Fellow Shareholders: February 2017

While surprising events help to shape equity market performance every year, 2016 will be remembered as an archetype of surprise. Each of the four quarters was marked by headlines that would have been hard to anticipate in advance: the worst calendar year start for U.S. equities ever; the U.K. vote to withdraw from the European Union; record highs recorded by the S&P 500® Index, the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) and the NASDAQ Composite Index on the same day in August; and Donald Trump's upset win in the presidential election.

Sparked by the Trump victory, U.S. equities rallied in the fourth quarter, with the S&P 500® advancing 3.82 percent, the DJIA gaining 8.66 percent and the NASDAQ returning 1.66 percent. That the fourth quarter's return for the NASDAQ was substantially below the other two indices signaled the unevenness of the rally; investors moved quickly to embrace financials and industrial stocks at the expense of growth stocks, including information technology and health care/biotech. For the full year, the S&P 500® returned 11.96 percent, the DJIA returned 16.50 percent and the NASDAQ returned 8.87 percent.

That was an outcome that would have been hard to envision on February 11, when the rout that opened the year reached its nadir. At that point, U.S. stocks were down 10 percent, with the stocks of energy companies and those that supply the industry faring even worse. But if the historically poor start to the year was a surprise, the latter half of the first quarter was almost as surprising. A rally took hold that by quarter's end had driven the S&P 500® and DJIA to positive returns and left the NASDAQ only modestly negative.

The second quarter was calm by comparison until a poor jobs report for May rattled investors, only to be followed by the "Brexit" referendum in which voters in the U.K. said they favored leaving the European Union. Once again, however, a rally over the last few trading days of the quarter propelled the S&P 500® and the DJIA to modest gains, while the NASDAQ surrendered less than one percentage point.

Positive sentiment prevailed in the third quarter. At one point, the DJIA recorded gains for nine straight trading days—its longest streak in three years. This time it was the NASDAQ leading the way with a 10.02 percent return, a reflection of investors' greater appetite for risk, as well as technology companies' prospects for growth in a growth-challenged economy. Markets were also buoyed by good job growth, higher home sales, a surge in consumer confidence and firmer crude oil prices.

Equity markets got off to a poor start in the fourth quarter. October ended broadly lower, with the S&P 500® down 1.94 percent for the month. On November 4, after the same index closed lower for the ninth straight day, The Wall Street Journal declared it the longest losing streak since 2008. All that changed a few days later with the presidential election and an outcome that, with few exceptions, was not foreseen by polls or pundits. Markets that had been predicted to retrench as much as 10 percent on a Trump victory instead surprised many investors and rallied. Investors saw opportunity in Trump's calls for lower corporate taxes, investment in infrastructure, replacing the Affordable Care Act and a lighter approach to government regulation. Some of the enthusiasm abated in the final week of the year, as investors locked-in profits. Nevertheless, the DJIA advanced nearly 9 percent (after closing above 19,000 for the first time on November 22). The other main event of the quarter—one that came as no surprise—was the Federal Reserve's quarter-point increase in the fed funds rate, and the subsequent release of meeting notes indicating that the Fed would likely be more aggressive in raising short-term rates during 2017.

(Unaudited)

While these were the major events highlighting each quarter, there were underlying themes running through the year. One was a strengthening U.S. economy, marked by gains in employment, improving corporate earnings, a strong housing market and favorable consumer confidence. Another, less positive, factor was China—the world's second largest economy—where a slowing economy, a decline in the stock market and a weaker yuan held potential implications for the U.S. economy. The geopolitical situation—principally, the Middle East, South China Sea, North Korea, Russian meddling in Eastern Europe and the refugee crises—remain ongoing sources of concern that are not likely to be resolved any time soon.

Liberty All-Star[®] Equity Fund

For the full year, Liberty All-Star Equity Fund underperformed the key indices previously referred to in this letter. In 2016, the Fund returned 9.14 percent with shares valued at net asset value (NAV) with dividends reinvested and 6.12 percent with shares valued at market price with dividends reinvested. (Fund returns are net of expenses.) As noted, returns for the S&P 500[®], the DJIA and the NASDAQ were 11.96 percent, 16.50 percent and 8.87 percent, respectively. The return on Fund shares valued at NAV narrowly trailed the Fund's principal benchmark, the Lipper Large-Cap Core Mutual Fund Average, which returned 10.04 percent for the year.

For the fourth quarter, the Fund returned 2.66 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested and 1.93 percent with shares valued at market price with dividends reinvested. For the same period, the benchmark Lipper index returned 3.68 percent.

Looking back, the Fund—like the vast majority of actively managed funds—was hurt in the first quarter by the market's hyper-volatility. The Fund outperformed all key benchmarks in both the second and third quarters. In the fourth quarter, the Fund continued to outperform until the presidential election. The massive shift by investors to financials and cyclical stocks and their simultaneous abandonment of the type of growth stocks that the Fund's growth managers generally invest in (higher growth rates and higher valuation multiples compared to the S&P 500[®]) accounted for the underperformance in the final quarter and offset strong performance by the value managers. Fund shares valued at market price were also hurt in the fourth quarter by the widening of the discount at which Fund shares trade relative to NAV; during the period, Fund shares traded in a discount range of -14.8 percent to -17.4 percent relative to their underlying NAV.

In accordance with the Fund's distribution policy, the Fund declared a distribution of $0.12 per share in the fourth quarter, bringing total distributions for 2016 to $0.48 per share. As shareholders may recall, the Fund's distribution policy has been in place since 1988 and is a major component of the Fund's total return. These distributions add up to $25.65 since 1987 (the Fund's first full calendar year of operations). We continue to emphasize that shareholders should include these distributions when determining the return on their investment in the Fund.

One of the key principles on which the Fund was founded is multi-management, or the practice of allocating the Fund's assets to carefully selected investment managers representing both value and growth styles of investing. Thus, we are once again offering insights into the managers' thinking through our annual roundtable question-and-answer exchange, and invite shareholders to read the managers' comments.

The market continued to rally in the early days of 2017, but much remains unsettled as the new administration and the Republican-led Congress begin the arduous task of governing. We are hopeful that the U.S. economy will continue to grow and that government policies, as they unfold, will complement and support private sector growth. A year with no surprises may be welcome, but if that turns out to be the case it would be a surprise all by itself. For our part, we at ALPS Advisors will continue to offer shareholders a consistent focus and a steady adherence to the principles that make the Fund a core equity holding for long-term investors.

Past performance cannot predict future results. Performance will fluctuate with market conditions. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data shown. Performance information does not reflect the deduction of taxes that shareholders would pay on Fund distributions or the sale of Fund shares. An investment in the Fund involves risk, including loss of principal.

Closed-end funds raise money in an initial public offering and shares are listed and traded on an exchange. Open-end mutual funds continuously issue and redeem shares at net asset value. Shares of closed-end funds frequently trade at a discount to net asset value. The price of the Fund's shares is determined by a number of factors, several of which are beyond the control of the Fund. Therefore, the Fund cannot predict whether its shares will trade at, below or above net asset value.

ACCESS TO INSTITUTIONAL MANAGERS

The Fund's investment managers invest primarily for pension funds, endowments, foundations and other institutions. Because institutional managers are closely monitored by their clients, they tend to be more disciplined and consistent in their investment process.

MONITORING AND REBALANCING

ALPS Advisors continuously monitors these investment managers to ensure that they are performing as expected and adhering to their style and strategy, and will replace managers when warranted. Periodic rebalancing maintains the Fund's structural integrity and is a well-recognized investment discipline.

ALIGNMENT AND OBJECTIVITY

Alignment with shareholders' best interests and objective decision-making help to ensure that the Fund is managed openly and equitably. In addition, the Fund is governed by a Board of Trustees that is elected by and responsible to shareholders.

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

Since 1988, the Fund has followed a policy of paying annual distributions on its shares at a rate that approximates historical equity market returns. The current annual distribution rate is 8 percent of the Fund's net asset value (paid quarterly at 2 percent per quarter), providing a systematic mechanism for distributing funds to shareholders.

GROWTH OF A HYPOTHETICAL $10,000 INVESTMENT

The graph below illustrates the growth of a hypothetical $10,000 investment assuming the purchase of shares of beneficial interest at the closing market price (NYSE: USA) of $6.00 on December 31, 1987, and tracking its progress through December 31, 2016. For certain information, it also assumes that a shareholder exercised all primary rights in the Fund's rights offerings (see below). This graph covers the period since the Fund commenced its distribution policy in 1988.

The growth of the investment assuming all distributions were received in cash and not reinvested back into the Fund. The value of the investment under this scenario grew to $50,500 (including the December 31, 2016 value of the original investment of $8,600 plus distributions during the period of $40,783 and tax credits on retained capital gains of $1,117).

The additional value realized through reinvestment of all distributions and tax credits. The value of the investment under this scenario grew to $151,839.

The additional value realized through full participation in all the rights offerings under the terms of each offering. The value of the investment under this scenario grew to $220,765 excluding the cost to fully participate in all the rights offerings under the terms of each offering which was $49,966.

Past performance cannot predict future results. Performance will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data shown. Performance information does not reflect the deduction of taxes that shareholders would pay on Fund distributions or the sale of Fund shares. DISTRIBUTION POLICY

The current policy is to pay distributions on its shares totaling approximately 8 percent of its net asset value per year, payable in four quarterly installments of 2 percent of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Sources of distributions to shareholders may include ordinary dividends, long-term capital gains and return of capital. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes will depend upon the Fund's investment experience during its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. If a distribution includes anything other than net investment income, the Fund provides a Section 19(a) notice of the best estimate of its distribution sources at that time. These estimates may not match the final tax characterization (for the full year's distributions) contained in shareholders' 1099-DIV forms after the end of the year. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

MANAGER ROUNDTABLE

Looking back and looking ahead, the Fund's managers assess 2016 and evaluate what a Trump administration may—or may not—mean for the investment environment in 2017.

Liberty All-Star Equity Fund's five investment managers represent long experience, deep knowledge, a proven track record and, given that they represent both growth and value styles of investing, a broad point of view on the stock market and equity investing generally. Thus, once again, we are grateful to be able to call upon this resource to provide Fund shareholders with commentary and insight. The Fund's Investment Advisor, ALPS Advisors, serves as moderator of the roundtable. Participating investment management firms, the portfolio manager for each, and their respective styles and strategies are:

ARISTOTLE CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, LLC

Portfolio Manager/Howard Gleicher, CFA

CEO and Chief Investment Officer

Investment Style/Value – Aristotle seeks to invest in high quality companies that it believes are selling at a significant discount to their intrinsic value and where a catalyst exists that will lead to a realization by the market of this true value. Aristotle practices a fundamental, bottom-up research-driven process and invests with a long-term perspective.

DELAWARE INVESTMENTS

Portfolio Manager/D. Tysen Nutt, Jr.

Senior Vice President, Senior Portfolio Manager, Team Leader

Investment Style/Value – Delaware uses a research-intensive approach to identify companies it believes are undervalued as indicated by multiple factors, including the earnings and cash flow potential or the assets of the company. Delaware seeks to buy companies at times of excessive pessimism and sell at times of undue optimism.

PZENA INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT, LLC

Portfolio Managers/Richard S. Pzena, Founder and Co-Chief Investment Officer

John J. Flynn, Principal and Portfolio Manager

Benjamin S. Silver, CFA, Principal and Co-Director of Research

Investment Style/Value – Pzena uses fundamental research and a disciplined process to identify good companies with a sustainable business advantage that the firm believes are undervalued on the basis of current price to an estimated normal level of earnings.

SUSTAINABLE GROWTH ADVISERS, LP

Portfolio Manager/George Fraise

Founding Principal

Investment Style/Growth – Sustainable Growth Advisers (SGA) focuses on companies that have unique characteristics that lead to a high degree of predictability, strong profitability and above-average earnings and cash flow growth over the long term.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Manager Roundtable

(Unaudited)

TCW INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT COMPANY

Portfolio Manager/Craig C. Blum, CFA

Managing Director

Investment Style/Growth – TCW invests in companies that have superior sales growth, leading and/or rising market shares, and high and/or rising profit margins. TCW’s concentrated growth equity strategy seeks companies with distinct advantages in their business model.

How do you assess 2016 in general and, more specifically, what industries, sectors or strategies helped and/or hurt returns in the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund that you manage? Rich, how does Pzena assess the year?

Pzena (Pzena – Value): Investor sentiment shifted mid-year toward economically sensitive sectors and away from the previous market leaders such as health care, consumer staples and utilities, with the trend accelerating after the U.S. presidential election. Our portfolio significantly outperformed in this environment as we were finding most of our opportunities in economically sensitive businesses, with holdings in the energy, technology, financial and producer durable sectors making the largest contributions. We had little exposure to consumer staples, health care and utilities (so-called bond proxies) which underperformed, also helping our relative performance as we were finding few values in those sectors. Although some consumer discretionary holdings and our lack of exposure to a recovery in materials detracted from performance, it was Pzena’s strongest year from both an absolute and relative basis since 2013. Despite the strong performance, valuation spreads continue to be wide, an environment that historically has signaled good opportunity for value outperformance.

“Despite [our] strong performance [in 2016], valuation spreads continue to be wide, an environment that historically has signaled good opportunity for value outperformance.”

—Rich Pzena
(Pzena – Value)

Thanks. Let’s stay with the value managers and ask Aristotle Capital and Delaware Investments to comment on 2016. Howard, will you lead off for Aristotle?

Gleicher (Aristotle – Value): For 2016, the primary contributors to the portfolio were the industrials, information technology and financials sectors, and security selection was the main driver of outperformance relative to our benchmark, the Russell 1000® Value Index. The primary detractors were the consumer staples, health care and energy sectors. Security selection in consumer staples, as opposed to sector allocation in the other two sectors, contributed to the underperformance relative to the benchmark. As always, all sector over-and underweights relative to the Index resulted from bottom-up security selection rather than tactical allocation decisions.

Nutt (Delaware – Value): The year brought a number of reversals and surprises. The market pendulum swung from growth to value and from defensives to cyclicals. It even swung from fear to greed as evidenced by the S&P 500 Index posting a double-digit total return for the year following its worst yearly start ever. The U.K. vote to leave the European Union surprised the markets, as did Donald Trump’s victory in the U.S. presidential election. We were surprised by the speed and magnitude of the stock market’s rise following the election results. The portion of the Fund’s portfolio we manage maintained a defensive tilt during the year, which ended up hurting relative performance. Our overweight allocation to health care and stock selection in the information technology sector were notable detractors from returns. Conversely, our overweight positioning in telecommunication services and stock selection in the energy sector were solid contributors to performance.

Let's turn to the growth style managers and hear from TCW and Sustainable.

Blum (TCW – Growth): We were disappointed with our results in 2016. We believe the year can be divided into three distinct periods: January –February 11 (market bottom), February 12 –November 8 (election) and election through year-end. The first period marked the worst stock market start to a calendar year in history and our underperformance was driven primarily by information technology and health care as the market favored bond proxies during the sell-off. While many of our stocks bounced back during the second period, the rebound was mostly offset by the price deterioration experienced in some of our health care holdings. In the third period, the “Trump effect” resulted in a market rally in deep cyclical stocks and a belief that Trump is going to be able to magically unleash massive debt-funded government infrastructure-spending programs. While our holdings in the financials rallied during the third period, our strategy underperformed as many information technology holdings were discarded in favor of deep cyclicals.

“The ‘Trump effect’ resulted in a market rally [after the election]... While our holdings in the financials rallied... our strategy underperformed as many information technology holdings were discarded in favor of deep cyclicals.”

—Craig Blum
(TCW – Growth)

Fraise (Sustainable – Growth): We also were disappointed with our results in 2016, which were impacted late in the year by the shift in investor sentiment resulting from the November election. Driven by hope for more pro-growth fiscal and regulatory policies under a Trump administration and a Republican-controlled Congress, low quality, smaller-cap and value stocks staged a major rally, largely in stocks very different from the types on which our approach is focused. Companies with lower returns on equity, more cyclicity and higher betas, and more debt outperformed in November and December. Stocks in the energy, financial services and industrials sectors performed best on expectations for greater economic growth, a paring back of the regulatory oversight under Dodd-Frank and significant new infrastructure spending. While we have exposure to select energy service businesses, and they helped us, our focus on strong pricing power, predictable revenue streams and long runways of growth generally steers us away from large money center banks with a high degree of dependence on interest rate spreads as well as deep cyclical stocks, which are highly sensitive to the business cycle.

Let's look at the event that had a major impact on the fourth quarter of 2016 and should affect 2017 and beyond—the election of Donald Trump. The Fund's investment managers are generally bottom-up, fundamentally-based in their approach to picking stocks. But it is hard to ignore one major macro factor—the so-called “Trump effect.” Are you or are you not factoring such sweeping proposals as corporate tax reform, infrastructure build, healthcare legislation and a lighter approach to regulation into your thinking, and why or why not? Let's stay with the growth managers and ask George Fraise to start us off.

Fraise (Sustainable – Growth): We do consider the impact of changes to regulatory and tax policy, health care legislation, and infrastructure spending on the trajectory of the earnings and cash flows of our portfolio businesses. Given the uncertainty around the magnitude of any final legislation, however, we focus the vast majority of our attention on the key drivers of secular growth, which are more critical over the long term and more predictable. While there is significant hope in the market for positive changes in the areas you note, we are very cognizant of the difficulties of trying to forecast the outcome of the political process. We believe positive changes to regulatory and tax policy will occur, and have factored an increase in infrastructure spending and a reduction in tax rates into our expectations, but we are skeptical that the eventual changes enacted will necessarily be of the magnitude currently being assumed by buoyant investors. As a result, we think there could be disappointment on the part of investors who have factored in a meaningful sustained improvement in economic growth. While they have been largely overlooked in the recent “Trump rally,” we are confident that select businesses with superior underlying quality and growth characteristics—enabling them to generate higher revenues and earnings in a more predictable and sustainable manner—will attract the interest of investors as current hopes meet the realities of getting such changes enacted.

(Sustainable – Growth)

Blum (TCW – Growth): Despite experiencing the worst economic downturn since the Great Depression, the U.S. economy hasn’t produced real growth higher than 3 percent since 2005. We believe Trump’s surprise election and the Republican sweep could represent a sea change in policy and the end of secular stagnation. While much has been made of a potential infrastructure build, we believe corporate tax reform and reduced regulation are more likely in the near term. This would be bullish for the economy. The near-to intermediate-term is always difficult to forecast but enough is new and different that, yes, we are factoring in the potential for a steeper industrial demand curve, revived inflation expectations and a reigniting of the U.S. economy.

How do the value managers assess the “Trump effect?” Ty Nutt, please start us off.

Nutt (Delaware – Value): Our investment process includes a top-down component, what we call our macro-economic overlay. As part of this, we are certainly considering the potential consequences of the new administration’s policy proposals. Stronger economic growth seems plausible to us if tax cuts and regulatory reforms are enacted. We have questions about the timing and implementation of these changes as it may be a while before their impacts are realized. Also, we wonder about any offsetting effects that could arise from restrictions on global trade. Additionally, we think it’s worth noting that some of the challenges to global growth that existed prior to the election, such as high levels of indebtedness and aging populations, are still in place. In 2017 and beyond, we’ll be watching policy developments in Washington, D.C., assessing their potential impact on portfolio holdings as well as the opportunities that could be created by them.

Thanks. Now let's hear from Howard Gleicher and Rich Pzena.

Gleicher (Aristotle – Value): We did not attempt to reposition our portfolio prior to the election, which, in hindsight, was wise, given the outcome that surprised many, if not most. Nor have we made investment decisions since the election based on our expectations of what the Trump administration will bring. Any tax, spending or regulatory changes are unknowable in probability, scope and timing, as are the impacts of any such changes. We do not make decisions based on so many unknown variables. Rather, we endeavor to identify and invest in a diverse but limited number of high-quality companies that we believe will outperform their peers regardless of the economic, political or regulatory environment. Historically, we have been able to add value through in-depth company research. Therefore, we choose to focus on what we know, what we can analyze and what we—and the companies in which we invest—can control. It is our belief that a diversified portfolio of investments in these companies will hold up best regardless of the environment and will optimize risk-adjusted performance for our clients.

Most quarters, we are reminded that macroeconomic events, or “the news of the day” like the Brexit vote, may cause stock prices to temporarily diverge from company fundamentals. As always, we will incorporate this new information into our investment process but will not allow it to impact our daily discipline of seeking out unique and value-creating businesses. Every once in a while something happens in the market that could be meaningful. Some may not impact the financial markets, other events may impact only the financial markets. Our analysts are researching companies that have nothing to do with what is happening on any given day, and that is a competitive advantage of ours.

“Every once in a while something happens in the market that could be meaningful. Some may not impact the financial markets, other events may impact only the financial markets. Our analysts are researching companies that have nothing to do with what is happening on any given day.”

—Howard Gleicher
(Aristotle – Value)

Pzena (Pzena – Value): Our investment decisions are bottom-up research focused and based on finding good businesses where temporary conditions have led to earnings weakness and deep undervaluation. Our experience is that as long as the business franchise is sound, management finds a way to adapt to the macro environment and restore earnings to historical levels. Although we do not ignore macro factors, we are not counting on them as the only path to earnings normalization. That said, changes in macro expectations (the “Trump effect”) have helped accelerate re-valuation, i.e., higher interest rates benefitting stock prices of banks, and likewise create opportunity where uncertainty has increased, i.e., health care. Uncertainty and volatility create buying opportunities and we are focused on the longer-term earnings power of businesses. Our approach is to focus on individual businesses where the franchise has the ability to evolve with the environment and where the valuation offers downside support.

Let's turn to a closer look at the Fund's portfolio. Please tell us about a longtime holding in the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund portfolio that you manage that exemplifies your approach to investing, and tell us about a recent addition that similarly illustrates your approach. Craig Blum, share TCW's insight with us, please.

Blum (TCW – Growth): We first purchased Amazon over 14 years ago. Amazon's long-term investments have created immense scale advantages and the company is one of the most disruptive forces in retail and technology. Amazon continues to take market share from offline retailers, in fact today Amazon's market capitalization exceeds that of most major brick and mortar retailers combined. Moreover, Amazon Web Services (AWS) is the leading public cloud provider and is immensely profitable. Amazon's revenues have grown at a compound annual rate averaging 20 percent over the past five years and we believe the company's long-term growth profile remains robust.

We purchased Adobe Systems in the first quarter of 2016. Adobe remains the unmatched leader in creative software and the digitalization of the global economy is only broadening the demand for Adobe's creative products. The company has successfully navigated the transition from a license software-based business model to the cloud and we believe Adobe is now at a growth inflection point with a total addressable market that continues to expand.

George Fraise, tell us about two holdings that you like.

Fraise (Sustainable – Growth): Mondelez, a leading global packaged foods company focused on snacking, has been a holding of SGA's since 2014. The company's pricing power benefits from strong brands and number one or number two market shares in every category in which it competes. Its revenues are highly recurring in nature due to the natural desire by consumers for energy and treats. Its snacks are easily packaged into a variety of configurations and distributed across a broad range of retail channels at low price points. In addition to its organic growth drivers, we expect Mondelez to continue to benefit from management's steps to substantially improve operating margins as the company modernizes and realigns its outdated supply chain and manufacturing base and utilizes a zero-based budgeting system to efficiently manage operating expenses. This should lead to mid-teens earnings and cash flow growth over the next few years.

A recent addition is UnitedHealth, the largest health insurance and health services company in the U.S. The company has the largest market share in a relatively consolidated market, where its scale and technology provide it the ability to match or underprice its competitors while still being able to offer customers greater health-related cost savings. The company earns a large percentage of its revenues from existing clients' contract renewals in their United Healthcare and OptumRX businesses. And, since 2008, the company also has greater exposure to Medicare and Medicaid, making it less sensitive to general business conditions. With over 4 million Americans becoming eligible for Medicare every year, demographic trends will bring the company more patients in the private-and government-run sectors, again making effective cost management an ever-increasing need. These factors enhance the recurring revenue model at UnitedHealth and provide more predictability in forecasting its revenues and earnings over the three-to-five-year time horizon that we focus on.

Let's close by asking the value managers to give a look at two of their portfolio holdings. Rich Pzena, please start us off.

Pzena (Pzena – Value): Long-time holding Bank of America has the largest deposit franchise in the United States, as well as a significant investment bank and mortgage business. We believe the business has multiple paths to earnings normalization that include self-help actions, higher interest rates and increased securities trading activity. Most of its businesses continue to show year-on-year growth and the bank continues to bring down expenses. We believe the upside in earnings remains substantial, making Bank of America an attractive opportunity.

We initiated a position in Seagate Technology, a leader in hard disk drives, in late 2015 then increased our position when it missed earnings in early 2016. Investors are mainly worried about solid state drives overtaking Seagate's offerings, but a 10-to-1 cost advantage over solid state should provide longevity to Seagate's hard disk franchise. We like the two-player industry structure, and see a big opportunity for Seagate to restore earnings by rationalizing its cost structure while returning capital to shareholders through its aggressive stock buy-back program.

Ty Nutt and Howard Gleicher, wrap it up for us, please.

Nutt (Delaware – Value): Marsh & McLennan is a long-term holding in our strategy. It is a leading global insurance brokerage and professional services firm. Marsh & McLennan had undergone significant turmoil and transformation in the years leading up to our purchase and represented compelling value to us. The company has good discipline around expenses and its balance sheet is solid. Against the backdrop of a sluggish global economy, the firm is capable of delivering double-digit earnings per share expansion through organic growth, acquisitions, positive operating leverage and capital management.

We recently added a position in Abbott Laboratories, a leading medical products company that we had previously owned in our strategy from 2001 to 2008. Abbott is in the process of transforming itself into a leading provider of cardiovascular products through its impending acquisition of heart-device maker St. Jude Medical. While investors, generally, have not shown much enthusiasm for the deal, we think the combination makes long-term strategic and financial sense. Both Abbott and St. Jude Medical are dominant players in the markets they serve, although the two stocks have underperformed peers over the past year. When combined, Abbott-St. Jude will have a number one or number two market share position in eight categories across its cardiovascular product portfolio.

Gleicher (Aristotle – Value): We have owned and/or followed Archer Daniels Midland—and its close competitor Bunge—for more than 12 years. We added it again to our clients' portfolios during 2015. In our view, Chicago-based Archer Daniels continues to transform itself and adapt to an ever-changing global agricultural landscape. As one of the largest integrated agricultural services companies in a consolidating industry, the company participates in all aspects of food production after farming and before cooking. While somewhat cyclical by the nature of its industry, Archer Daniels is adapting and transforming itself into a more predictable, more value-added food and agricultural services company. The company continues to satisfy all three criteria requisite for inclusion in Aristotle Capital client portfolios.

We recently added PPG Industries, the world's second-largest coatings company, to the Fund. In our view, among the high-quality characteristics PPG possesses are: a strong market position in a consolidating industry, close relationships with customers and a diverse, differentiated product set, all of which yield pricing power. PPG also has historically produced predictable financial results, including consistent free cash flow generation, with fairly low cyclicity, a trait difficult to find in the materials sector.

Many thanks to all. After a difficult start and several challenging periods, 2016 turned out to be a reasonably good year. Two thousand seventeen opened on a much more positive note, and we hope the year ends the same way. One thing is certain: Given all the forces at work in the marketplace today, it will not lack for interest.

Liberty All-Star[®] Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION

Liberty All Star[®] Equity Fund (the “Fund”) is a Massachusetts business trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “Act”), as amended, as a diversified, closed end management investment company.

Investment Goal

The Fund seeks total investment return comprised of long term capital appreciation and current income through investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of equity securities.

Fund Shares

The Fund may issue an unlimited number of shares of beneficial interest.

NOTE 2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The Fund is considered an investment company under U.S. GAAP and follows the accounting and reporting guidance applicable to investment companies in the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification Topic 946.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Security Valuation

Equity securities are valued at the last sale price at the close of the principal exchange on which they trade, except for securities listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market LLC (“NASDAQ”), which are valued at the NASDAQ official closing price. Unlisted securities or listed securities for which there were no sales during the day are valued at the closing bid price on such exchanges or over the counter markets.

Cash collateral from securities lending activity is reinvested in the State Street Navigator Securities Lending Government Money Market Portfolio, registered investment company under the 1940 Act, which operates as a money market fund in compliance with Rule 2a-7 under the 1940 Act. Shares of registered investment companies are valued daily at that investment company’s net asset value per share. Repurchase agreements are valued at cost, which approximates fair value.

The Fund’s investments are valued at market value or, in the absence of market value with respect to any portfolio securities, at fair value according to procedures adopted by the Fund’s Board of Trustees (the “Board”). When market quotations are not readily available, or in management’s judgment they do not accurately reflect fair value of a security, or an event occurs after the market close but before the Fund is priced that materially affects the value of a security, the securities will be valued by the Fund’s Fair Valuation Committee using fair valuation procedures established by the Board. Examples of potentially significant events that could materially impact the value of a security include, but are not limited to: single issuer events such as corporate actions, reorganizations, mergers, spin offs, liquidations, acquisitions and buyouts; corporate announcements on earnings or product offerings; regulatory news; and litigation and multiple issuer events such as governmental actions; natural disasters or armed conflicts that affect a country or a region; or significant market fluctuations. Potential significant events are monitored by the

Advisor ALPS Advisors Inc. (the “Advisor”), Sub Advisers and/or the Valuation Committee through independent reviews of market indicators, general news sources and communications from the Fund’s custodian. As of December 31, 2016, the Fund held no securities that were fair valued.

34 www.all-starfunds.com

Liberty All-Star[®] Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

Security Transactions

Security transactions are recorded on trade date. Cost is determined and gains/(losses) are based upon the specific identification method for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes.

Income Recognition

Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Corporate actions and dividend income are recorded on the ex date.

The Fund estimates components of distributions from real estate investment trusts (“REITs”). Distributions received in excess of income are recorded as a reduction of the cost of the related investments. Once the REIT reports annually the tax character of its distributions, the Fund revises its estimates. If the Fund no longer owns the applicable securities, any distributions received in excess of income are recorded as realized gains.

Lending of Portfolio Securities

The Fund may lend its portfolio securities only to borrowers that are approved by the Fund’s securities lending agent, State Street Bank & Trust Co. (“SSB”). The Fund will limit such lending to not more than 30% of the value of its total assets. The borrower pledges and maintains with the Fund collateral consisting of cash (U.S. Dollar only), securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or its agencies or instrumentalities, or by irrevocable bank letters of credit issued by a person other than the Borrower or an affiliate of the Borrower. The initial collateral received by the Fund is required to have a value of no less than 102% of the market value of the loaned securities for securities traded on U.S. exchanges and a value of no less than 105% of the market value for all other securities. The collateral is maintained thereafter, at a market value equal to no less than 100% of the current value of the securities on loan. The market value of the loaned securities is determined at the close of each business day and any additional required collateral is delivered to the Fund on the next business day. During the term of the loan, the Fund is entitled to all distributions made on or in respect of the loaned securities. Loans of securities are terminable at any time and the borrower, after notice, is required to return borrowed securities within the standard time period for settlement of securities transactions.

Any cash collateral received is reinvested in a money market fund managed by SSB as disclosed in the Fund’s Schedule of Investments and is reflected in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities as a payable for collateral upon return of securities loaned. Non cash collateral, in the form of securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or its agencies or instrumentalities, is not disclosed in the Fund’s Statements of Assets and Liabilities as it is held by the lending agent on behalf of the Fund and the Fund does not have the ability to re hypothecate these securities. Income earned by the Fund from securities lending activity is disclosed in the Statement of Operations.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

The following is a summary of the Fund's securities lending agreement and related cash and non-cash collateral received as of December 31, 2016:

	Market Value of Securities on Loan	Cash Collateral Received	Non-Cash Collateral Received	Total Collateral Received
Liberty All Star® Equity Fund	$13,402,360	$9,369,253	$4,357,823	$13,727,076

The risks of securities lending include the risk that the borrower may not provide additional collateral when required or may not return the securities when due. To mitigate these risks, the Fund benefits from a borrower default indemnity provided by SSB. SSB's indemnity allows for full replacement of securities lent wherein SSB will purchase the unreturned loaned securities on the open market by applying the proceeds of the collateral, or to the extent such proceeds are insufficient or the collateral is unavailable, SSB will purchase the unreturned loan securities at SSB's expense. However, the Fund could suffer a loss if the value of the investments purchased with cash collateral falls below the value of the cash collateral received.

The following table reflects a breakdown of transactions accounted for as secured borrowings, the gross obligation by the type of collateral pledged or securities loaned, and the remaining contractual maturity of those transactions as of December 31, 2016:

Liberty All Star® Equity Fund	Remaining contractual maturity of the agreement					Total
	Overnight & Continuous	Up to 30 days	30-90 days	Greater than 90 days
Securities Lending Transactions	$9,369,253	$ -	$ -	$ -		$9,369,253
Total Borrowings						9,369,253
Gross amount of recognized liabilities for securities lending (collateral received)						$9,369,253

Fair Value Measurements

The Fund discloses the classification of its fair value measurements following a three-tier hierarchy based on the inputs used to measure fair value. Inputs refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk. Inputs may be observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity. Unobservable inputs reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on the best information available.

Valuation techniques used to value the Fund's investments by major category are as follows:

Equity securities that are value based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy. In the event there were no sales during the day or closing prices are not available, securities are valued at the mean of the most recent quoted bid and ask prices on such day and are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Investments in open end mutual funds are valued at their closing NAV each business day and are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy.

36 www.all-starfunds.com

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments as of the end of the reporting period. When inputs used fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the level in the hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The designated input levels are not necessarily an indication of the risk or liquidity associated with these investments.

These inputs are categorized in the following hierarchy under applicable financial accounting standards:

Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical investments, unrestricted assets or liabilities that a Fund has the ability to access at the measurement date;

Level 2 Quoted prices which are not active, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets or inputs other than quoted prices that are observable (either directly or indirectly) for substantially the full term of the asset or liability; and

Level 3 Significant unobservable prices or inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments) where there is little or no market activity for the asset or liability at the measurement date.

The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's investments as of December 31, 2016:

	Valuation Inputs			Total
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Investments in Securities at Value*
Common Stocks	$1,129,693,303	$ -	$ -	$1,129,693,303
Short Term Investment	44,508,132	-	-	44,508,132
Investments Purchased with Collateral from Securities Loaned	9,369,253	-	-	9,369,253
Total	$1,183,570,688	$ -	$ -	$1,183,570,688

*See Schedule of Investments for industry classifications.

The Fund recognizes transfers between the levels as of the end of the period. For the year ended December 31, 2016, the Fund did not have any transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 securities. The Fund did not have any securities that used significant unobservable inputs (Level 3) in determining fair value during the period.

Distributions to Shareholders

The Fund currently has a policy of paying distributions on its shares of beneficial interest totaling approximately 8% of its net asset value per year. The distributions are payable in four quarterly distributions of 2% of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the NYSE on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Distributions to shareholders are recorded on ex date.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

NOTE 3. FEDERAL TAX INFORMATION AND TAX BASIS INFORMATION

The timing and character of income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. Reclassifications are made to the Fund's capital accounts for permanent tax differences to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryforwards) under income tax regulations. If, for any calendar year, the total distributions made under the distribution policy exceed the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains, the excess will generally be treated as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the shareholder's adjusted basis in his or her shares. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute net realized capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

Classification of Distributions to Shareholders

Net investment income and net realized gain/(loss) may differ for financial statement and tax purposes. The character of distributions made during the year from net investment income or net realized gains may differ from its ultimate characterization for federal income tax purposes. The amounts and characteristics of tax basis distributions and composition of distributable earnings/(accumulated losses) are finalized at fiscal year end. Also, due to the timing of dividend distributions, the fiscal year in which amounts are distributed may differ from the fiscal year in which the income or realized gain was recorded by the Fund.

For the year ended December 31, 2016, permanent book and tax basis differences resulting primarily from excess distributions were identified and reclassified among the components of the Fund's net assets as follows:

Accumulated Net Investment Loss	Accumulated Net Realized Loss	Paid-In Capital
$(9,734,919)	$(11,345)	$9,746,264

The tax character distributions paid during the years ended December 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015 were as follows:

Distributions Paid From:	12/31/2016	12/31/2015
Ordinary Income	$21,742,399	$-
Long term capital gains	57,847,299	92,237,880
Return of Capital	9,746,264	-
Total	$89,335,962	$92,237,880

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2016

As of December 31, 2016, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were as follows:

Accumulated Capital Gains	Net Unrealized Appreciation	Other Cumulative Effect of Timing Differences	Total
$-	$134,013,716	$(11,250,886)	$122,762,830

As of December 31, 2016, the cost of investments for federal income tax purposes and accumulated net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments was as follows:

Cost of Investments	Gross unrealized Appreciation (excess of value over tax cost)	Gross unrealized Depreciation (excess of tax cost over value)	Net Unrealized Appreciation
$1,049,556,972	$190,832,585	$(56,818,869)	$134,013,716

The differences between book basis and tax basis are primarily due to deferral of losses from wash sales and the differing treatment of certain other investments.

The Fund elected to defer to the fiscal year ending December 31, 2017, late year ordinary losses in the amount of $238.

Federal Income Tax Status

For federal income tax purposes, the Fund currently qualifies, and intends to remain qualified, as a regulated investment company under the provisions of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, by distributing substantially all of its investment company taxable net income including realized gain, not offset by capital loss carryforwards, if any, to its shareholders. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise taxes has been made.

As of and during the year ended December 31, 2016, the Fund did not have a liability for any unrecognized tax benefits. The Fund files U.S. federal, state, and local tax returns as required. The Fund's tax returns are subject to examination by the relevant tax authorities until expiration of the applicable statute of limitations, which is generally three years after the filing of the tax return. Tax returns for open years have incorporated no uncertain tax positions that require a provision for income taxes.

NOTE 4. FEES AND COMPENSATION PAID TO AFFILIATES

ALPS Advisors, Inc. ("AAI") serves as the investment advisor to the Fund. AAI receives a monthly investment advisory fee based on the Fund's average daily net assets at the following annual rates:

Liberty All-Star[®] Equity Fund Notes to Financial Statements

 December 31, 2016

Average Daily Net Assets	Annual Fee Rate
First $400 million	0.400%

NOTE 7. INDEMNIFICATION

In the normal course of business, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties and which provide general indemnities. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims against the Fund. Also, under the Fund's organizational documents and by contract, the Trustees and Officers of the Fund are indemnified against certain liabilities that may arise out of their duties to the Fund. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss due to these warranties and indemnities to be minimal.

NOTE 8. TRUSTEES FEES

As of December 31, 2016, there were six Trustees, five of whom are not "interested persons" of the Fund within the meaning of that term under the 1940 Act (each, an "Independent Trustee"). The Independent Chairman of the Board receives a quarterly retainer of $8,250; the Independent Audit Committee Chairman receives a quarterly retainer of $5,750; the Nominating and Governance Committee ("Nominating Committee") Chairman receives a quarterly retainer of $5,000; and all other Independent Trustees receive a quarterly retainer of $4,500. Each Independent Trustee also receives a meeting fee of $4,500 for attendance in person at a regular scheduled meeting or a special meeting; $4,500 for attendance by telephone at a regular meeting; and $1,000 for attendance by telephone for a special meeting. Each Audit Committee member receives $4,500 for attendance at an in person Audit Committee meeting and $1,000 for attendance at a telephonic Audit Committee meeting. Each Nominating Committee member receives $1,000 for attendance at an in person or telephonic Nominating Committee meeting. If an Audit Committee or Nominating Committee meeting is held in conjunction with a regular or special board meeting, the Trustees are only compensated for the regular or special board meeting. Independent Trustees are also reimbursed for all reasonable out of pocket expenses relating to attendance at meetings. Trustees' fees are allocated between the Fund and the Liberty All Star® Growth Fund, Inc. One third of the Trustees' fees are equally shared and the remaining two thirds are allocated based on each Fund's proportionate share of total net assets. Trustees' fees and expenses accrued by the Fund for the year ending December 31, 2016 are reported on the Statement of Operations.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Report of Independent Registered
Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of the Trustees and Shareholders of Liberty All Star® Equity Fund:

We have audited the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities of Liberty All Star® Equity Fund (the “Fund”), including the schedule of investments, as of December 31, 2016, and the related statement of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended. These financial statements and financial highlights are the responsibility of the Fund’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and financial highlights based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and financial highlights are free of material misstatement. The Fund is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Fund’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of December 31, 2016, by correspondence with the custodian and brokers; when replies were not received from brokers, we performed other auditing procedures. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, such financial statements and financial highlights referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Liberty All Star® Equity Fund as of December 31, 2016, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund Automatic Dividend Reinvestment and
Direct Purchase Plan

(Unaudited)

Under the Fund's Automatic Dividend Reinvestment and Direct Purchase Plan (the "Plan"), shareholders automatically participate and have all their Fund dividends and distributions reinvested by Computershare Trust Company, N.A., as agent for participants in the Plan (the "Plan Agent"), in additional shares of the Fund. For further information, call Investor Assistance at 1 800 LIB FUND (1 800 542 3863) weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern Time.

Shareholders whose shares are held in the name of a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee can participate in the Plan only if their brokerage firm, bank or nominee is able to do so on their behalf. Shareholders participating in the Plan through a brokerage firm may not be able to transfer their shares to another brokerage firm and continue to participate in the Plan.

Under the Plan, all dividends and distributions will be reinvested in additional shares of the Fund. Distributions declared payable in cash will be reinvested for the accounts of participants in the Plan in additional shares purchased by the Plan Agent on the open market at prevailing market prices. If, prior to the Plan Agent's completion of such open market purchases, the market price of a share plus estimated brokerage commissions exceeds the net asset value, the remainder of the distribution will be paid in newly issued shares valued at net asset value (but not at a discount of more than 5% from market price). Distributions declared payable in shares (or cash at the option of shareholders) are paid to participants in the Plan entirely in newly issued full and fractional shares valued at the lower of market value or net asset value per share on the valuation date for the distribution (but not at a discount of more than 5 percent from market price). Dividends and distributions are subject to taxation, whether received in cash or in shares.

Plan participants have the option of making additional investments of $100 or more on a monthly basis up to a maximum of $120,000 in a calendar year. These direct purchases will be invested on or shortly after the 15th of each month and direct purchases should be sent so as to be received by the Plan Agent at least two business days prior to the next investment date. Barring suspension of trading, direct purchases will be invested within 35 days after such date. Alternatively, participants can authorize an automatic monthly deduction from a checking or savings account at a U.S. bank or other financial institution. A participant may withdraw a direct purchase by written notice received by the Plan Agent at least two business days before such payment is to be invested.

The Plan Agent maintains all shareholder accounts in the Plan and furnishes confirmations of all transactions in the account, including information needed by shareholders for tax records. Shares in the account of each Plan participant will be held by the Plan Agent in book entry or noncertificated form in the name of the participant, and each shareholder's proxy will include those shares purchased or received pursuant to the Plan.

There is no charge to participants for reinvesting distributions pursuant to the Plan. The Plan Agent's fees are paid by the Fund, therefore indirectly by shareholders. There are no brokerage charges with respect to shares issued directly by the Fund as a result of dividends or distributions declared payable in shares. However, each participant bears a per share fee (which includes any brokerage commissions the Plan Agent is required to pay) incurred with respect to the Plan Agent's open market purchases in connection with the reinvestment of distributions declared payable in cash.

Direct Purchase Plan

(Unaudited)

With respect to direct purchases, the Plan Agent will charge $1.25 for purchase by check and $2.00 for automatic investment transactions, plus a per share fee (which includes any brokerage commissions the Plan Agent is required to pay). Sales of shares held in the Plan will also be subject to a service fee of $2.50 and a per share fee currently $0.10. All fees described in this summary are subject to change. Please contact the Plan Agent for the current fees.

Shareholders may terminate their participation in the Plan by notifying the Plan Agent by telephone, through the Internet or in writing. Such termination will be effective immediately if notice is received by The Plan Agent prior to any dividend record date and all subsequent dividends and distributions will be paid in cash instead of shares.

The Fund reserves the right to amend or terminate the Plan.

(Unaudited)

The Investment Company Act of 1940 requires that the Board of Trustees (“Board”) of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund (“Fund”), including all of the Trustees who are not “interested persons” of the Fund (“Independent Trustees”), annually review the Fund’s investment advisory agreements and consider whether to renew them for an additional year. At its meeting on September 8, 2016, the Board, including a majority of the Independent Trustees, conducted such a review and approved the continuation of the Fund Management Agreement between the Fund and ALPS Advisors, Inc. (“AAI”) and two separate Portfolio Management Agreements among the Fund, AAI and the following independent investment management firms: Pzena Investment Management, LLC (“Pzena”) and TCW Investment Management Company (“TCW”). Pzena and TCW are collectively referred to as “Portfolio Managers,” and each a “Portfolio Manager.”

Prior to the Board’s action, the Independent Trustees met to consider management’s recommendations with respect to the renewal of the Fund Management Agreement and the Portfolio Management Agreements (each, an “Agreement” and, collectively, the “Agreements”). In reaching its decision to renew each Agreement, the Board considered the overall fairness of each Agreement and whether each Agreement was in the best interest of the Fund. The Board further considered factors it deemed relevant with respect to the Fund, including (1) the nature, extent and quality of services provided to the Fund by AAI, its affiliates, and each Portfolio Manager; (2) the performance of the Fund and the Portfolio Managers; (3) the level of the Fund’s management and portfolio management fees and expense ratios; (4) the costs of the services provided and profits realized by AAI and its affiliates from their relationship with the Fund; (5) the extent to which economies of scale would be realized as the Fund grows and whether fee levels will reflect economies of scale for the benefit of shareholders; (6) the “fall-out” benefits to AAI, each Portfolio Manager and their respective affiliates (i.e., any direct or indirect benefits to be derived by AAI, each Portfolio Manager and their respective affiliates from their relationships with the Fund); and (7) other general information about AAI and each Portfolio Manager. In considering each Agreement, the Board did not identify any single factor or information as all-important or controlling and each Independent Trustee may have attributed different weight to each factor.

The Board considered these factors in the context of the Fund’s multi-manager methodology, which seeks to achieve more consistent and less volatile performance over the long term than if a single Portfolio Manager was employed. The Fund allocates its portfolio assets among Portfolio Managers recommended by AAI and approved by the Board, currently five for the Fund. The Board considered that each Portfolio Manager employs a different investment style and/or strategy, and from time to time AAI rebalances the Fund’s portfolio assets among the Portfolio Managers. The Board also took into account that AAI continuously analyzes and evaluates each Portfolio Manager’s investment performance and portfolio composition and, from time to time, recommends changes in the Portfolio Managers.

In connection with its deliberations, the Board considered information furnished throughout the year at regular Board meetings, as well as information prepared specifically in connection with the annual renewal and approval process. Information furnished and discussed throughout the year included AAI’s analysis of the Fund’s investment performance and related financial information for the Fund, presentations given by the Fund’s Portfolio Managers, as well as periodic reports on legal, compliance, brokerage commissions and execution and other services provided by AAI, the Portfolio Managers and their affiliates. Information furnished specifically in connection with the renewal process included, among other things, a report of the Fund’s investment performance over various time periods as compared to a peer universe and a market index and the Fund’s fees and expenses as compared to comparable groups of closed-end funds and open-end multi-managed funds based, in part, on information prepared by AAI and Broadridge Financial Solutions regarding review of the Lipper peer groups. The information provided by AAI generally included information reflecting the Fund’s management fees, expense ratios, investment performance and profitability, including AAI’s profitability with respect to the Fund.

(Unaudited)

As part of the process to consider the Agreements, legal counsel to the Independent Trustees requested information from AAI and each Portfolio Manager up for renewal. In response to these requests, the Board received reports from AAI and each Portfolio Manager up for renewal that addressed specific factors designed to inform the Independent Trustees consideration of each Agreement. Counsel also provided the Independent Trustees and the Board with a memorandum discussing the legal standards applicable to their consideration of the Agreements. Based on its evaluation of all material factors, the Board unanimously concluded that the terms of each Agreement were reasonable and fair and that the renewal of each Agreement was in the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders. The following is a summary of the Board's considerations.

Nature, Extent and Quality of the Services Provided

The Board considered the nature, extent and quality of the portfolio manager selection, evaluation and monitoring services provided by AAI, and the portfolio management services provided by each Portfolio Manager up for renewal, in light of the investment objective of the Fund. The Board also considered the nature, extent and quality of the administrative services provided to the Fund by ALPS Fund Services, Inc., an affiliate of AAI. The Board considered the steps that AAI has taken to encourage strong performance, including AAI's willingness to recommend Portfolio Manager changes when necessary to address performance issues. The Board also took into consideration the changes in Portfolio Managers that occurred in 2015 and 2016.

In addition, the Board considered the demonstrated consistency in investment approach of each Portfolio Manager up for renewal. The Board considered that TCW manages a sleeve of the large- cap growth portion of the Fund's portfolio and that Pzena manages a large-cap value portion of the Fund's portfolio.

The Board considered the background and experience of the personnel at AAI responsible for Portfolio Manager selection, evaluation and monitoring for the Fund and the personnel at each Portfolio Manager responsible for managing the Fund's portfolio. The Board also considered the overall financial strength of AAI and each Portfolio Manager, the effect on the Fund of any turnover in personnel at each Portfolio Manager, the insurance maintained by AAI and each Portfolio Manager and the compliance records of AAI and each Portfolio Manager. The Board concluded that the nature, extent and quality of the services provided by AAI and the Portfolio Managers up for renewal were appropriate and consistent with the terms of the Agreements and that the Fund was likely to continue to benefit from services provided under the Agreements.

Investment Performance

The Board considered the long-term and short-term investment performance of the Fund over multiple periods, which generally included annual total returns both on an absolute basis and relative to an appropriate benchmark and/or Lipper peer group. The Board considered the Fund's performance based on both net asset value ("NAV") and market price and, in general, considered long-term performance to be more important in its evaluation than short-term performance. In addition, the Board considered the performance of the Fund's Portfolio Managers that were up for renewal, including the performance of other investment companies and accounts managed by the Portfolio Managers and the performance of the allocated portions of the Fund in the context of the Portfolio Manager's different investment strategies and styles and the contribution of each Portfolio Manager to the Fund's overall strategy and performance.

(Unaudited)

Among other information, the Board received information regarding the Fund's return on an absolute and a relative basis, based on NAV and market price, for various periods. In particular the Board received information which indicated that, based on NAV, the Fund underperformed the Lipper Large-Cap Core Mutual Fund Average ("Lipper Average") for the one-, five-, and ten-year periods.

In addition to the performance of the Fund and each Portfolio Manager's sleeve of the Fund, the Board considered management's and the Portfolio Managers' explanations for the Fund's performance and the relevant benchmarks and peer groups. The Board accepted the explanations and determined that the performance information and explanations supported the renewal of the Agreements.

Costs of the Services Provided to the Fund

The Board considered the fees paid by the Fund to AAI and the fees paid by AAI to the Portfolio Managers as well as information provided by AAI about the management fees, overall expense ratio and expense reimbursement by AAI for selected closed-end funds and multi-manager open-end equity funds. The Independent Trustees considered that the Fund's total expenses were lower than the median of a representative group of closed-end funds selected by AAI. The Board also considered that the Fund's management fee was higher than the median for the multi-manager open-end equity funds selected by AAI, but the total expense ratio was lower. In addition, the Trustees took into consideration that the Fund's expenses were affected by shareholder meeting expenses relating to portfolio manager changes.

The Board considered that AAI currently does not have any institutional clients with investment objectives and strategies comparable to those of the Fund. The Board considered the breakpoint schedule that lowers the management fee rate paid by the Fund as the Fund's assets increase. The Board also considered the management fees paid to the Portfolio Managers and the fee rates charged by the Portfolio Managers to their other accounts, including institutional accounts. The Board considered that the Portfolio Managers were paid by AAI, not the Fund. The Board also considered the differences in the level of services provided by and the differences in responsibility of AAI and the Portfolio Managers to the Fund and to other accounts. The Board concluded that the management fees payable by the Fund to AAI and the fees payable by AAI to the Portfolio Managers were reasonable in relation to the nature and quality of the services provided, taking into account the management fees paid by comparable closed-end funds and open-end equity funds.

Profitability and Costs of Services to AAI

The Board considered the level of profits realized by AAI in connection with the operation of the Fund. The Board considered the profitability information setting forth recent overall profitability of the Fund to AAI, as well as overall profitability information relating to certain prior calendar years. In reviewing the information, attention was given to the methodology followed in allocating costs to the Fund, it being recognized that allocation methodologies are inherently subjective and various allocation methodologies may be reasonable while producing different results. The Board considered management's ongoing costs and expenditures in providing and improving services for the Fund as well as the ongoing need to meet regulatory and compliance requirements. In addition, the Board considered information prepared by management comparing the profitability of AAI on an overall basis to other investment company managers. The Board also considered the extent to which AAI and its affiliates might derive ancillary benefits from the Fund, noting that an affiliate of AAI serves as the Fund's administrator and receives compensation for acting in this capacity.

(Unaudited)

The Board considered that AAI has advised the Board that it does not regard Portfolio Manager profitability as meaningful to an evaluation of the Portfolio Manager Agreements because the willingness of the Portfolio Managers to serve in such capacity depends primarily upon arm's-length negotiations with AAI. In addition, AAI has advised the Board that AAI generally is aware of the fees charged by the Portfolio Managers to other clients, and AAI believes that the fees agreed upon with the Portfolio Managers are reasonable in light of the quality of investment advisory services rendered. The Board accepted AAI's explanations in light of the Board's findings as to the reasonableness of the aggregate management fees paid by the Fund due to the fact that each Portfolio Manager's fee is paid by AAI and not the Fund. The Board understood that, as a business matter, AAI was entitled to earn reasonable profits for its services to the Fund. The Board determined that AAI's profitability was reasonable in relation to the services provided and to the costs of providing management services to the Fund and supported the renewal of the Agreements.

Extent of Economies of Scale as the Fund Grows and Whether Fee Levels Reflect Economies of Scale

The Board considered whether economies of scale are realized by AAI as the Fund grows larger and the extent to which this is reflected in the level of management fees charged. The Board took into consideration the fee breakpoint schedules under the Agreements and concluded that the schedules reflect economies of scale with respect to the selection, evaluation and monitoring of Portfolio Managers and other services performed by AAI and the management of Fund assets by each Portfolio Manager. In this regard, the Board considered that the Fund has reached an asset size at which the Fund and its shareholders are benefiting from reduced management fee rates due to breakpoints in the management fees.

Based on the foregoing, the Board concluded that the Fund was realizing economies of scale under the Agreements and management fee schedule, which supports the renewal of the Agreements.

Benefits to be Derived from the Relationship with the Fund

The Board also considered the potential "fall-out" benefits that AAI or the Portfolio Managers might receive in connection with their association with the Fund. In its consideration of the Agreements, the Board considered, among other things, that AAI and the Portfolio Managers may derive ancillary benefits from the Fund's operations. For example, under the Agreements, AAI may request that transactions giving rise to brokerage commissions be executed through brokers and dealers that provide brokerage or research services to the Fund or AAI. Each Portfolio Manager, through its position as a Portfolio Manager to the Fund, also may engage in soft dollar transactions. In advance of the meeting, the Board received information regarding each Portfolio Manager's procedures for executing portfolio transactions for the allocated portion of the Fund and each Portfolio Manager's soft dollar policies and procedures. In addition, the Board considered that a Portfolio Manager may be affiliated with registered broker-dealers who may, from time to time, receive brokerage commissions from the Fund in connection with the purchase and sale of portfolio securities; provided, however, that those transactions, among other things, must be consistent with seeking best execution. The Board determined that the foregoing ancillary benefits were consistent with the renewal of the Agreements.

None of the amounts described in paragraphs (a) through (d) above were approved pursuant to the "de minimis" exception under paragraph (c)(7)(i)(C) of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X. During the fiscal years ended December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2016, there were no Audit-Related Fees, Tax Fees and All Other Fees that were approved for services related directly to the operations and financial reporting of the registrant to the investment advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor) and any entity controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such investment advisor that provides ongoing services to the registrant under paragraph (c)(7)(ii) of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X.

(e)(1) Audit Committee Pre-Approval Policies and Procedures

The registrant's Audit Committee is required to pre-approve the engagement of the registrant's independent accountants to provide audit and non-audit services to the registrant and non-audit services to its investment advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor) or any entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with such investment advisor that provides ongoing services to the registrant ("Advisor Affiliates"), if the engagement relates directly to the operations or financial reporting of the registrant, including the fees and other compensation to be paid to the independent accountants.

The Audit Committee has adopted a Policy for Engagement of Independent Accountants for Audit and Non-Audit Services ("Policy"). The Policy sets forth the understanding of the Audit Committees regarding the engagement of the registrant's independent accountants to provide (i) audit and permissible audit-related, tax and other services to the registrant; (ii) non-audit services to the registrant's investment advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor) and Advisor Affiliates, if the engagement relates directly to the operations or financial reporting of a Fund; and (iii) other audit and non-audit services to the registrant's investment advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor) and Advisor Affiliates. Unless a type of service receives general pre-approval under the Policy, it requires specific pre-approval by the Audit Committee if it is to be provided by the independent accountants. Pre-approval of non-audit services to the registrant, the registrant's investment advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor) and Advisor Affiliates may be waived provided that the "de minimis" requirements set forth in the SEC's rules relating to pre-approval of non-audit services are met.

Under the Policy, the Audit Committee may delegate pre-approval authority to any pre-designated member or members who are Independent Trustees/Directors. The member(s) to whom such authority is delegated must report, for informational purposes only, any pre-approval decisions to the Audit Committee at its next regular meeting. The Audit Committee's responsibilities with respect to the pre-approval of services performed by the independent accountants may not be delegated to management.

The Policy requires the Fund Treasurer and/or Director of Board Administration to submit to the Audit Committee, on an annual basis, a schedule of the types of services that are subject to general pre-approval. The schedule(s) provide a description of each type of service that is subject to general pre-approval and, where possible, will provide estimated fee caps for each instance of providing each service. The Audit Committees will review and approve the types of services and review the projected fees for the next fiscal year and may add to, or subtract from, the list of general pre-approved services from time to time based on subsequent determinations. That approval acknowledges that each Audit Committee is in agreement with the specific types of services that the independent accountants will be permitted to perform.

(e)(2) The percentage of services described in paragraphs (b) through (d) of this Item approved pursuant to the "de minimis" exception under paragraph (c)(7)(i)(C) of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X during both fiscal years ended December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2016 was zero.

(f) Not applicable.

(g) The aggregate non-audit fees billed by the registrant's accountant in each of the last two fiscal years of the Registrant were $311,340 in 2015 and $331,340 in 2016. These fees consisted of non-audit fees billed to (i) the Registrant of $3,940 in 2015 and $3,940 in 2016, respectively, as described in response to paragraph (c) above and (ii) to ALPS Fund Services, Inc., ("AFS"), an entity under common control with the ALPS Advisors, Inc., the Registrant's investment advisor, of $307,400 in 2015 and $327,400 in 2016, respectively. The non-audit fees billed to AFS related to SSAE 16 services and other compliance related matters.

(h) The registrant's Audit Committee has considered whether the provision of non-audit services that were rendered to the registrant's advisor (not including any sub-advisor whose role is primarily portfolio management and is subcontracted with or overseen by another investment advisor), and any entity controlling, controlled by, or under common control with the investment advisor that provides ongoing services to the registrant that were not pre-approved pursuant to paragraph (c)(7)(ii) of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X, is compatible with maintaining the principal accountant's independence. The Audit Committee determined that the provision of such services is compatible with maintaining the principal accountant's independence.

Item 5. Audit Committee of Listed Registrants.

The registrant has a separately-designated standing audit committee established in accordance with Section 3(a)(58)(A) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78c(a)(58)(A)). Rantzow are each independent trustees and collectively constitute the entire Audit Committee.

Item 6. Schedule.

MATERIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST: Potential conflicts of interest could arise when there is side-by-side management of private funds, separately managed accounts and mutual funds. These conflicts may arise through trade allocation and through selections of portfolio securities.

Aristotle seeks to mitigate conflict related to trade allocation through its trade rotation procedures. With regard to portfolio selections and the different positions that Aristotle's portfolio managers may take related to different strategies, a potential conflict could arise when different classes of a security are purchased for different portfolios in the same strategy or one strategy is long in a position and another is short in the same security. When different classes of a security are purchased across several portfolios, this often due to the availability of the security and not due a preference for one class over another among client portfolios and often a portfolio could end up with both classes. Aristotle manages strategies that include a long/short component. In this case, the long/short component would be in line with hedge on the position. However, it is acknowledged, that a separate strategy could be long only in the same security which could pose a conflict.

Aristotle acknowledges its responsibility for identifying material conflicts of interest related to voting proxies. In order to ensure that Aristotle is aware of the facts necessary to identify conflicts, management of Aristotle must disclose to the CCO any personal conflicts such as officer or director positions held by them, their spouses or close relatives, in any portfolio company. Conflicts based on business relationships with Aristotle or any affiliate of Aristotle will be considered only to the extent that Aristotle has actual knowledge of such relationships. If a conflict may exist which cannot be otherwise addressed by the Chief Investment Officer or his designee, Aristotle may choose one of several options including: (1) "echo" or "mirror" voting the proxies in the same proportion as the votes of other proxy holders that are not Aristotle clients; (2) if possible, erecting information barriers around the person or persons making the voting decision sufficient to insulate the decision from the conflict; or (3) if agreed upon in writing with the client, forwarding the proxies to affected clients and allowing them to vote their own proxies.

(a)(3) COMPENSATION STRUCTURE. All investment professionals are compensated by competitive base salaries and are eligible to receive an annual bonus that reflects an individual's team contribution to company objectives. (Market indices are not used in determining an employee's annual bonus.) Each portfolio manager at Aristotle is an equity partner of the firm and receives a portion of the overall profits of Aristotle as part of his ownership interest. Aristotle's culture is driven by a collegial and collaborative atmosphere that inspires teamwork and does not foster a "zero sum" environment where individual analysts are perceived to be in competition with one another.

(a)(3) COMPENSATION STRUCTURE. Pzena portfolio managers, including Messrs. Pzena, Goetz, Silver and Flynn, and other investment professionals at Pzena are compensated through a combination of a fixed base salary, annual discretionary bonus and equity ownership, if appropriate due to superior performance. Pzena avoids a compensation model that is driven by individual security performance, as this can lead to short-term thinking which is contrary to the firm's value investment philosophy. Pzena considers both quantitative and qualitative factors when determining performance bonuses; however, performance bonuses are not based directly on the performance of the Fund or other clients. For investment professionals, Pzena examines such things as effort, efficiency, ability to focus on the correct issues, stock modeling ability, and ability to successfully interact with company management; however, Pzena always considers all of the contributions that the person has made and is likely to make in the future. Ultimately, equity ownership is the primary tool used by Pzena for attracting and retaining the best people.

MATERIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST: Conflicts of interest may arise in managing the Fund's portfolio investments, on the one hand, and the portfolios of Pzena's other clients and/or accounts (together "Accounts"), on the other. Set forth below is a brief description of some of the material conflicts which may arise and Pzena's policy or procedure for handling them.

Although Pzena has designed such procedures to prevent and address conflicts, there is no guarantee that such procedures will detect every situation in which a conflict arises.

The management of multiple Accounts inherently means there may be competing interests for the portfolio management team's time and attention. Pzena seeks to minimize this by utilizing one investment approach (i.e., "classic" value investing), and by managing all Accounts on a product specific basis. Thus, all large cap value Accounts, whether they are mutual fund accounts, institutional accounts or individual accounts, are managed using the same investment discipline, strategy and proprietary investment model as the Fund.

If the portfolio management team identifies a limited investment opportunity which may be suitable for more than one Account, the Fund may not be able to take full advantage of that opportunity. However, Pzena has adopted procedures for allocating portfolio transactions across Accounts so that each Account is treated fairly.

With respect to securities transactions for the Accounts, Pzena determines which broker to use to execute each order, consistent with its duty to seek best execution. Pzena aggregates like orders where it believes doing so is beneficial to the Accounts. However, with respect to certain Accounts, Pzena may be limited by clients with respect to the selection of brokers or it may be instructed to direct trades through particular brokers. In these cases, Pzena may place separate, non-simultaneous transactions for the Fund and another Account which may temporarily affect the market price of the security or the execution of the transaction to the detriment of one or the other.

Conflicts of interest may arise when members of the portfolio management team transact personally in securities investments made or to be made for the Fund or other Accounts. To address this, Pzena has adopted a written Code of Business Conduct and Ethics designed to prevent and detect personal trading activities that may interfere or conflict with client interests (including Fund shareholders' interests) or its current investment strategy.

Pzena manages some Accounts under performance-based fee arrangements. Pzena recognizes that this type of incentive compensation creates the risk for potential conflicts of interest. The structure may create inherent pressure to allocate investments having a greater potential for higher returns to those Accounts with higher performance fees. To prevent conflicts of interest associated with managing accounts with different fee structures, Pzena generally requires portfolio decisions to be made on a product specific basis (e.g., for all large cap value Accounts). Pzena also requires pre-allocation of all client orders based on specific fee-neutral criteria set forth above. Additionally, Pzena requires average pricing of all aggregated orders. Finally, Pzena has adopted a policy prohibiting portfolio managers (and all employees) from placing the investment interests of one client or a group of clients with the same investment objectives above the investment interests of any other client or group of clients with the same or similar investment objectives.

(a)(4) OWNERSHIP BY PORTFOLIO MANAGERS: Messrs. Pzena, Goetz and Silver do not own shares of the Fund.

Edgar Filing: LIBERTY ALL STAR EQUITY FUND - Form N-CSR

Mr. Flynn owns between $50,000 and $100,000 of the Fund.

MATERIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST:

Individual portfolio managers may perform investment management services for other funds or accounts similar to those provided to the Fund and the investment action for such other fund or account and the Fund may differ. For example, an account or fund may be selling a security, while another account or the Fund may be purchasing or holding the same security. As a result, transactions executed for one fund or account may adversely affect the value of securities held by another fund or account. Additionally, the management of multiple other funds or accounts and the Fund may give rise to potential conflicts of interest, as a portfolio manager must allocate time and effort to multiple funds or accounts and the Fund. A portfolio manager may discover an investment opportunity that may be suitable for more than one account or fund. The investment opportunity may be limited, however, so that all funds or accounts for which the investment would be suitable may not be able to participate. DIFA has adopted procedures designed to allocate investments fairly across multiple funds or accounts.

One of the accounts managed by the portfolio managers have performance-based fees. This compensation structure presents a potential conflict of interest. The portfolio manager has an incentive to manage this account so as to enhance its performance, to the possible detriment of other accounts for which the Manager does not receive a performance-based fee.

A portfolio manager's management of personal accounts also may present certain conflicts of interest. While DIFA's code of ethics is designed to address these potential conflicts, there is no guarantee that it will do so.

(a)(3) COMPENSATION STRUCTURE. The Large-Cap Value team's compensation consists of the below structure:

Compensation Structure

Each portfolio's manager's compensation consists of the following:

Base Salary - Each named portfolio manager receives a fixed base salary. Salaries are determined by a comparison to industry data prepared by third parties to ensure that portfolio manager salaries are in line with salaries paid at peer investment advisory firms.

Bonus - Each named portfolio manager is eligible to receive an annual cash bonus. The bonus pool is determined by the revenues associated with the products a portfolio manager manages. Delaware Investments keeps a percentage of the revenues and the remaining percentage of revenues (minus appropriate expenses associated with relevant product and the investment management team) create the "bonus pool" for the product. Various members of the team have the ability to earn a percentage of the bonus pool. The pool is allotted based on subjective factors and objective factors. The primary objective factor is the one-, three-, and five-year performance of the funds managed relative to the performance of the appropriate Broadridge Financial Solutions, Inc. (formerly, Lipper, Inc.) peer groups and the performance of institutional composites relative to the appropriate indices. Three- and five-year performance is weighted more heavily and there is no objective award for a fund whose performance falls below the 50th percentile for a given time period.

Individual allocations of the bonus pool are based on individual performance measurements, both objective and subjective, as determined by senior management.

Portfolio managers participate in retention programs, including the Delaware Investments Incentive Unit Plan, the Delaware Investments Notional Investment Plan, and the Macquarie Group Employee Retained Equity Plan, for alignment of interest purposes.

Delaware Investments Incentive Unit Plan - Portfolio managers may be awarded incentive unit awards ("Awards") relating to the underlying shares of common stock of Delaware Management Holdings, Inc. issuable pursuant to the terms of the Delaware Investments Incentive Unit Plan (the "Plan") adopted on November 30, 2010.

The Plan was adopted in order to: assist the Manager in attracting, retaining, and rewarding key employees of the company; enable such employees to acquire or increase an equity interest in the company in order to align the interest of such employees and the Manager; and provide such employees with incentives to expend their maximum efforts. Subject to the terms of the Plan and applicable award agreements, Awards typically vest in 25% increments on a four-year schedule, and shares of common stock underlying the Awards are issued after vesting. The fair market value of the shares of Delaware Management Holdings, Inc., is normally determined as of each March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31 by an independent appraiser. Generally, a stockholder may put shares back to the company during the put period communicated in connection with the applicable valuation.

Delaware Investments Notional Investment Plan – A portion of a portfolio manager's retained profit share may be notionally exposed to the return of a portfolio of Delaware Investments Family of Funds pursuant to the terms of the Delaware Investments Notional Investment Plan. The retained amount will vest in three equal tranches in each of the first, second and third years following the date upon which the investment is made.

Macquarie Group Employee Retained Equity Plan – A portion of a portfolio manager's retained profit share may be invested in the Macquarie Group Employee Retained Equity Plan ("MEREPE"), which is used to deliver remuneration in the form of Macquarie Group Limited ("Macquarie") equity. The main type of award currently being offered under the MEREPE is units comprising a beneficial interest in a Macquarie share held in a trust for the employee, subject to the vesting and forfeiture provisions of the MEREPE. Subject to vesting conditions, vesting and release of the shares occurs in equal tranches two, three, and four years after the date of investment.

Other Compensation - Portfolio managers may also participate in benefit plans and programs available generally to all employees.

COMPENSATION STRUCTURE.

The overall objective of the Advisor's compensation program for portfolio managers is to attract experienced and expert investment professionals and to retain them over the long-term. Compensation is comprised of several components which, in the aggregate, are designed to achieve these objectives and to reward the portfolio managers for their contributions to the successful performance of the accounts they manage. Portfolio managers are compensated through a combination of base salary, profit sharing based compensation ("profit sharing"), bonus and equity incentive participation in the Advisor's parent company ("equity incentives"). Profit sharing and equity incentives generally represent most of the portfolio managers' compensation. In some cases, portfolio managers are eligible for discretionary bonuses.

Salary. Salary is agreed to with managers at time of employment and is reviewed from time to time. It does not change significantly and often does not constitute a significant part of the portfolio manager's compensation.

Profit Sharing. Profit sharing for investment professionals is based on net income relating to accounts in the investment strategy area for which the investment professionals are responsible. In most cases, revenues are allocated to a pool and profit sharing compensation is allocated among members of the investment team after the deduction of certain expenses (including base salaries) related to the strategy group. The allocations are based on the investment professionals' contributions to TCW and its clients, including qualitative and quantitative contributions.

The profit sharing percentage used to compensate a portfolio manager for investment services related to the Fund is generally the same as that used to compensate portfolio managers for other client accounts in the same strategy managed by the Advisor or one of the other TCW Advisors (together, "the TCW Group"). In some cases, the profit sharing pool that includes revenues related to more than one product, in which case each participant in the pool is entitled to profit sharing derived from his or her contributions to all the included products.

Investment professionals are not directly compensated for generating performance fees. In some cases, the profit sharing percentage is subject to increase based on the relative pre-tax performance of the investment strategy composite returns, net of fees and expenses, to that of the benchmark. The measurement of performance relative to the benchmark can be based on single year or multiple year metrics, or a combination thereof. The benchmark used is the one associated with the Fund managed by the portfolio manager as disclosed in the prospectus. Benchmarks vary from strategy to strategy but, within a given strategy, the same benchmark applies to all accounts, including the Fund.

Discretionary Bonus/Guaranteed Minimums. Discretionary bonuses may be paid out of an investment team's profit sharing pool, as determined by the supervisor(s) in the department. In other cases where portfolio managers do not receive profit sharing or where the company has determined the combination of salary and profit sharing does not adequately compensate the portfolio manager, discretionary bonuses may be paid by the TCW Group. Also, pursuant to contractual arrangements, some portfolio managers received minimum bonuses.

Equity Incentives. Management believes that equity ownership aligns the interest of portfolio manager with the interest of the firm and its clients. Accordingly, TCW's key investment professionals participate in equity incentives through ownership or participation in restricted unit plans that vest over time or unit appreciation plans of the Advisor's parent company. The plans include the Fixed Income Retention Plan, Restricted Unit Plan and 2013 Equity Unit Incentive Plan.

Under the Fixed Income Retention Plan, certain portfolio managers in the fixed income area were awarded cash and/or partnership units in the Advisor's parent company, either on a contractually-determined basis or on a discretionary basis. Awards under this plan were made in 2010 vested over time.

Under the Restricted Unit Plan, certain portfolio managers in the fixed income and equity areas may be awarded partnership units in the Advisor's parent company. Awards under this plan have vested over time, subject to satisfaction of performance criteria.

Under the 2013 Equity Unit Incentive Plan, certain portfolio managers in the fixed income and equity areas are awarded options to acquire partnership units in the Advisor's parent company with a strike price equal to the fair market value of the option at the date of grant. The options granted under this plan are subject to vesting and other conditions.

OWNERSHIP BY PORTFOLIO MANAGERS. None of the individuals at the firm responsible for the day-to-day management of the Fund owns any shares of the Fund.

Potential conflicts of interest in managing multiple accounts

TCW has policies and controls to avoid and/or mitigate conflicts of interest across its businesses. The policies and procedures in TCW's Code of Ethics (the "Code") serve to address or mitigate both conflicts of interest and the appearance of any conflict of interest. The Code contains several restrictions and procedures designed to eliminate conflicts of interest relating to personal investment transactions, including (i) reporting account openings, changes, or closings (including accounts in which an Access Person has a "beneficial interest"), (ii) pre-clearance of non-exempt personal investment transactions (make a personal trade request for Securities) and (iii) the completion of timely required reporting (Initial Holdings Report, Quarterly Transactions Report, Annual Holdings Report and Annual Certificate of Compliance).

In addition, the Code addresses potential conflicts of interest through its policies on insider trading, anti-corruption, an employee's outside business activities, political activities and contributions, confidentiality and whistleblower provisions.

Conflicts of interest may also arise in the management of accounts and investment vehicles. These conflicts may raise questions that would allow TCW to allocate investment opportunities in a way that favors certain accounts or investment vehicles over other accounts or investment vehicles, or incentivize a TCW portfolio manager to receive greater compensation with regard to the management of certain account or investment vehicles. TCW may give advice or take action with certain accounts or investment vehicles that could differ from the advice given or action taken on other accounts or investment vehicles. When an investment opportunity is suitable for more than one account or investment vehicle, such investments will be allocated in a manner that is fair and equitable under the circumstances to all TCW clients. As such, TCW has adopted compliance policies and procedures in its Portfolio Management Policy that helps to identify a conflict of interest and then specifies how a conflict of interest is managed. TCW's Trading and Brokerage Policy also discusses the process of timing and method of allocations, and addresses how the firm handles affiliate transactions.

The respective Equity and Fixed Income Trading and Allocation Committees review trading activities on behalf of client accounts, including the allocation of investment opportunities and address any issues with regard to side-by-side management in order to ensure that all of TCW's clients are treated on a fair and equitable basis. Further, the Portfolio Analytics Committee reviews TCW's investment strategies, evaluates various analytics to facilitate risk assessment, changes to performance composites and benchmarks and monitors the implementation and maintenance of the Global Investment Performance Standards or GIPS® compliance.

TCW's approach to handling conflicts of interest is multi-layered starting with its policies and procedures, reporting and pre-clearance processes and oversight by various committees.

Compensation Structure

SGA has adopted a system of compensation for portfolio managers that seeks to align the financial interests of the investment professionals with those of SGA. The compensation of SGA's three principals/portfolio managers is based solely upon SGA's financial performance. SGA's compensation arrangements with its investment professionals are not determined on the basis of specific funds or accounts managed by the investment professional. All investment professionals receive customary benefits that are offered generally to all salaried employees of SGA.

OWNERSHIP BY PORTFOLIO MANAGERS. None of the individuals at the firm responsible for the day-to-day management of the Fund owns any shares of the Fund.

Potential conflicts of interest in managing multiple accounts

Like other investment professionals with multiple clients, a portfolio manager for a Fund may face certain potential conflicts of interest in connection with managing both the Fund and other accounts at the same time. The paragraphs below describe some of these potential conflicts, which may be faced by investment professionals at most major financial firms. ALPS Advisors, Inc. and the Fund have adopted compliance policies and procedures that attempt to address certain of these potential conflicts.

The management of accounts with different advisory fee rates and/or fee structures, including accounts that pay advisory fees based on account performance ("performance fee accounts"), may raise potential conflicts of interest by creating an incentive to favor higher-fee accounts. These potential conflicts may include, among others:

• The most attractive investments could be allocated to higher-fee accounts or performance fee accounts.

The trading of higher-fee accounts could be favored as to timing and/or execution price. For example, higher-fee accounts could be permitted to sell securities earlier than other accounts when a prompt sale is desirable or to buy securities at an earlier and more opportune time.

• The trading of other accounts could be used to benefit higher-fee accounts (front-running).

• The investment management team could focus their time and efforts primarily on higher-fee accounts due to a personal stake in compensation.

Potential conflicts of interest may also arise when the portfolio managers have personal investments in other accounts that may create an incentive to favor those accounts.

A potential conflict of interest may arise when a Fund and other accounts purchase or sell the same securities. On occasions when a portfolio manager considers the purchase or sale of a security to be in the best interests of a Fund as well as other accounts, the adviser's trading desk may, to the extent permitted by applicable laws and regulations, aggregate the securities to be sold or purchased in order to obtain the best execution and lower brokerage commissions, if any. Aggregation of trades may create the potential for unfairness to a Fund or another account if one account is favored over another in allocating the securities purchased or sold – for example, by allocating a disproportionate amount of a security that is likely to increase in value to a favored account.

"Cross trades," in which one account sells a particular security to another account (potentially saving transaction costs for both accounts), may also pose a potential conflict of interest. Cross trades may be seen to involve a potential conflict of interest if, for example, one account is permitted to sell a security to another account at a higher price than an independent third party would pay. The Fund has adopted compliance procedures that provide that any transactions between a Fund and another advised account are to be made at an independent current market price, as required by law.

Another potential conflict of interest may arise based on the different investment objectives and strategies of a Fund and other accounts. For example, another account may have a shorter-term investment horizon or different investment objectives, policies or restrictions than a Fund. Depending on another account's objectives or other factors, a portfolio manager may give advice and make decisions that may differ from advice given, or the timing or nature of decisions made, with respect to a Fund. In addition, investment decisions are the product of many factors in addition to basic suitability for the particular account involved. Thus, a particular security may be bought or sold for certain accounts even though it could have been bought or sold for other accounts at the same time. More rarely, a particular security may be bought for one or more accounts managed by a portfolio manager when one or more other accounts are selling the security (including short sales). There may be circumstances when purchases or sales of portfolio securities for one or more accounts may have an adverse effect on other accounts.

A Fund's portfolio manager who is responsible for managing multiple funds and/or accounts may devote unequal time and attention to the management of those funds and/or accounts. As a result, the portfolio manager may not be able to formulate as complete a strategy or identify equally attractive investment opportunities for each of those accounts as might be the case if he or she were to devote substantially more attention to the management of a single fund. The effects of this potential conflict may be more pronounced where funds and/or accounts overseen by a particular portfolio manager have different investment strategies.

A Fund's portfolio managers may be able to select or influence the selection of the brokers and dealers that are used to execute securities transactions for the Fund. In addition to executing trades, some brokers and dealers provide portfolio managers with brokerage and research services (as those terms are defined in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934), which may result in the payment of higher brokerage fees than might have otherwise be available. These services may be more beneficial to certain funds or accounts than to others. Although the payment of brokerage commissions is subject to the requirement that the portfolio manager determine in good faith that the commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided to the fund, a portfolio manager's decision as to the selection of brokers and dealers could yield disproportionate costs and benefits among the funds and/or accounts that he or she manages.

The adviser or an affiliate may provide more services (such as distribution or recordkeeping) for some types of funds or accounts than for others. In such cases, a portfolio manager may benefit, either directly or indirectly, by devoting disproportionate attention to the management of fund and/or accounts that provide greater overall returns to the investment manager and its affiliates.

A Fund's portfolio manager(s) may also face other potential conflicts of interest in managing the Fund, and the description above is not a complete description of every conflict that could be deemed to exist in managing both a Fund and other accounts. In addition, a Fund's portfolio manager may also manage other accounts (including their personal assets or the assets of family members) in their personal capacity. The management of these accounts may also involve certain of the potential conflicts described above. Investment personnel at the advisers, including each Fund's portfolio manager, are subject to restrictions on engaging in personal securities transactions pursuant to Codes of Ethics adopted by the adviser.

The adviser has trade allocation and other policies and procedures that it believes are reasonably designed to address these and other potential conflicts of interest.

Item 9. Purchases of Equity Securities by Closed-End Management Investment Company and Affiliated Purchasers.

During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2016, there were no purchases made by or on behalf of the registrant or any "affiliated purchaser", as defined in Rule 10b-18(a)(3) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), of shares or other units of any class of the registrant's equity securities that are registered by the registrant pursuant to Section 12 of the Exchange Act.

Item 10. Submission of Matters to a Vote of Security Holders.
