Dear Fellow Unitholders:

We are again writing to you to ask that you cast your vote for CHANGE at Cedar Fair and use the GREEN proxy card to vote FOR our proposals by internet or phone (since it is too late to mail your proxy card at this point). If you have already voted, you may submit a new vote because only your latest vote will count.

For our two proposals - separation of the chairman and chief executive officer roles and increasing the priority of distributions to unitholders - as well as our accompanying materials, please visit our website at www.dfking.com/cedarfair.

Cedar Fair says you should not vote for our proposals because the board needs the "flexibility" to make the best decisions it sees fit, without any limitations. The board basically seems to be saying, "Trust us - let us decide how best to use your money and whom to select as chairman."

Unrestricted flexibility is not a "right." It must be earned. After your 16-year-old son has crashed his car twice, do you allow him complete flexibility to take the keys to the car anytime he wants? No, you do not.

We believe that this board has lost its right to have complete and unrestricted flexibility after the mistakes it has made over the past several years including trying to sell the company "on the cheap" at $11.50, agreeing to a financing package that severely restricts the ability of the company to make distributions to unitholders in the future, and seeing its units drastically underperform the market for the past seven years (while executive base pay has been steadily increasing during this same time period - please see the enclosed chart).

The board also said that our proposals would limit its ability to create long-term value and disrupt the company's "progress." What "progress" might they be talking about? Backwards "progress"? Given that the units are down 49% since 2003 (when Mr. Kinzel became Chairman) while the S&P 500 Index is up 28%, we conclude that the board could use unitholders' suggestions. Exactly how long does the company expect to take for its "long-term" plan to pay off for unitholders?

Finally, please note that by no means have we suggested taking away all the board's discretion. However, putting a few simple guidelines in place for everyone's benefit seems to be the responsible thing to do.

Sincerely yours,
