KING LETSIE III VISITS FREEGOLD

ARMgold and Harmony make substantial contribution to education in Lesotho

Johannesburg, 8 May 2003 ARMgold and Harmony (which will soon be merged to become the new Harmony Gold) today hosted the King of Lesotho, Letsie III, at the company's flagship Freegold joint venture in the Free State goldfields. The event was graced by dignitaries such as the honourable Minister of Minerals and Energy, Phumzile Mlambo-Ngcuka, Premier of Free State Province Winkie Direko and the executive mayors.

Speaking at an event at the Nyala stadium at Freegold held in honour of the King, ARMgold Executive Chairman Patrice Motsepe, announced that ARMgold and Harmony would be making a substantial grant of R1 million towards education in Lesotho through the Royal Education Fund.

Lesotho has for many years been a major labour-sending area for the gold mines in South Africa. We at ARMgold, together with our partners at Harmony, decided that we needed to invest in the people of Lesotho who have made an enormous contribution to the gold mining industry in this country. By making a contribution specifically to education we not only foster the success of a new generation of youngsters in Lesotho, but in so doing we recognise the contribution made by their fathers and forefathers to the South African mining industry.

Edgar Filing: HARMONY GOLD MINING CO LTD - Form 6-K

Harmony Chief Executive Bernard Swanepoel commented that Contributing to the education of the people and communities that support our industry is one of the fundamental pillars of the Mining Charter which we wholeheartedly endorse. This is just one example of the cooperation between ARMgold and Harmony which we will be able to build on in the future as the new Harmony Gold plays a significant role in the upliftment of the people in the Free State region as well as those areas from which we traditionally draw our employees.
