to suspend previously authorized sales by executive officers under any trading plans that had been put in place by such officers under Rule 10b5-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. These 10b5-1 plans allow an executive officer to set up a program in advance for trades in a company's securities and proceed with them even if he or she comes into possession of material non-public information after establishing the trading program. Under the terms of these plans, when the Company suspends trading, all of the shares that would have been sold during the suspension become eligible for sale when the suspension is revoked. Depending on the pricing restrictions in the four prearranged plans and based on the closing price of the Company's common stock on July 17, 2007, up to approximately 50,000 shares will be released for sale under the plans upon this expiration.
